SECTION II - RISK FACTORS

RISK FACTORS

An investment in our Equity Shares involves a high degree of risk. You should carefully consider all the information in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, including the risks and uncertainties described below, before making an investment in our Equity Shares. The risks and uncertainties described in this section are not the only risks that we currently face. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to us or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. If any of the following risks, or other risks that are not currently known or are now deemed immaterial, actually occur, our business, results of operations and financial condition could suffer, the price of our Equity Shares could decline, and you may lose all or part of your investment. In making an investment decision, prospective investors must rely on their own examination of the Company and the terms of the Issue, including the merits and risks involved.

Unless otherwise stated, the financial information of the Company used in this section is derived from the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. Unless otherwise stated, we are not in a position to quantify the financial or other risks described in any risk factor.

INTERNAL RISK FACTORS

1. Failure to develop and introduce new products and solutions that achieve market acceptance could have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

Our business depends on developing and providing innovative products and solutions for our telecom service provider customers, consumers and enterprise customers. Development of new products and solutions is subject to unpredictable and volatile factors beyond our control, including customer preferences and competing products and solutions. Moreover, customer preferences are subject to rapid change, but we may not be able to adapt rapidly to changes in their preferences. In addition, due to the competitive nature of the markets in which we operate, we update various products on an ongoing basis and release new versions from time to time. We need to continuously invest in research and development to develop new and differentiated products and solutions for our customers. Our products and solutions could also be rapidly rendered obsolete by the introduction of newer technologies. Unexpected technical, operational, deployment, distribution or other problems could delay or prevent the timely introduction of new products and solutions, which could result in a loss of market opportunities. Further, with respect to our consumer services business, the Department of Telecom is expected to complete the auctioning of 3G spectrum slots by the middle of 2010. We have not yet begun developing or adapting our applications for deployment on the 3G spectrum. We may not be successful in developing or adapting our applications for the 3G spectrum on a rapid basis or at all. Our growth could also suffer if our products and solutions are not responsive to the needs of wireless telecom service providers, the technological advancements of mobile networks or the preferences of the subscribers. We could also be affected by the convergence of the telecom, data and media industries, which is largely driven by technological development related to IP-based communications. This change could impact our addressable market, competition and our objective setting and strategies, as well as the need to consider risks to achieve our set objectives. If any of these events were to occur, some or all of such products and solutions may not provide adequate returns commensurate with our capital investments and it could have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

2. Any inability to manage our growth could disrupt our business and reduce our profitability.

We have experienced significant growth in income in recent years. Our consolidated operating income has increased from Rs. 400.70 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 to Rs. 800.11 million in the year ended March 31, 2009 to Rs. 841.13 million in the nine month period ended December 31, 2009. The total number of our employees has grown from 380 as of March 31, 2008 to 738 as of December 31, 2009. While these growth rates are not indicative of our future growth, we expect continuing growth to place significant demands on both our management and our resources. This will require us to continuously evolve and improve our operational, financial and internal controls across the organization.

In particular, continued expansion increases the challenges involved in:

- maintaining high levels of customer satisfaction as the number and variety of our products and services increases;
- adhering to our high quality and process execution standards for all products and services as the number and variety of our products and services increases;
- recruiting, training and retaining sufficient skilled technical, sales and management personnel;
- preserving our culture, values and entrepreneurial environment; and
- developing and improving our internal administrative infrastructure, particularly our financial, operational, communications and other internal systems.

Any inability to manage growth may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

3. A few major customers account for a significant portion of our income. The loss of any one of our major customers or a decrease in the volume of business derived from these customers may adversely affect our results of operations.

We have derived and believe that we will continue to derive a significant portion of our income from a few major customers. For the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and fiscals 2009 and 2008, our five largest customers accounted for approximately 79.40%, 91.38% and 89.79% of our operating income, respectively. As a result of our significant reliance on a small number of customers, we may face certain issues including pressure to lower our fees or accept, with respect to major customers that are telecom service providers, a lesser percentage of revenue generated from sales of our value added services to consumers. Further, our contracts with our major customers that are telecom service providers are typically for a limited period, ranging between one and three years, and the terms of such contracts allow these customers to terminate the contracts without cause by giving notice as per the terms of the agreement. In addition, we have no guarantee of income under these agreements or minimum requirements for the use of our services. The loss or significant decrease in the volume of business from one or more of our major customers for any reason would have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Moreover, if any of these customers were to experience liquidity problems or insolvency, we would face credit risk with respect to account receivables from such customer. In addition, our customers may in the future demand price reductions, develop and implement newer technologies, automate some or all of their processes or change their strategy by moving more work inhouse or to other providers, any of which could have an adverse effect on our results of operations. Any of these events or any delay or default in payment by our customers for services rendered may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. Further, the income from these customers may vary from year to year, making it hard to forecast future business needs, particularly since we are not the exclusive service provider for any of our customers.

4. Failure to meet the expected level of performance under our contracts with telecom service provider customers could adversely affect our relationships with our telecom service provider customers, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Mobile telecommunication applications and products such as those that we offer are complex and utilize sophisticated software systems, which may result in operational errors or performance problems. In connection with the provision of our mobile telecommunication products and applications, we enter into contracts with some of our telecom service provider customers that contain provisions requiring us to maintain the services at or above certain minimum performance standards. In a few instances (i.e., contracts with government-owned telecom service provider customers), we are required to provide a bank guarantee to ensure satisfactory performance by us. Under these contracts, if we fail to meet the specified standards, we may be subject to liquidated damages or penalties or, if applicable, the telecom service provider customer could require payment under a bank guarantee, and in certain cases, terminate our contracts. In addition, any defects in the intellectual property that we license to our telecom service provider customers could result in a claim against us for substantial damages, regardless of our responsibility for such a failure or defect. We cannot assure you that in case any claims for damages are made by our telecom service provider customers, the limitations on liability that we provide for in our service contracts will be enforceable or that they will otherwise be sufficient to protect us from liability for damages.

Further, any failure of, or technical problems with, our servers, systems or platforms could disrupt the ability of the subscribers of our telecom service provider customers to use our telecom applications, services or platforms. In the past, we have experienced failures with our servers, systems and/or platforms, which were generally related to heavy surges in volume associated with holiday entertainment purchase activities or activities relating to promotions being made by our telecom service provider customers. If failures occur on our telecom service provider customers' multiple networks or software systems, it may be difficult for us to identify the source of the problem and to correct it on a timely basis, particularly since our telecom service provider customers generally use our services together with their own services and services from other vendors. In addition, our systems or platforms are, in most cases, integrated into the voice and data networks of our telecom service provider customers for which we operate and manage applications. Failure of our systems or platforms could disrupt the delivery of voice and data service by our telecom service provider customers. Any of the foregoing problems could adversely affect our relationships with our telecom service provider customers, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

5. Usage of our applications and services may be difficult to predict and we may not be able to adequately expand capacity and upgrade our systems to meet increased demand, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results and operations.

It is difficult to predict customer adoption of new mobile telecommunication applications and products, particularly in new markets. As a result, while we may launch a new product with a planned or expected capacity, such capacity may not be sufficient to meet demand if it exceeds our expectations. In such situations, we may not be able to expand and upgrade our systems and application platforms quickly enough, either regionally or on a national basis, to accommodate increased usage of our services. If we do not expand, upgrade and deploy our systems and application platforms appropriately or quickly enough, we may lose market opportunities in one or more areas of India or damage our reputation with our telecom service provider customers, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our management information systems are critical to our ability to realize income from our operations and the failure to update our management information systems as our business expands could adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Sophisticated customer management information systems are critical for increasing our income streams, avoiding income loss and charging our customers accurately and in a timely manner. We expect new technologies and applications to increase the demands placed on our customer management systems. Problems such as reconciliation of payments, revenue recognition and delayed payments will occur in the complexities involved in the process of billing by our telecom service provider customers to their subscribers. We will have to update our management information systems as we introduce new services and as our business expands. The development of new businesses may impose a greater burden on our systems and may strain our administrative, operational and financial resources. If adequate payment information, credit control and customer relations systems are unavailable or if upgrades or new systems are delayed or not introduced or integrated in a timely manner, this could adversely affect our business and results of operations.

6. Our contracts with telecom service provider customers contain revenue sharing terms with respect to consumer services that may cause our revenue under such contracts to fluctuate significantly from period to period and could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

Our contracts with telecom service provider customers contain revenue sharing terms with respect to consumer services and provide that we earn income only when our consumer services are used or subscribed to by customers of our telecom service providers. Less purchases of, or subscriptions for, our value added services will result in less revenue for us under the revenue sharing arrangements with our telecom service provider customers. Further, under a few of our telecom service provider customer contracts, we guarantee a minimum amount of transactions for specified geographic areas on a monthly basis. If the minimum amount of transactions is not met for any specified area in any given month, the telecom service provider customer is not obligated to pay us our portion of the revenue generated for such area for such month. Such terms may lead to significant fluctuations in our revenues from period to period. Moreover, decreases in revenue resulting from a lower number of transactions or failure to achieve the minimum number of transactions could adversely affect our return on invested capital, our results of operations and financial condition.

7. Most of our telecom service provider contracts for consumer services are non-exclusive, which could result in circumstances that could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Most of our telecom service provider customer contracts are non-exclusive. As such our telecom service provider customers may purchase similar products and services from third parties and cease to offer our products and services to their subscribers in the future. Even if our telecom service provider customers retained our services, our telecom service provider customer contracts do not prevent them from significantly reducing the level of marketing or promotion of our products or from electing to market or promote similar products purchased from and provided by our competitors. If any of these were to occur, our business, results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

8. We are subject to risks associated with the challenges faced by the mobile communications value added services industry in which we operate.

The telecom industry in India faces a number of challenges with respect to the growth of MVAS which translates into a risk for our operations. These include:

- Slow penetration of MVAS. While mobile penetration rates in India are expected to increase in the future, there is uncertainty regarding how much of that penetration may translate into an increase in the penetration of MVAS services, which tend to be comparatively expensive to consumers and may require more sophisticated hand-sets to access.
- Lack of coordination between participants. There exists no common platform for handset manufacturers and MVAS providers to ensure consistency of features and software across various handset models, thus complicating the development of universally accessible value added services and products.
- Low GPRS connectivity. GPRS connectivity in India continues to be low because of limited handset capability and operator constraints and there is a large population of users who are not familiar with accessing GPRS. As GPRS is the most prevalent delivery technology for MVAS, the lack of growth in the technology may hinder the expansion of MVAS in India.
- Preference for low cost handsets. Consumers generally purchase low cost handsets for the basic utility service, which is voice. Such low cost handsets are not capable of supporting many MVAS products. Further, since in many of these value added services, like MMS, both the sender and receiver handsets need to support MMS, the scope of expansion and use of the service has been limited.
- Lack of infrastructure. A lot of services cannot be introduced in India because of lack of supporting infrastructure. For example, the absence of location-based MVAS. Location based value added services is still not possible due to the current lack of a digitized map of India.

9. The markets in which we operate are highly competitive and some of our competitors have greater resources than we do.

Competition is expected to intensify in the telecommunications value added services industry in India and there may also be increasing competition from global players. We expect competition to intensify further as new entrants emerge in the industry due to available growth opportunities, as companies in other industries try to expand into the telecommunications value added services industry and as existing competitors seek to expand their services. The firmly established position of existing service integrators and system integrators in their respective sectors may be able to use their resources and capabilities to expand into sectors in which we compete. Further, consolidation among our competitors may also leave us at a competitive disadvantage. Moreover, large device makers such as Apple and Nokia already offer applications for handsets through their respective proprietary application stores and others such as Samsung Electronics, LG Electronics and Sony Ericsson intend to commence offering applications as well. In addition, in the event we expand into international markets, we will increasingly be competing with both local and global providers of telecommunications value added services. Competitors in the future may include other content aggregators and technology applications providers from India and overseas. We also face competition from direct-to-consumer businesses that sell products and services directly to consumers. Some or all of our competitors may have advantages over us, which may include substantially greater financial resources, stronger brand recognition, the capacity to leverage their marketing expenditures across a broader portfolio of products and services and more extensive relationships with customers, content owners and broader geographic presence. We may also not be able to enter the market for new products because of the entrenched positions of competitors with respect to such products. Moreover, our competitors may be able to adapt their applications for deployment on a 3G spectrum on a more rapid basis than us.

Some of our competitors may also be able to quickly replicate our services and products. Such replicated services and products would compete with our services and products. Competition with replications of our services and products could have an adverse effect on our results of operations.

Further, we may face additional competition in respect of our enterprise business from resellers of bulk push SMS (i.e., a service enabling an enterprise to send an SMS to a large number of handsets) and short code service (i.e., a service that provides a special, short telephone number that can be used to send SMSs and MMSs from mobile phones and fixed phones). The presence of too many resellers bidding to provide applications and solutions to enterprises would result in a highly competitive bidding environment. A highly competitive bidding environment could limit our ability to offer our applications and solutions to enterprises at profitable rates regardless of the quality of our applications and solutions relative to other bidders. If this were to occur, our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

10. Conditions in the global capital markets, the general economic conditions in India and elsewhere around the world, and, in particular, the factors affecting the telecommunications industry in general may adversely impact our business and results of operations.

Our results of operations may be materially affected by conditions in the global capital markets, the general economic conditions in India and elsewhere around the world and, in particular, by the factors affecting the telecommunications industry in general. As widely reported, financial markets in the United States, Europe and Asia, including India, have been experiencing extreme disruption in the last two and half years, including, among other things, extreme volatility in security prices, severely diminished liquidity and credit availability, rating downgrades of certain investments and declining valuations of others. These and other related events, such as the recent collapse of a number of financial institutions, have had and continue to have a significant adverse impact on the availability of credit and the confidence of the financial markets, globally as well as in India. The effects of a tight credit market on consumer and telecom service provider spending may have several adverse effects, including: (i) reduced demand for products and services, resulting in increased price competition or deferment of purchases and orders by consumers; (ii) negative impact on the financial condition, and in particular on the purchasing ability, of some of telecom service provider customers and may also result in requests for extended payment terms, credit losses, insolvencies, limited ability to respond to demand or diminished sales channels available to us; and (iii) increased difficulties to forecast sales and financial results as well as increased volatility in our reported results. Weak economic conditions in the markets, or a reduction in consumer spending even if economic conditions improve, could adversely impact our business and results of operations.

11. Our contracts with telecom service provider customers for consumer services do not obligate them to market or promote our services to their subscribers, which could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

Our contracts for consumer services with telecom service provider customers do not obligate them to market or promote any of our products or services to their subscribers, including new products and services that are offered to existing subscribers from time to time. Without the appropriate marketing and promotion of the consumer services that we provide through our telecom service provider customers, their subscribers may not be aware of, or may cease to use or decrease usage of, our products and services. The current practice among our telecom service provider customers is to place the most popular wireless applications at the top of the menu on the first page available on their mobile phone portals or in the most prominent positions on their websites. Services at the top of the menu and in more prominent positions, in our experience, are more frequently discovered and accessed than those services in less prominent positions. If our telecom service provider customers change their current practices so that our products are displayed less prominently or are less accessible to their subscribers, our services and products would become more difficult for users to discover and access and could, therefore, result in a decline in sales of our products and services. This could adversely affect the income generated from our products and services, and thus our overall results of operations and financial condition.

12. Some of our network products and services are sold on a per-transaction basis. Our result of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected if sales revenue from our network products and services sold on a per-transaction basis are lower than required to recoup our capital expenditure on such products and services.

We sell some of our network products and services to our telecom service provider customers on a pertransaction basis rather than on a license fee basis. Selling network products and services on a per transaction basis does not provide a guaranteed amount of revenue in the same way that the selling of such products and services on a license fee basis does. If sales from our network products and services sold on a per-transaction basis are lower than required to recoup our capital expenditure for such products, services and any equipment that we install at our telecom service provider customers' places of operations in connection with our provision of such products and services, our results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

13. A portion of our income derived from the purchase of our products and services by subscribers is subject to the consumer pricing decisions of our telecom service provider customers, which may adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

We earn a substantial portion of our income through revenue sharing agreements with our telecom service provider customers in respect of products and services offered to consumers. Under such revenue sharing agreements, we earn as income a percentage of the retail price that our telecom service provider customers charge to their subscribers for the use of our products, applications and services. However, we have no control over the pricing decisions of our telecom service provider customers and most of our contracts with our telecom service provider customers do not provide for guaranteed minimum payments. As a result, our income derived from such revenue sharing agreements may be substantially reduced depending on the pricing decisions of our telecom service provider customers, which may adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

14. Many of our contracts are fixed term contracts of short duration and are not subject to automatic renewal. If we are unable to renew or extend our contracts with our existing telecom service provider customers on terms acceptable to us or at all, our future financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

Our contracts with our telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers are generally term contracts of one year to three years in duration. Some of our contracts with telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers are open ended and remain in effect until termination by either party after a requisite notice period.

Our telecom service provider customer contracts and enterprise customer contracts that have definite terms do not have automatic renewal provisions. As these contracts reach the end of their stated terms, our telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers may seek to renegotiate pricing or other terms with us or may decide not to renew the contracts. In addition, all of our contracts allow our customers to terminate a contract without cause after a requisite notice period, typically ranging from 30 to 60 days. There is no assurance that we will be able to maintain our existing business relationships with our telecom service provider customers or enterprise customers. If we are unable to renew or extend a contract with an existing telecom service provider customer or enterprise customer or if, upon expiry of the contract, a telecom service provider customer or enterprise customer seeks to renegotiate its contract on terms unfavorable to us, it may be difficult for us to find a suitable replacement telecom service provider customer or enterprise customer, as the case may be, with the requisite licenses and permits, infrastructure and customer base. Such occurrences may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

15. Our telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers could develop some or all of our mobile telecommunication value added services and products on their own or otherwise bring them inhouse, which may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Currently most of our telecom service provider customers do not offer mobile telecommunication value added services and products independently; however, if our telecom service provider customers begin developing these services and products or otherwise were to bring development and provisions in-house, we could be under price pressure in order to maintain our business with existing telecom service provider customers, if at all. Further, enterprises could also begin developing at least some applications in-house or otherwise bring them in-house, which would lower demand for at least some of our enterprise applications. Our inability to remain a provider of mobile telecommunication and enterprise applications and products of choice could result in the loss of future income and may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

16. Our senior management team and other key team members are critical to our success and the loss of such personnel or an inability to attract and retain talented personnel could harm our business.

We are dependent on the continued service and performance of our senior management team and other key team members to successfully operate our business. Our key personnel possess technical and business capabilities that are difficult to replace. Except for the key man life insurance that we maintain for Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, our Managing Director, we do no maintain key man life insurance for any of our senior management or other key team members. If we were to lose the services of the members of our senior management or other key team members, particularly to competitors, such loss may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our future success and our ability to maintain our competitive position and implement our business strategy are dependent to a large degree on our ability to identify, attract, train and retain technical service operation and application development engineers and personnel with skills that enable us to keep pace with growing demands and evolving industry standards. Qualified individuals are in high demand and competition for qualified engineers and personnel in our industry is intense, and we may incur significant costs to retain or attract them. We may not be able to retain our existing engineers or personnel or attract and retain new engineers and personnel in the future. Moreover, many well-qualified candidates may be subject to contractual non-compete clauses contained in employment agreements with their respective employers that could restrict our ability to employ them. If we are unable to identify, attract, train and retain technical service operation and application development engineers and personnel, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected.

17. A portion of our income derived from the purchase of our products and services by consumers is subject to reconciliation of billing information between our records and those of our telecom service provider customers. Any disputes with respect to such reconciliation may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Under the revenue sharing agreements with our telecom service provider customers, the calculation of net revenue from the usage of our products, applications and services by the respective subscribers of our telecom service provider customers is based on records maintained by our telecom service provider customers or on records maintained by us that are reconciled with those prepared by our telecom service provider customers in the event of a discrepancy. The billing methodologies and management information systems of our telecom service provider customers are critical in preparation of accurate and timely usage reports. In the event of any discrepancy between our calculations and the calculations of our telecom service provider customers, our income realization may become subject to dispute and any such dispute may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

18. Certain of our loan agreements contain restrictive covenants and conditions that could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our loan agreements with HDFC Bank Limited ("HDFC") contain restrictive covenants, including, but not limited to, requirements that we obtain consent from the lenders prior to altering our capital structure, obtaining any loans from other banks, effecting any material changes in our business and altering our MoA. These loan agreements also contain financial covenants that require us to maintain a specified margin in favour of the bank, a minimum tangible net worth of at least Rs. 510 Million, a ratio of total outside liabilities to tangible net worth of less than one and a current ratio of at least 2:1. There can be no assurance that we will be able to comply with these financial or other covenants or that we will be able to obtain consents from our lenders with respect to these covenants.

Further, under the loan agreement with HDFC for cash credit and working capital dated July 1, 2008, HDFC has the right to cancel the loan with immediate effect at its discretion, without assigning any reasons, by serving a written notice upon us. In addition, under the terms of the loan agreement with HDFC for cash credit and working capital, even though the loan is for up to Rs. 60 million, we cannot draw down more than Rs. 40 million unless our Promoter, Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, pledges 30% of his shareholding in the Company to HDFC. In the event such Equity Shares are pledged and there is a default by the Company under this loan agreement, HDFC will have the right to sell such Equity Shares. If HDFC were to sell such Equity Shares, the shareholding of our Promoter in our Company would be reduced considerably, which in turn would reduce his ability to exercise control over operations and management of our Company.

Moreover, in consideration for a letter of credit / bank guarantee facility from HDFC under the sanction letter dated May 29, 2008, the Company has executed counter indemnities so as to indemnify and hold HDFC harmless against all losses, damages, suits, proceedings, claims and demands that HDFC may incur, become liable to pay or have instituted against it as a consequence of its having extended such facility. In the event of HDFC invoking any of these indemnities and requiring us to pay a counter indemnity, our financial condition may be adversely affected.

Further an event of default under our loan agreements, if not cured or waived, may entitle the lender to, among other things, take possession of the properties that are charged or hypothecated as securities, dispossess us of the property offered as security for the loans or invoke any other legal remedies available to it. If we lose possession of such securities, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected. For further details see section titled "Financial Indebtedness" on page 245.

19. Under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers, our indemnification obligation extends to all remote and consequential losses and damages.

Under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers, we have agreed to indemnify our customers for all remote and consequential losses and damages likely to be suffered by the customers arising under those agreements. In the event any such indemnity provision is invoked against us, our results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected.

20. There are threatened litigation matters in the nature of show cause notices and other notices against us and our Promoter and Director Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, which could affect our operations if they materialize into litigation matters that are decided against us or Mr. Sharma.

Certain tax authorities such as the service tax and commercial tax departments have issued notices to us demanding payments towards alleged service tax violations and violations of the Uttar Pradesh Value Added Tax Act, 2008. Further, we have received notices from third parties demanding payments under certain agreements, including lease agreements. Moreover, our Promoter and Director Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma was named a party in one of the notices served by a third party for payment under an agreement. The amounts claimed in these proceedings have been disclosed to the extent ascertainable, excluding contingent liabilities and include amounts claimed jointly and severally from us and other parties. Should any new developments arise, such as a change in Indian law or rulings against us by appellate courts or tribunals, we may need to make provisions in our financial statements that could increase expenses and current liabilities.

21. SEBI has reserved the right to reopen or commence penalty proceedings against one of our Independent Directors, Mr. P.N. Vijay, and a company promoted by him.

SEBI had initiated adjudications proceedings against one of our Directors, Mr. P.N. Vijay, for alleged violation of SEBI (Prohibition of Insider Trading) Regulations 1992 and enquiry proceedings against P.N. Vijay Financial Services Private Limited, an entity with which he is associated as a promoter and director for alleged violations of SEBI (Portfolio Manager) Rules 1993. However, SEBI disposed off such adjudications proceeding and the enquiry proceedings by its consent orders dated February 11, 2010 (CO/IVD/1490/AO/AK/01/2010) and November 20, 2007 (CO/IMD/1001/05/2007), respectively, without admission or denial of guilt on part of Mr. P.N. Vijay and P.N. Vijay Financial Services Private Limited to the finding of fact or conclusion of law. Nevertheless, SEBI has reserved the right to take enforcement actions, including commencing or reopening penalty proceedings against Mr. P.N. Vijay, and/or P.N Vijay Financial Services Private Limited if it is found that any representations made by him and/or such entity, as the case may be, in the consent proceedings are untrue or he and/or it, as the case may be, breaches any clauses, undertakings, or waivers filed during the consent proceedings. Accordingly, we cannot assure you that SEBI will not reopen or commence penalty proceedings against Mr. P.N. Vijay in the future in such matters. If SEBI were to reopen or commence penalty proceedings against him and such proceedings resulted in an adverse outcome, such adverse outcome could have a material adverse effect on Mr. P.N. Vijay and could affect the reputation and standing of our Company and may impact future business.

22. We enter into licensing agreements with content providers from time to time. Breach of such license agreements with our vendors, third party suppliers or content providers would adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

From time to time, we enter into licensing agreements with content providers in order to offer content or other works as part of the services that we provide to consumers through our telecom service provider customers. We would be liable to our vendors, third party suppliers or content providers if we were to breach our agreements with them. Any failure on our part to comply with such obligations could cause us to be in breach of a license agreement and could result in a claim against us for substantial damages or even termination of the contract by the content provider. The successful assertion of any claim by a third party would have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

23. If we were unable to continue to source content through licensing agreements on terms favorable to us, we may be prevented from providing a wide range of customer services, or would need to incur significant costs to seek alternative content, which could adversely affect our business.

License agreements for content or other works are mostly for a term of one year. If we were unable to renew these agreements on terms favorable to us, or at all, upon their expiration, we might be prevented from providing content sourced from these content providers and would have to source alternative content, possibly on terms not favorable to us, which might result in loss of income or business opportunities or reduced margins that would harm our business, results of operations and financial condition. Such developments may also make it more difficult for us to offer content that addresses diverse regional, language and ethnic preferences.

24. Fees under license agreements with content providers may exceed revenue generated from the licensed content, which could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

We offer content licensed from content providers on a per-transaction basis and do not receive a minimum guaranteed amount from the telecom service provider customers through which we provide such content. There is a risk that our license fees under our license agreements with content providers could exceed the revenue that we generate from such content. If this were to occur, our results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected.

25. Piracy of, or open access on the internet to, products and applications that we offer may adversely affect our results of our operations.

Even though piracy is illegal, it is a significant threat to the telecommunications value added services industry. The primary method of piracy affecting the telecommunications value added services industry is the illegal downloading of products and applications. Piracy enables the free use of products and applications, which compete with sales by our telecom service provider customers of our products. Technology advancements such as faster copying and downloading of products and applications have made it easier for people to access and use pirated content.

Further, we cannot assure you that music content providers and others with rights in any of the products and applications that we offer through our telecom service provider customers will take steps to enforce their rights against piracy or that they will be successful in preventing the distribution of pirated content. Wide-scale pirating of our products and applications could adversely affect our results of operations.

Moreover, some of our content providers with rights in the products and applications that we offer through our telecom service provider customers provide open access to such content on the internet. Such open access competes with sales by our telecom service provider customers of our products and applications, which could adversely affect our results of operations.

26. Third parties may successfully sue us for intellectual property infringement, which could disrupt our business or require us to pay significant damages that we may not succeed in recovering from our content providers, which could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Third parties may sue us for intellectual property infringement or initiate proceedings to invalidate our intellectual property rights, either of which, if successful, could disrupt the conduct of our business or require us to pay significant damages that we may not recover from our content providers. In addition, in the event of a successful claim against us, we may be subject to injunctions preventing us from using our intellectual property, which in turn could result in us incurring significant licensing fees and/or force us to develop alternative technologies. If we fail to develop non-infringing technology or applications or to license the infringed or similar intellectual property rights, technology or applications on a timely basis, it could force us to withdraw services from the market or prevent us from introducing new services. In addition, even if we are able to license the infringed or similar intellectual property rights, technology or applications, license fees could be substantial and the terms of such licenses could be unfavorable. Any of the foregoing may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

27. We have made applications for registration of our intellectual property rights, which are currently pending.

We rely primarily on trade secret and copyright laws and restrictions on access to protect our trade secrets and proprietary rights. We provide services under agreements that grant customers a right to use our services and that contain terms and conditions prohibiting its unauthorized use or transfer. In addition, we enter into confidentiality agreements with our telecom service provider customers when we disclose proprietary information to them. We also enter into confidentiality agreements with our employees and consultants. We have applied to register One97 trademarks with the Trademarks Registry in New Delhi, India. For more information, see the section titled "Our Business - Intellectual Property" and "Government and other Approvals" on pages 102 and 251, respectively. We cannot assure you that the pending applications for registration of such trademarks will be granted by the relevant authorities. In the event of our failure to obtain registration of the trademarks for which we have applied, we may lose protection of the intellectual property associated with our products. This may provide opportunities to competitors to compete with our products and services, which could adversely affect our business.

28. There may be instances in which we may have to resort litigation to enforce our intellectual property rights.

Despite our efforts to protect our intellectual property rights, unauthorized parties may attempt to copy or otherwise obtain and use our technology and applications and the applicable laws may not adequately protect our proprietary rights. Monitoring unauthorized use of our applications is difficult and costly, and we cannot be certain that the steps we have taken will prevent piracy and other unauthorized distribution and use of our technology and applications. From time to time, we may have to resort to litigation to enforce our intellectual property rights, which could result in substantial costs and diversion of management attention and resources. Any such litigation could be time consuming and costly and the outcome cannot be guaranteed. We may not be able to detect any unauthorized use or take appropriate and timely steps to enforce or protect our intellectual property. In addition, India is a party to international agreements that may in the future require it to modify its existing intellectual property protection regime, which may in turn impact our ability to secure appropriate levels of protection for our products.

29. We depend on information technology and our servers and disruptions to such information technology and servers could harm our business and results of operations.

Due to the importance of information technology and servers to our business, any event affecting our information technology could have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operations. Our information technology and servers may be damaged, or disrupted by, computer viruses, break-ins, power losses, software theft, technology failures, human error, terrorist attacks, hacker attacks, malicious actions, fire, lightning, flooding and other calamities. While we maintain checks and systems for ensuring network security against disruptions, we do not maintain disaster recovery or back up systems for most of the critical functions of our business. We cannot assure you that these checks and systems will successfully prevent a disruption to, or an adverse effect on, our business or results of operations in the event of a disaster or other business interruption. Any extended interruption in our technologies or systems could significantly curtail our ability to conduct our business and generate income. We cannot assure you that we will be able to continue to operate effectively and maintain such information technologies and systems.

30. We have no control over the customer care and support given to customers as such care and support is provided by our telecom service provider customers.

We do not typically have direct contact with consumers. Rather, our telecom service provider customers typically have direct contact with consumers in respect of sales, billing, technical support and general customer services. An inability to provide good customer care or service could lead to consumers having unsatisfactory experiences and result in a bad reputation for a particular product or service. Moreover, customer care center employees may be unfamiliar with new products. Any such consumer dissatisfaction, reputational harm to our products or services or failure to provide information about new products could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

31. Our statutory auditors have made certain adverse remarks in their examination report on the Restated, Financial Information which may adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

In their examination report dated May 14, 2010 on the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements, our statutory auditors have included a qualification in respect of Tencube Pte Limited (Tencube), one of our associate companies, for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009. The statutory auditors have relied on the audited financial statements of Tencube for the financial year ended Dec 31, 2009 for the purposes of their opinion on the consolidated financial statements of the group for the nine months period ended Dec 31, 2009 which formed the basis for preparation of the restated consolidated summary statements. The audited financial statements of Tencube for the year ended Dec 31, 2009 were audited by other auditors and included a qualification with respect to certain transactions. Our statutory auditors have qualified the examination report on the basis of the qualification considered in the audit report of Tencube. For a summary of this qualification, please refer to the section titled "Financial Information" beginning on page 135 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Similarly, the audit report on the unconsolidated financial statements of the company and the audit report on the consolidated financial statements of the company for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009 included a matter of emphasis in connection with revenue recognition for certain invoices for which the contracts with the respective customers were in the process of being executed. For the nine months period ended December 31, 2009 we have recognised Rs 146.49 million for such invoices and we have collected Rs. 108.32 million against such invoices as of April 27, 2010. Further the audit report on unconsolidated financial statements for the year ended March, 31, 2009 contains matter of emphasis in connection with certain services being availed from a private limited company in which one of the Directors was interested and remuneration being paid to relatives of one of the Directors who was employed by the company in respect of which the necessary approvals from Central Government under sections 297 and 314 respectively of The Companies Act, 1956 were in the process of being obtained .

Similarly the report on the audited unconsolidated financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2009 included an annexure containing a statement on matters specified in the Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2003. Certain matters in the statement were qualified. For a summary of these matters, please refer to the section titled "Financial Information" beginning on page 135 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. We cannot assure you that our auditors will not qualify their opinion on their audit report on the audited consolidated or unconsolidated financial statements in the future, which may advsersely affect the trading price of our equity shares.

32. We have recognized revenues from customers with whom we have not yet entered into written agreements. If we fail to enter into written agreements with such customers, we may not be able to enforce any claims for outstanding amounts that have already been recognized, which would adversely affect our results of operations.

We have recognized revenue for certain invoices with customers with whom we have not yet entered into written agreements. The total amount of such recognized revenue is Rs. 146.49 million as of December 31, 2009 on a consolidated basis and the total amount collected under such invoices was Rs. 108.32 million as of April 27, 2010. The report of the auditors on Audited Unconsolidated Financlial Statements as well as the Audited Consolidated Financial Statements for the period ended December 31, 2009 included this matter as a matter of emphasis. If we fail to enter into written agreements with such customers, we may not be able to enforce any claims for outstanding amounts that have already been recognized. If we are unable to collect such amounts, our results of operations would be adversely affected.

33. We are subject to risks in our acquisition of other companies, businesses and technologies, which could result in operating difficulties, dilution and other harmful consequences.

Our growth strategy includes acquiring interests in, or merging with, other companies, businesses and technologies. In 2005 our Company amalgamated with Worldwide Computer Services Private Limited. Further, we acquired a 54.99% ownership interest in Oorja Mobile Services Private Limited, through which we provide marketing services to telecom service providers. Moreover, in 2009 we acquired a 21.28% ownership interest in TenCube Pte. Ltd., through which we provide our WaveSecure mobile phone security and data back-up service.

We intend to pursue additional acquisitions to expand our business. We cannot assure you that we will be able to identify suitable acquisitions, strategic investments or joint venture opportunities at acceptable cost and on commercially reasonable terms. Further, we cannot assure you that (i) our due diligence review will identify all of the problems, liabilities or other shortcomings or challenges of a target company or business; (ii) we will be able to obtain the financing necessary to complete and support such acquisitions or investments; (iii) integrate such businesses or investments; or (iv) that any business acquired or investment made will be profitable. Future acquisitions may also be affected by employee retention problems and we may face cultural challenges associated with integrating employees from acquired companies and businesses. Moreover, our management's attention may be diverted by acquisition, transition or integration activities and our ongoing business may be disrupted.

If we attempt to acquire non-Indian companies, we may not be able to satisfy certain Indian regulatory requirements for such acquisitions and may need prior approval from the RBI which we may not obtain. Also, foreign acquisitions involve risks related to integration of operations across different cultures and languages, currency risks and the particular economic, political and regulatory risks associated with doing business in other countries.

Any failure to achieve successful integration of such acquired companies or investments could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition. In addition, the anticipated benefits of our future acquisitions may not materialize. Future acquisitions could result in potentially dilutive issuances of our equity securities, the incurrence of debt, contingent liabilities or other unforeseen complications or liabilities, any of which could have an adverse effect on our financial condition.

34. Consolidation among telecom service providers may increase our dependence on a limited number of telecom service provider customers, which could adversely affect business, our results of operations and financial condition.

The market for telecom service providers is highly concentrated. Consolidation among telecom service providers would increase our reliance on key customers and, due to the increased size of these companies, may negatively impact our bargaining position and profit margins. Moreover, if the combined companies operate in the same geographic market, networks may be shared and less network services may be required. Any such developments could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

35. The majority of new subscribers of our network service provider customers are from non-metro areas and tend on average to purchase less telecom value added services than customers from metro areas, which may have adversely affect our long-term growth prospects.

The majority of the new subscribers of our telecom service provider customers are from non-metro areas. Going forward we expect this trend to continue and the proportion of non-metro customers to grow relative to the proportion of metro customers. These subscribers generally spend less on telecom solutions and value added products and services than subscribers from metro areas and may not purchase mobile phones capable of receiving many of our products and services. These consumers tend to purchase fewer and less expensive telecom products and services and thus represent lower revenue potential for network service providers and also for us since most of our contracts with our network service providers are on a revenue sharing basis. If this trend continues, our long-term growth prospects may be adversely affected.

36. We have limited experience in dealing with the business, regulatory, political, operational, financial and economic risks associated with global expansion, which could increase our costs and hinder our growth.

An important element of our business strategy is the expansion of our network services, consumer services and enterprise services businesses globally by targeting international markets in which we do not currently provide our services. However, we have limited experience dealing with the risks associated with global expansion, and thus we face considerable challenges in executing our strategy. These risks include:

- development of-appropriate products and services for non-Indian markets;
- difficulties in obtaining market acceptance of our services in overseas markets;
- our lack of local presence and familiarity with business practices and conventions in certain markets;
- difficulties and additional time and expenses in customizing and localizing our applications and systems for new markets, including addressing language and cultural differences;
- shortages of personnel who can combine the relevant local knowledge with the necessary skill set, experience and familiarity with our services and applications;
- legal uncertainties or unanticipated changes in regulatory requirements;
- uncertainties of laws and enforcement relating to the protection of intellectual property;
- burdens or cost of complying with a wide variety of foreign laws and regulations, including unexpected changes in regulatory requirements; and
- differences in network and system requirements that may require additional time and resources to ensure compatibility between our applications and services and the telecom service provider networks.

Our efforts to expand globally may also be adversely affected by foreign exchange controls that could prevent us from repatriating income earned in countries outside India, longer payment cycles and difficulty in collecting accounts receivable in developing countries. Any of the foregoing risks could prevent us from further expanding internationally on a timely basis or at all and may adversely affect our business, operating results and financial condition.

37. Our enterprise business is subject to additional risks, any of which could have an adverse affect on our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

Our enterprise business is subject to a number of additional risks, which include:

- Our ability to understand our enterprise customers' needs: The success of our enterprise business will significantly depend on our ability to understand the varied business needs and complex technologies of each of our enterprise customers. If we are unable to understand the business needs and technologies of our various enterprise customers, we will not be able to develop and offer innovative and sustainable applications and solutions to them.
- Acceptance of our applications and solutions by enterprises: The success of our enterprise business will also be subject to the ability of enterprises to appreciate the value of mobile applications to communicate with their customers and sell products and services to their customers. If enterprises are unable to appreciate the value of using mobile applications for these purposes, the potential success of our enterprise business will be limited.
- Preference for call center support: Many enterprises may prefer to use live call center support for customer service purposes rather than using automated services. The potential success of our enterprise business may be limited if a large number of enterprises continue to have a preference for using live operators when providing customer services.

Any of the foregoing risks could limit the success of our enterprise business and have an adverse affect on our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

38. We are subject to restrictions under the share subscription agreement and the shareholders' agreement entered into for investment in TenCube Pte. Ltd.

A share subscription agreement ("SSA") dated December 1, 2009 and a shareholders' agreement ("SHA") dated December 10, 2009, were executed by and among TenCube Pte. Ltd. ("TenCube"), our Company and certain other parties, for investment by our Company in TenCube. The SSA and SHA record the parties' understanding in relation to the governance, management and operation of TenCube. These agreements contain certain restrictive covenants, including, but not limited to, the following:

- Restriction on our Company or its affiliates against inducing any employee or service provider of TenCube to leave the employment of, or cease to provide service to, TenCube;
- Right of first refusal available to the other shareholders in the event of a proposed transfer of shares by any other shareholder;
- Tag along rights available to the other shareholders in the event a shareholder intends to sell its shares to a third party purchaser; and

Right to require compulsory transfer of shares by defaulting shareholders to non-defaulting shareholders.

If we breach any of these covenants or any of these covenants are otherwise triggered, our business and results of operations may be adversely affected. For further details, see the section titled "History and Certain Corporate Matters —Material Agreements" on page 114.

39. We face risks associated with currency exchange rate fluctuations.

We have adopted the Indian Rupee as our reporting currency. We currently transact our business primarily in Indian Rupees and, to a lesser extent, in Bangladeshi Taka, Nigerian Naira and the Afghanistan Afghani. Further, we have network services operations in Bangladesh and Afghanistan and consumer services operations in Nigeria and Italy. The total amount of CIF Value of imports on account of fixed assets in foreign currency, was Rs. 136.94 million and Rs. 191.94 million, which amounted to 58.48% and 59.57% of our total capital expenditure, for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009 and the year ended March 31, 2009, respectively, and the total expenditure in foreign currency, was Rs. 9.28 million and Rs. 0.23 million, which amounted to 1.40% and 0.03% of our total operating expenses, for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009 and the year ended March 31, 2009, respectively. Moreover, the total earnings in foreign currency, when converted into Rupees, was Rs. 11.29 million and Rs. 2.55 million, which amounted to 1.34% and 0.32% of our total operating income, for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009 and the year ended March 31, 2009, respectively. To the extent these currencies appreciate against the Indian Rupee, it would increase our expenses reported in the Indian Rupee.

We intend to expand our business overseas, which will increase our exposure to the risk of currency fluctuations in foreign jurisdictions. In addition, conducting business in currencies other than the Indian Rupee subjects us to fluctuations in currency exchange rates that could have a negative effect on our reported operating results. Fluctuations in the value of the Indian Rupee relative to other currencies impact our income, cost of sales and services and operating margins and result in foreign currency translation gains and losses. While we have not engaged in exchange rate hedging activities in the past due to the size of our operations, we may implement hedging strategies to mitigate these risks in the future. However, these hedging strategies may not eliminate our exposure to foreign exchange rate fluctuations and involve costs and risks of their own, such as ongoing management time and expertise and external costs to implement the strategy.

40. The proprietary information or data of our telecom service provider customers may be misappropriated by our employees and as a result, cause us to breach our contractual obligations in relation to such confidential information.

We require our employees to enter into confidentiality and non-disclosure agreements to limit access to and distribution of the confidential information of our telecom service provider customers' subscribers such as their name and phone number lists. There can be no assurance that the steps taken by us will adequately prevent the disclosure of confidential information by an employee or a subcontractor or a subcontractor's employee. If the confidential information is disclosed or is misappropriated by our employees or subcontractors, our customers may raise claims against us for breach of our contractual obligations. The successful assertion of any claim may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

41. Our insurance coverage may prove inadequate to satisfy future claims against us.

We may become subject to liabilities against which we are not adequately insured or insured at all or for which we cannot obtain insurance. Our insurance policies contain exclusions and limitations on coverage and we do not have business interruption insurance. In addition, our insurance policies may not continue to be available on reasonable terms, at economically acceptable premiums, or at all. As a result, our insurance coverage may not fully cover any claims against us. Our insurers may not accept all claims made by us. A successful assertion of one or more large claims against us that exceeds our available insurance coverage or changes in our insurance policies, including premium increases or the imposition of a larger deductible or co-insurance requirement, could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition. For more information, see the section titled "Our Business - Insurance" beginning on page 102.

42. We have entered into, are likely to continue to enter into, related party transactions with our Promoter and Directors in the future.

We have entered into transactions with related parties in which we have purchased computer hardware, software, servers and support. While we believe that all such transactions have been conducted on, and have commercial terms consistent with, an arm's length basis, there can be no assurance that we could not have achieved more favourable terms had such transactions not been entered into with related parties. Furthermore, it is likely that we will enter into related party transactions in the future. Conflicts may also arise in the ordinary course of our decision-making in connection with our negotiations and dealings with our Promoter and/or Group Companies with respect to services that we provide to them and the arrangements that we may enter into with them. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations. For more information regarding our related party transactions, see the section titled "Related Party Transactions" beginning on page 133.

43. We may find ourselves in breach of the terms of our arrangements with telecom service provider customers because of our failure to ensure that content provided by us is not obscene, defamatory, racist, or otherwise offensive or unlawful in nature.

We take steps to ensure that the content we deploy adheres to the standards and terms of our customer contracts. However, there can be no assurance that such content will not contain obscene, defamatory, racist, or otherwise offensive or unlawful material. If offensive or unlawful material is detected, we are able to take action to prevent the delivery of such material and fine or impose financial penalties on third-party content or service providers responsible for the conveyance of such material. Such fines or financial penalties can be deducted by us from amounts due to a responsible third party content or service provider. However, any failure on our part to detect and prevent the conveyance of such material could result in a breach of an agreement with a telecom service provider customer, which could cause such telecom service provider customer to terminate its arrangement with us. In addition, fines and financial penalties may be imposed on us for such breach and we may not be successful in recovering such fines or financial penalties from our content or service providers. Any of the foregoing may in turn have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

44. We do not own our registered office or any of our offices from which we operate.

We lease the premises in which our registered office in New Delhi and our other offices in Delhi, Noida, Mumbai and Chennai are located. Although most of the lease agreements provide for an option to renew, this option to renew is on mutually agreed terms. If any of the property owners do not renew the agreements under which we occupy the premises or will only renew such agreements on terms and conditions that may be unfavorable to us when such agreements are up for renewal, or if the property owners were to terminate the lease or there is an adverse claim on the property by third party, our use and occupation of such property may be affected and we may suffer a disruption in our operations or have to pay increased rental rates. If any of these events were to occur, it could have an adverse effect on our business, financial conditions and results of operations. For more information, see the section titled "Our Business - Properties" beginning on page 103.

45. Our employee attrition rate may increase to a level where we are not able to sustain our deliverables at a given point of time, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

We believe we pay competitive compensation package and benefits to our employees, however, given the increasing wage levels in India we cannot assure you that our employee attrition rate will not increase to an unsustainable level or that we will be able to recruit experienced professionals to replace the professionals leaving at that particular point of time. Our attrition rate for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and fiscal 2009 was 26% and 23%, respectively. Furthermore, increase in compensation payable to employees in India may reduce some of the inherent cost competitiveness enjoyed by us through our operations in India. Employee compensation in India is increasing at a fast rate, which could result in increased costs relating to engineers, managers and other mid-level professionals. We may need to continue to increase the levels of our employee compensation to retain talent. If we continue to increase employee compensation, we will have to choose between passing on such increases to customers, which may reduce our competitiveness compared to competitors, or bearing such increased costs ourselves, which could reduce our net income. If any of these events were to occur, our business and results of operations may be adversely affected.

46. Our growth requires additional capital, which may not be available on terms acceptable to us or at all.

We intend to pursue a strategy of continued investment to grow our business and expand the range of products and services we offer. We anticipate that we may need to obtain financing as we expand our operations. We may not be successful in obtaining additional funds in a timely manner, on favorable terms or at all. If we do not have access to additional capital, we may be required to delay, scale back or abandon some or all of our acquisition plans or growth strategies or reduce capital expenditures and the size of our operations. See also the section titled "External Risk Factors- Risks Relating to India- Any downgrading of India's debt rating by domestic and international rating agency could adversely affect our business" beginning on page 20 for more information.

47. Under some of the agreements that we have entered into, the other party has the sole right to appoint the sole arbitrator in the event of a dispute.

In some of the contracts that we have entered into with third parties, the chief executive officer of the third party has retained the sole right to appoint the sole arbitrator to decide any dispute that may arise between us and the relevant counter party under a contract. We cannot assure you that any arbitrator appointed in such manner will not be unbiased. Any bias on the part of the arbitrator could result in a decision that is unfavourable to us, which could adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.

48. Our management will have significant flexibility in temporarily investing the net proceeds from the Issue.

We intend to use the net proceeds from the Issue for the purposes described in "Objects of the Issue" on page 66. Pending utilization of the net proceeds from the Issue, we intend to temporarily invest such net proceeds as stated under "Objects of the Issue" – Interim Use of Proceeds", for which we, in accordance with the polices established by the Board and other conditions of the Monitoring Agency, will have significant flexibility. Our management may also determine that it is appropriate to revise our estimated capital expenditure, fund requirements and deployment schedule owing to factors such as exchange or interest rate fluctuations and other expenses and other external factors which may not be within the control of our management but may affect the use of the net proceeds from the Issue.

49. Our funding requirements and proposed deployment of the net proceeds of the Issue are based on management estimates and have not been independently appraised, and may be subject to change based on various factors, some of which are beyond our control.

Our funding requirements and the proposed deployment of the net proceeds of the Issue are based on management estimates, current quotations from suppliers and our current business plan and have not been appraised by an independent entity. Furthermore, in the absence of such an independent appraisal, or the requirement for us to appoint a monitoring agency pursuant to the ICDR Regulations, the deployment of the net proceeds is at our discretion.

We may have to revise our expenditure and funding requirements as a result of variations in costs, estimates, quotations, exchange rates or other external factors, which may not be within the control of our management. This may entail rescheduling, revising or cancelling planned expenditure and funding requirements at the discretion of our Board. Further, current quotations from suppliers are only valid for limited periods and there can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain new quotations from these or other suppliers on the same terms.

50. Contingent liabilities could adversely affect our financial conditions.

The following table provides our contingent liabilities as of the dates indicated as provided in our Restated Consolidated Summary Statements:

(In Rs. Million)

| | (1111011111111) |
|----------------------|-------------------------|
| Particulars | As of December 31, 2009 |
| Bank Guarantee Given | 5.70 |
| Total | 5.70 |

If any or all of these contingent liabilities materialize, it could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operation.

51. We will be controlled by our Promoter for so long as he controls a majority of our Equity Shares.

After the completion of the Issue, our Promoter, Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, will hold approximately [•] % of our outstanding Equity Shares. As a result, our Promoter will have the ability to exercise significant control over us and all matters requiring shareholder approval, including election of directors, our business strategy and policies and approval of significant corporate transactions such as mergers and business combinations. The extent of his shareholding in us may also delay, prevent or deter a change in control, even if such a transaction is beneficial to our other shareholders. The interest of our Promoter as our controlling shareholder could also conflict with our interest or the interests of our other shareholders. We cannot assure you that our Promoter will act to resolve any conflicts of interest in the interest of our other shareholders.

52. Our Company has in the last 12 months, issued Equity Shares at a price that could be lower than the Issue Price.

Our Company allotted and issued 2,707 Equity Shares on April 7, 2010 pursuant to the ESOP Scheme. The price at which such Equity Shares were issued may be lower than the Issue Price. The details of such allotments are set forth below:

| S.No. | Name of Allottee | Number of Equity Shares | Issue Price (Rs.) |
|-------|-------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------|
| 1. | Ms. Ritu Aggarwal | 2,106 | 10.00 |
| 2. | Mr. Kranthi Chaitanya Pulluru | 101 | 49.00 |
| 3. | Mr. Vikas Garg | 400 | 49.00 |
| 4. | Mr. Sanjeev Garg | 100 | 49.00 |

If the Issue Price is higher than any prior issue prices, in particular the above recent issue prices, purchasers of our Equity Shares will experience an immediate dilution in net tangible book value per share from the initial public offering price per Equity Share.

53. The Do Not Call ("DNC") regulation issued by TRAI imposes an obligation on our customers. A few of our telecom service provider customers have passed on the burden of registration with DOT and compliance to these guidelines on us.

TRAI has issued the DNC regulation, which provides that if subscribers to telecom service providers' services do not wish to receive unsolicited commercial communication on their telephones, it will be the telecom service providers' responsibility to register its subscribers' numbers with the National Do Not Call ("NDNC") registry. Telemarketers can call only those numbers that do not appear on the NDNC registry. The regulations provide for registration of the telemarketers with the Department of Telecommunications ("DoT"), the registration of subscribers with the NDNC registry, and the mechanisms on which it would operate. Since TRAI's establishment of stringent penalties (including fines of up to Rs. 1,000 per unsolicited commercial communication and disconnection of a telemarketer's telephone number or telecom resource for calling numbers on the DNC list and penalties of up to Rs. 20,000 for non-compliance with the Telecom Unsolicited Commercial Communications Regulations, 2007), a few of our telecom service provider customers have passed on the burden of registration with the DoT and compliance to these guidelines on to us. As per a few of our recent agreements with telecom service provider customers, we have undertaken to comply with the DNC regulations and in case of violation, the relevant telecom service provider customer has the right to recover from us any penalties that may be imposed. In addition, while we only have this obligation under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers, other telecom service providers may also ask for similar obligations in the future.

Under the "Guidelines for Telemarketers" released by the DoT, any entity engaged in soliciting or promoting any commercial transaction in relation to goods, investment or services is required to register as a telemarketer with the DoT. We engage in activities such as outbound calls to solicit for and promote products for our customers. While we believe that we have registered ourselves as telemarketers with the DoT for the activities carried out by us for some of our customers, we cannot assure you that we are or will be able register as a telemarketer for all such activities carried out by us. Any query or action by the DoT in this regard may impact our business and adversely affect our results of operations.

EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS

Risks Relating to Our Industry

54. Our telecom service provider customers are subject to extensive government regulation of the telecommunications industry in India. Further, the licenses and the regulatory environment in which they operate are subject to change.

We are dependent on our telecom service provider customers to market and sell our consumer applications and services that we offer. As such, any regulation that may have an adverse effect on our telecom service provider customers may in turn adversely harm our business. The telecommunications industry in which our telecom service provider customers operate is subject to extensive government regulation. The Government of India along with the Telecommunications Regulatory Authority of India ("TRAI") regulate many aspects of the telecommunications industry in India. The extensive regulatory structure under which our telecom service provider customers operate could constrain their flexibility to respond to market conditions, competition or changes in their cost structure, and thereby adversely affect them. In addition, they are required to obtain a wide variety of approvals from various regulatory bodies. There can be no assurance that these approvals will be forthcoming on a timely basis or at all, which could have an adverse effect on their business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

The licenses under which our telecom service provider customers operate their businesses typically reserve broad discretion to the Government of India to influence the conduct of their businesses by giving it the right to modify, at any time, the terms and conditions of the licenses and to terminate or suspend the licenses in the interests of national security or in the event of a national emergency, war or similar situations. In addition, the Government of India may also impose certain penalties including suspension, revocation or termination of a license in the event of default by our telecom service provider customers in complying with the terms and conditions of the license. Our telecom service provider customers' licenses may also be for a fixed term and there can be no assurance that any of these licenses will be renewed at all or renewed on the same or better terms. Any of the foregoing may have an adverse effect on the business, results of operations and financial condition of our telecom service provider customers, which may in turn have an adverse effect on us.

55. We may be adversely affected by future government regulations implemented for the telecommunications value added services industry in which we operate.

Currently, the telecommunications value added services industry is not subject to any specific government regulations. However, there can be no assurance that the Government of India will not implement new regulations and policies that would require us to obtain approvals and licenses from the Government of India and other regulatory bodies or impose onerous requirements and conditions on our operations. Any such changes and the related uncertainties with respect to the implementation of the new regulations, or our inability to obtain these approvals and licenses or perform such requirements and conditions on time or at all, may have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

56. Telecom service provider network congestion, failures or a shortage of a sufficient amount of network infrastructure could reduce our sales, increase costs or result in a loss of income.

We rely on our telecom service provider customers' networks to deliver our products and services and telecom applications to their subscribers. Congestion on, failures of, technical problems with, or a shortage of our telecom service provider customers' delivery systems or communications networks could result in the inability of the subscribers to use our applications. If any of these systems fail, including as a result of an interruption in the supply of power, an earthquake, fire, flood or other natural disaster, an act of war or terrorism, or a lack of compliance with local laws (e.g., the deployment of telecommunications infrastructure without proper permissions), our telecom service provider customers' subscribers may be unable to access our applications. Any failure of, or technical problem with, our telecom service provider customers' networks could result in a loss of income and have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

57. Concerns about health risks relating to the use of mobile handsets may adversely affect our prospects.

In recent years, media and other research reports have linked radio frequency emissions from mobile handsets to various health concerns, including cancer, and to interference with various electronic medical devices, including hearing aids and pacemakers. As research and studies are ongoing, we cannot assure you that further research and studies will not demonstrate a link between radio frequency emissions and health concerns, which could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Risks Relating to India

58. The Indian economy has sustained varying levels of inflation in the recent past

India recently experienced very high levels of inflation, with inflation peaking at 12.91% in August 2008. According to India's Ministry of Finance Department of Economic Affairs' Monthly Economic Report March 2010, year-on-year inflation in terms of the wholesale price index for March 2010 was 9.90% while year-on-year inflation in terms of the wholesale price index for March 2009 was 1.20%. However, the year-on-year inflation rate for March 2010 was virtually unchanged from the year-on-year inflation rate of 9.89% in February 2010. In the event of a high rate of inflation, our costs, such as salaries, wages or any other of our expenses may increase. Accordingly, high rates of inflation in India could increase our costs, which could have an adverse effect on our results of operations.

59. Political, economic and social developments in India could adversely affect our business.

The Indian government has traditionally exercised and continues to exercise a significant influence over many aspects of the economy. Our business, and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares, may be affected by changes in the Indian government's policies, including taxation. Social, political, economic or other developments in or affecting India, acts of war and acts of terrorism could also adversely affect our business.

Since 1991, successive governments have pursued policies of economic liberalization and financial sector reforms. However, there can be no assurance that such policies will be continued and any significant change in the Indian government's policies in the future could affect business and economic conditions in India in general and could also affect our business and industry in particular. In addition, any political instability in India or geopolitical stability affecting India will adversely affect the Indian economy and the Indian securities markets in general, which could also affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

60. Our ability to raise foreign capital may be constrained by Indian law. The limitations on foreign debt may have an adverse effect on our business growth, financial condition and results of operations.

As an Indian company, we are subject to exchange controls that regulate borrowing in foreign currencies, which could constrain our ability to obtain financings on competitive terms and refinance existing indebtedness. In addition, we cannot assure you that the required approvals will be granted to us without onerous conditions, or at all. The limitations on foreign debt may have an adverse effect on our business growth, financial condition and results of operations.

61. Terrorist attacks, civil unrest and other acts of violence could adversely affect the financial markets, result in a loss of customer confidence and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

Certain events that are beyond our control, including terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war, which may adversely affect worldwide financial markets and potentially lead to economic recession, could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. Additionally, any of these events could lower confidence in India's economy. Southern Asia has, from time to time, experienced instances of civil unrest and political tensions and hostilities among neighbouring countries. Political tensions could create a perception that there is a risk of disruption of operations, which could have an adverse effect on the market for our services.

62. Any downgrading of India's debt rating by a domestic or international rating agency could adversely affect our business.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by domestic or international rating agencies may adversely affect our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could harm our business and financial performance, ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the price of our Equity Shares.

Risks Relating to this Issue and Investment in our Equity Shares

63. There are restrictions on daily movements in the price of the Equity Shares, which may adversely affect a shareholder's ability to sell, or the price at which it can sell, Equity Shares at a particular point in time.

Subsequent to listing, we will be subject to a daily circuit breaker imposed on listed companies by all stock exchanges in India which does not allow transactions beyond certain volatility in the price of the Equity Shares. This circuit breaker operates independently of the index-based market-wide circuit breakers generally imposed by SEBI on Indian stock exchanges. The percentage limit on our circuit breaker is set by the stock exchanges based on the historical volatility in the price and trading volume of the Equity Shares. The stock exchanges are not required to inform us of the percentage limit of the circuit breaker from time to time, and may change it without our knowledge. This circuit breaker would effectively limit the upward and downward movements in the price of the Equity Shares. As a result of this circuit breaker, there can be no assurance regarding the ability of shareholders to sell the Equity Shares or the price at which shareholders may be able to sell their Equity Shares.

64. There is no guarantee that the Equity Shares will be listed on the BSE and the NSE in a timely manner or at all, and any trading closures at the BSE and the NSE may adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

In accordance with Indian law and practice, permission for the listing of the Equity Shares cannot be granted by the Stock Exchanges until after the Equity Shares have been issued and allotted and all other relevant documents authorizing the Issue have been submitted. There could be a failure or delay in listing the Equity Shares on the BSE and the NSE. Any failure or delay in obtaining the approval would restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares.

The regulation and monitoring of Indian securities markets and the activities of investors, brokers and other participants differ, in some cases significantly, from those in Europe and the U.S. The BSE and the NSE have in the past experienced problems, including temporary exchange closures, broker defaults, settlement delays and strikes by brokerage firm employees, which, if continuing or recurring, could affect the market price and liquidity of the securities of Indian companies, including the Equity Shares, in both domestic and international markets. A closure of, or trading stoppage on, either of the BSE and the NSE could adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

65. You will not be able to sell immediately on an Indian stock exchange any of the Equity Shares you purchase in the Issue until the Issue receives the appropriate trading approvals.

Our Equity Shares will be listed on the NSE and the BSE. Pursuant to Indian regulations, certain actions must be completed before the Equity Shares can be listed and trading may commence. Investors' book entry, or "demat", accounts with depository participants in India are expected to be credited within two working days of the date on which the basis of allotment is approved by NSE and the BSE. Thereafter, upon receipt of final approval from the NSE and the BSE, trading in the Equity Shares is expected to commence within 12 Working Days of the Bid/ Issue Closing Date. We cannot assure you that the Equity Shares will be credited to investors' demat accounts, or that trading in the Equity Shares will commence, within the time periods specified above. Any delay in obtaining the requisite approvals would restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares.

66. There is no existing market for the Equity Shares and the price of the Equity Shares may be volatile and fluctuate significantly in response to various factors.

Prior to this Issue, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares, and an active trading market on the Indian Stock Exchanges may not develop or be sustained after the Issue. The Issue Price of the Equity Shares may bear no relationship to the market price of the Equity Shares after the Issue. The trading price of our Equity Shares may fluctuate after this Issue due to a variety of factors, including our results of operations and the performance of our business, competitive conditions, general economic, political and social factors, volatility in the Indian and global securities markets, the performance of the Indian and global economy, significant developments in India's fiscal regime and other factors. There can be no assurance that an active trading market for our Equity Shares will develop or be sustained after this Issue, or that the price at which our Equity Shares are initially offered will correspond to the prices at which they will trade in the market subsequent to this Issue.

67. Future sales of Equity Shares by our Promoter and other significant shareholders may adversely affect the market price of our Equity Shares.

After the completion of the Issue, our Promoter will own, directly and indirectly, approximately [●]% of our outstanding Equity Shares. Subject to lock-in restrictions of one year applicable to the entire pre-Issue shareholding of our Promoter and three years applicable to 20% of the post-Issue capital held by the Promoter, our Promoter may sell the Equity Shares held by him at anytime. Further, subject to a lock-in restriction of one year applicable to the entire pre-Issue shareholdings of all shareholders, other shareholders may sell the Equity Shares held by them at any time. Sales of a large number of our Equity Shares by our Promoter or other shareholders, could adversely affect the market price of our Equity Shares. Similarly, the perception that any such primary or secondary sale may occur could adversely affect the market price of our Equity Shares.

68. Future issuances of Equity Shares would dilute your proportionate interest in our Company.

Any future issuances of Equity Shares by us, including in a primary offering or pursuant to a preferential allotment or issuances of stock options under any employee stock option plans, or any perception by investors that such issuances or sales might occur may lead to the dilution of investor shareholding in our Company or affect the trading price of the Equity Shares and could affect our ability to raise capital through an offering of our securities.

69. We have not paid dividends in the past and may not pay dividends in the future.

Our Company has never paid dividends to its equity shareholders in the past. Whether our Company pays dividends in the future and the amount of any such dividends, if declared, will depend upon a number of factors, including our results of operations and financial condition and other factors considered relevant by our Board of Directors and shareholders. There is no assurance that our Company will declare and pay, or have the ability to declare and pay, any dividends on Equity Shares at any point in the future.

70. The requirements of being a listed company may strain our resources and distract management.

We have no experience as a listed company and have not been subjected to the increased scrutiny of our affairs by shareholders, regulators and the public at large that is associated with being a listed company. As a listed company, we will incur significant legal, accounting, corporate governance and other expenses that we did not incur as an unlisted company. We will be subject to the listing agreements with the Stock Exchanges which requires us to file audited annual and unaudited quarterly reports with respect to our business and financial condition. If we experience any delays, we may fail to satisfy our reporting obligations and/or we may not be able to readily determine and accordingly report any changes in our results of operations as timely as other listed companies.

As a listed company, we will need to maintain and improve the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, including keeping adequate records of daily transactions to support the existence of effective disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting. In order to maintain and improve the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, significant resources and management oversight will be required. As a result, management's attention may be diverted from other business concerns, which could adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, we may need to hire additional legal and accounting staff with appropriate listed company experience and technical accounting knowledge and we cannot assure you that we will be able to do so in a timely manner.

71. Our failure to successfully adopt International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") effective April 2011 could have a material adverse effect on the price of our Equity Shares.

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, the accounting body that regulates the accounting firms in India, has announced a road map for the adoption of, and convergence with, IFRS, pursuant to which all public companies in India, including ours, will be required to prepare their annual and interim financial statements under IFRS beginning with the fiscal period commencing April 1, 2011. Because there is significant lack of clarity on the adoption of and convergence with IFRS and there is not yet a significant body of established practice on which to draw in respect of forming judgments regarding the implementation and application of IFRS, we have not determined with any degree of certainty the impact that such adoption will have on our financial reporting. There can be no assurance that our financial condition, results of operations, cash flows or changes in shareholder's equity will not appear materially worse under IFRS than under Indian GAAP. As we transition to IFRS reporting, we may encounter difficulties in the ongoing process of implementing and enhancing our management information systems and internal controls. Moreover, there is increasing competition for the small number of IFRS-experienced accounting personnel available as more Indian companies begin to prepare IFRS financial statements. There can be no assurance that our adoption of IFRS will not adversely affect our reported results of operations or financial condition and any failure to successfully adopt IFRS by April 2011 could have a material adverse effect on the price of our Equity Shares.

Indian Telecommunications Market

The Indian telecommunications industry is one of the fastest growing in the world and India is projected to become the second largest telecom market globally by 2010. (Source: India Brand Equity Foundation at www.ibef.org accessed on March 12, 2010; and Confederation of Indian Industry at www.cii.in accessed on May 14, 2010) According to the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India ("TRAI"), the number of telecom subscribers (wireless and wireline) in India increased to 621.28 million in March 2010 from 600.98 million in February 2010, thereby registering a growth rate of 3.38% during March 2010. With this increase the overall tele-density (telephones per 100 people) reached 52.74. India is currently adding eight to ten million mobile subscribers every month. (Source: India Brand Equity Foundation ("IBEF") at www.ibef.org accessed on March 12, 2010)

Despite growth in the number of subscribers, the Average Revenue Per User ("ARPU") and Minutes of Usage ("MOU") per month have declined for both GSM and CDMA operators since the last quarter of 2007 or first quarter of 2008, as the case may be.

It is expected that once the 3G spectrum becomes available in India, about 275 million Indian subscribers will use 3G based services, and the number of 3G-enabled handsets will reach close to 395 million by the end of 2013. The target for the 11th Plan period (2007-12) is for there to be 600 million wireless subscribers in India by the end of the plan period with USD 73 billion invested in wireless services. Apart from basic wireless service, there is an enormous potential for various value-added services. (Source: India Brand Equity Foundation at www.ibef.org accessed on March 12, 2010)

Mobile Value Added Services ("VAS") - An Overview

Telecom networks enable two or more people to connect with one another in order to communicate verbally. Any additional service like SMS, mobile internet, music, mobile commerce or enterprise applications offered on telecom networks are value added services offered by value added service providers ("VAS Providers"). Telecom service providers (i.e. telecom providers) look to such value added services to enhance their revenues and differentiate their services in the market place.

Consumers are increasingly using mobile phones for a variety of services beyond traditional communication (i.e., phone calls). Today consumers expect their mobile phones to deliver entertainment, information and access to their personal and/or enterprise data. Companies offering these services to consumers (either directly and/or in partnership with telecom service providers) are VAS Providers.

Value added services that can be delivered to a handset use most of the features available on a telecom network. Such features include the following:

- 1. A voice call (i.e., voice VAS);
- 2. An SMS that is received or sent, (i.e., SMS services);
- 3. Internet available on handsets through Wireless Application Protocol ("WAP"), namely WAP Services;
- 4. Messages sent or received with multimedia content on a handset through Multimedia Messaging Service ("MMS"); and
- 5. Video call (only possible on 3G Network) to access stored or live video content.

Telecom service providers charge the subscribers, who use value added services on pay per download, pay per call or on a monthly subscription basis, among others. VAS Providers receive a share of this revenue from the telecom service provider. The content providers get their revenue in the form of content fees or royalty either from the VAS providers or directly from the telecom service providers.

Some additional value added services include managed services where a VAS Provider manages on behalf of telecom service providers systems delivering other value added services like SMS sending servers and Mobile Internet Gateways and self care platforms where consumers check their prepaid balance or find out about new recharge offers and services.

Some of the services that a network service provider uses for improving business efficiency, churn management, customer communication and customer lifecycle management are called network value added services.

VAS Market Segments

The VAS market can be segregated into two segments: Consumer VAS and Enterprise VAS. A thin line separates these segments due to the overlapping of products and services offered in each segment. Consumer VAS usually encompasses consumer-centric applications and services spanning entertainment and information applications like music, screen savers, games and news, among others. Various fee payment models have been developed for charging consumers for VAS. Moreover, revenues are shared by the various players across the value chain.

In respect of enterprise VAS, the focus is on providing enterprise-centric VAS and charging the enterprises for such services. These services span a number of areas such as marketing (e.g., mobile campaigns and mobile advertisements), mobile office applications, core business applications and unified communications. The objective is to use mobile channel effectively to enhance brand building activities and/or improve efficiencies of operations and communications for an enterprise.

Within enterprise VAS, VAS providers can provide specialized applications or services to telecom service providers, often with the purpose of enhancing the consumer (i.e., subscriber) experience on the network and/or improving the efficiency and profitability of the telecom service provider. This niche segment is called "Network VAS" and can be considered a special type of Enterprise VAS provided to telecom service providers.

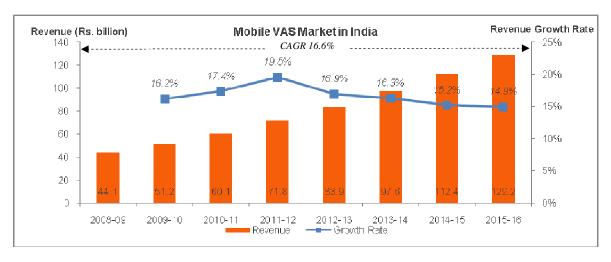

The VAS providers generate revenues from various sources in return for the services provided by them. For consumer VAS, the consumers pay based on the content used. This revenue is often collected by the telecom service providers, which distribute a portion of the revenue collected to VAS providers under revenue sharing arrangements. A typical revenue sharing model for consumer VAS segment is depicted below:

Mobile VAS Market

Mobile VAS market revenues in India constituted 5.4% of the total mobile services market revenues in fiscal 2009. It is expected to grow from Rs. 44.1 billion in fiscal 2009 to Rs. 129.2 billion in fiscal 2016 at a CAGR of 16.6%. With telecom service providers increasingly looking to grow mobile VAS offerings, it is anticipated that this market will experience strong growth, especially after the proliferation of 3G networks.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Indian Mobile Value Added Services (VAS) Market, February 2010

Growth Drivers:

- 1. India is one of the fastest growing telecom markets globally;
- 2. VAS potential as an ARPU enabler;
- 3. Increased availability of affordable multifunction handsets with enhanced capabilities;
- 4. A need for telecom service providers to differentiate themselves based on key VAS offerings;
- 5. High speed networks like 3G and WIMAX likely to drive adoption of VAS; and
- 6. The telecom market still has significant potential for growth, especially among rural population.

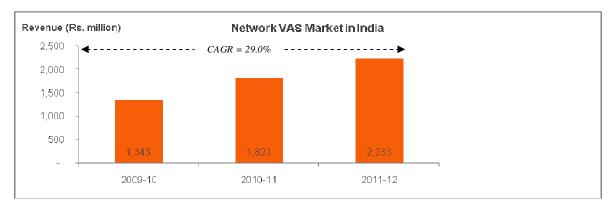

Market Restraints:

- 1. Lack of advanced infrastructure such as high-speed networks to facilitate VAS offering to consumers;
- 2. Availability of alternate channels to procure content such as internet;
- 3. Security-related issues; and
- 4. Restricted use of enterprise VAS in the enterprise.

Network VAS Market

A network VAS provider works with telecom service providers and delivers enhancements necessary for selling value added services, offering customer communication, self care and managing the VAS technology platforms. The scope of work for network VAS include (but is not limited to) enabling easy access to information (details about the value added service, usage charges and various features available for that service) and providing a method for starting and stopping the service.

The Network VAS market is expected to grow from Rs. 1,345 million in fiscal 2010 to Rs. 2,236 million in fiscal 2012 at a CAGR of 29.0%.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Network VAS Market in India, March 2010

Customer communications comprises of outbound and inbound communication. In outbound communication, outbound dialing ("OBD") refers to calls or SMSs ("Outbound SMS") generated on the telecom service provider's end. Bulk SMS, promotional calls/messages and grace calling are a part of this segment. Inbound communication refers to inbound dialing ("IBD"), which includes the customer care or toll free self care number services available to customers. Inbound SMS is not included under this category.

Market Drivers:

- Innovative content driving the growth of VAS and in turn the need for promotional services;
- Telecom service provider's need to improve customer services in order to increase user retention;
- Telecom service provider's focus on increasing consumers' awareness of mobile VAS; and
- Robust growth in mobile subscriber base.

Market Restraints

- Subscriber growth is mostly expected from rural regions, some of which lack English knowledge and familiarity with SMS. Lack of local language IVR and content make it difficult to target this segment effectively;
- Stricter regulation expected with respect to spam and unwanted calling. More users opting for Do Not Disturb ("DND") services; and
- Increasing adoption of multiple subscriber identification modules (i.e., sim cards) by the subscribers, which reduces the percentage of successful calling and conversion.

SUMMARY OF BUSINESS

Overview

We are a leading provider of telecommunications value added services to telecom service providers, consumers and enterprises in India. We offer products and services to meet the needs of (1) telecom service providers, (2) consumers (i.e., mobile phone users) and (3) enterprises. We develop and purchase content and applications, provide the relevant platform for delivery of our products and services and integrate these products and services with the core network elements of telecom service providers.

Our applications can be deployed on any telecom network and accessed from most mobile handsets. We utilise interactive voice response ("IVR") system or voice, Short Message Services ("SMS"), Unstructured Supplementary Services Data ("USSD") and Wireless Application Protocol ("WAP") technology to deliver our products and services.

Network Services

The focus of our network services is to assist telecom service providers in enhancing network efficiency and improving their revenues and profitability by delivering innovative solutions that enhance their subscribers' experiences. Our network services include providing network components such as Short Message Service Centres ("SMSC"), which facilitate the accurate delivery of SMS messages to their intended destinations, USSD gateways, which enable a subscriber to obtain information (e.g., sports results, stock quotes and the amount of unused prepaid balance on a SIM card) and call management systems such as pre-call announcements, call forwarding and call block services.

We also provide customer lifecycle management services that are aimed at increasing average revenue per user ("ARPU"), including self-care portals, service provisioning portals, loyalty programs and customer churn management services. Our services such as toll-free infolines, customer communication tools through outbound diallers, tagged-SMS, missed-call back services and USSD inserts further enable our telecom service provider customers to enhance their subscribers' experiences while using their respective networks.

Our Subsidiary Oorja Mobile Services Private Limited ("Oorja") provides focused marketing solutions to telecom service providers. It has developed an analytics driven comprehensive customer communications platform. These solutions enable telecom service providers to target customers with particular services, products and promotions based on profiling of customers using network footprints and voluntary customer profiles. This platform enables telecom service providers to offer targeted mobile advertising services to enterprises wishing to place advertisements through their respective networks.

We provide network services to eight telecom service providers in India one telecom service provider in Afghanistan, one in Nigeria and one in Bangladesh. We earn revenue from providing these services to networks on a per transaction basis, on a periodic, per port fee basis or revenue share basis. For further details on these services, see "- Our Principal Products and Services – Network Services" on page 96.

Consumer Services (Services for mobile phone users)

We offer a broad range of mobile content, applications and commerce services to consumers (i.e., mobile phone users), for which we earn revenue either directly from consumers or through revenue sharing arrangements with telecom service providers. Our content and applications include music browsing, ring-tone downloads, caller ring-back tone downloads, content alerts, contests and chat and messaging applications that are delivered to consumers via voice, SMS and WAP. The content offered by us is generated in-house or by content providers from whom we have purchased distribution rights for particular content.

One of our consumer applications is a mobile phone security and data backup service called WaveSecure, which enables mobile phone subscribers to protect their handsets and personal data against misuse in the event that their handsets are lost or stolen. A second consumer application of ours is a social networking site for mobile phones called Oc2ps, which enables subscribers to post photos, videos and updates onto the site as well as to other social networking websites at the same time and get updates from contacts on our site and other social networks, all with one mobile interface and one sign in.

Our content and applications are deliverable to the subscribers of 11 telecom service providers in India. As on February 28, 2010, we had approximately 9.87 million subscribers for our consumer services. Depending on the content or application, we sell our consumer services on a subscription basis and/or per transaction basis. Consumers who use our services are charged by their network providers who then pay us an agreed percentage under a revenue sharing arrangement. We are in the process of rolling out a website and an Interactive Voice Response ("IVR") mechanism that will enable consumers to also pay us directly for our consumer services.

We provide commerce services through PayTM, or "Pay Through Mobile", our mobile commerce platform for consumers and enterprises. PayTM enables mobile phone users to make payments through their mobile phones in a secure and easy manner over voice, SMS, WAP, websites and on-device applications using credit cards, debit cards, pre-paid cash cards, net banking and third party payment gateway providers such as PayPal. PayTM allows consumers to undertake a variety of transactions, including mobile prepaid recharges, direct-to-home television ("DTH") recharges, mobile ticketing, bill payments and mobile shopping. We generate revenue from providing PayTM services on a per transaction basis.

In most instances our consumer services provide a source of additional revenue to telecom service providers without any additional capital expenditure on their part.

Enterprise Services

We use telecom networks as media to assist enterprises with customer communication, self-care solutions and brand services. Our SMS outbound campaign service and very interactive out diallers ("VIO") allow for outbound communication with customers, enterprise messaging, brand communication and advertising. Our voice portals and SMS pull services on 53030 SMS short code enable enterprises to make self care services available to customers. We also develop WAP sites for enterprises and offer them mobile payment platform (i.e., PayTM). For further details on these services, see "- Our Principal Products and Services – Enterprise Services" on page 100.

Our Company was founded in 2000 by Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, the Company's Managing Director and Promoter. The Company was awarded The Emerging Company of the Year at Voice & Data's Telecom Awards 2009. Further, in 2009 Deloitte, as part of its Deloitte Technology Fast 50 India program, recognized our Company as the 10th fastest growing technology company in India based on our percentage revenue growth.

Our consolidated total income was Rs. 407.71 million for the year ended March 31 2008, Rs. 813.97 million for the year ended March 31, 2009 and Rs. 867.45 million for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009. Our consolidated net profit as per our Restated Consolidated Summary Statements was Rs. 44.58 million for the year ended March 31, 2008, Rs. 21.37 million for the year ended March 31, 2009 and Rs. 124.18 million for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009.

Our Competitive Strengths

We believe that our key competitive strengths include the following:

Access to a significant number of mobile phone users in India

We provide services to 11 telecom service providers in India. Our arrangements with these telecom service providers gives us access to a significant number of mobile phone users in India.

Long-standing relationships with telecom service providers, which create technological and time-to-market barriers to entry for new entrants

We have long-standing relationships with many of our network customers through which we provide our consumer services. Our customer contracts for consumer services generally take the form of master contracts that allow us to add new products and services rapidly with essentially the same terms and conditions as the master contract. Since our inception in December 2000, we have not lost any major customers. We have been able to hold onto our customers because of our development of innovative revenue generating products and joint product planning and service deployments with our customers, thereby making us integral to our customers' growth plans.

Furthermore, service deployments with our major network customers involve complex hardware systems and software applications deeply embedded within the network's infrastructure and integrated into the network's billing, provisioning, service management, customer care and other core systems. In order to manage, maintain and operate the software applications provided to our customers and integrate them into our joint product planning and new service deployment processes, we maintain a high level of interaction and close working relationships with each of our telecom service provider customers. This minimizes the complexities involved in deploying and marketing new services, which gives us an advantage over our competitors in the development, testing and commercialisation of innovative new mobile solutions and products by reducing the time-to-market for new product introductions as the new products, content and updates can be easily launched through our existing infrastructure. As such, technological and time-to-market barriers to entry for new entrants exist.

Strong culture of innovation with a deep understanding of consumers preferences and a proven track record of bringing innovative solutions to market

We believe that we were the first company in India in the telecommunications value added services industry to introduce the revenue share model whereby we receive a fixed percentage of the net revenue generated by our consumer services. We also believe that we were the first company in India to introduce a business model whereby (i) we provide the hardware, software and rights that facilitate a telecom service provider's use our platform and (ii) the telecom service providers pay us on a per transaction basis or on the basis of revenue generated from such hardware, software and rights. This business model relieves our telecom service provider customers of the need to incur any capital expenditure in order for them to provide our services to their subscribers. Freed of this burden, our telecom service provider customers have more flexibility in planning their capital expenditure and are able to focus on marketing to gain new subscribers. We believe that these business models make us an attractive service provider to network service provides.

Moreover, we have a proven track record of creating, developing and successfully launching innovative product applications such as Ringtone ka Maharaja (a unique portal for downloading music ringtones) and pre-call insert service through which a voice message is played before a call is connected. This pre-call service led to Oorja being one of a small group of finalists for a NASSCOM Innovation Award in 2009. We believe that with our track record, accumulated market experience, technical capabilities and operational expertise, we are well positioned to serve as an integrated solutions provider for our customers who want to rapidly and cost-effectively provide a broad range of telecommunications value added services to their subscribers.

As our product portfolio and end user base expands, we benefit from increased market understanding, which enables us to analyse purchasing and usage behaviour, develop products which match consumer preferences and cross-sell services to the consumers we reach. In addition, we have invested and will continue to invest resources in research and development in order to keep creating new applications and solutions and to upgrade or improve our existing ones. We believe that the research and development experience and knowledge base that we have developed over the years will enable us to continue delivering innovative services in the area of new and enabling technologies and keep us at the forefront of developments in our industry. The technical expertise of our research and development team allows us to offer and customize tailored products and services to our customers in very short timeframes with advanced software features.

We draw significant benefits from our scale of operations and breadth of products

Our business exhibits significant economies of scale in the areas of software development manpower costs, hardware and software purchasing, centralised operations support staff, content purchasing and infrastructure purchasing and deployment. We use the same platform for our network services and consumer services, which enables us to extract value from cross-selling services, data mining, cost sharing, re-use of software code, sharing of system resources and databases and other similar synergies. It allows our customers to offer a wide range of similar user interface services to their subscribers, resulting in ease of market adoption, faster revenue results, and higher consumer satisfaction. We continuously work on feature enhancements and inter-linkages between our products to generate new products in a cost efficient manner. We believe that such synergies are not available to many of our single-product competitors.

Diversified income base, which reduces our reliance on any one market, telecom service provider, product or service

Our revenue from network services, consumer services and enterprise services comprised 53.52%, 35.65% and 10.82%, respectively, of our operating income for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009. We offer several product lines to each of the network services, consumer services and enterprise services markets. Moreover, during the nine month period ended December 31, 2009, no single telecom service provider accounted for more than 27% of our total income on a consolidated basis.

Our Strategy

Our goal is to be the preferred provider of telecommunications value added products, services and solutions to telecom service providers, consumers and enterprises. We intend to achieve this goal through the following strategies:

Build on our network services experience and capabilities to continue to offer innovative services and products

Our network services business account for the largest portion of our operating income, comprising 53.52% of our operating income on a consolidated basis for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009, and we believe that in terms of revenue we are one of the largest companies offering network services to telecom service providers in India. Network services has become an integral part of our business and as such we hope to continue to grow this business. Our aim in offering network services is to enable network service providers in India to enhance consumers' network experiences and to enable them to manage and monitor subscribers' needs using lifecycle management services. We have sought to develop innovative products and services that enable network service providers to enhance usage of their core offerings (i.e., voice minutes, subscriber trunk dialling, international subscriber dialling minutes and SMSs). Going forward, we intend to build on the experience and capabilities that we developed in respect of network services to develop new products and services on an ongoing basis that appeal to consumers and further enhance their network experience while minimizing the cost of offering such products and services for our telecom service provider customers.

Develop our relationships with our telecom service provider customers in a way that will lead to collaborative efforts to develop ideas for new products and services

We have developed relationships with 11 telecom service providers in India. In order to manage, maintain and operate the software applications provided to our customers and integrate them into our joint product planning and new service deployment processes, we maintain a high level of interaction and close working relationships with each of our telecom service provider customers. Going forward, we intend to develop our relationships with our telecom service provider customers in a way that will lead to collaborative efforts to develop ideas for new products and services. Moreover, we will seek to parlay our relationship with telecom service providers into relationships with their corporate clients with the aim of offering our enterprise services to such corporate clients. Our plan is to enter into strategic alliances with telecom service providers to provide enterprise services to their corporate clients.

Continue to develop innovative consumer products and services that facilitate the use of mobile handsets for media consumption, commerce and messaging

We strive to develop innovative consumer services and products that address the possibilities that have arisen given the emergence of the mobile handset as a tool for media consumption (e.g., the mobile phone having become a means for listening to music, watching television and reading the news), commerce and messaging. We have delivered products and services that facilitate the use of mobile handsets in these manners and will continue to explore opportunities to develop products and services that allow the use of mobile handsets in these ways. Currently we use SMS, mobile internet and USSD interaction to offer consumers services on their handsets. We plan to expand the channels we use to offer consumer services to include video services and other services that are more compatible with 3G networks.

In addition, various core network components like SMS messaging are out of step with evolving consumer requirements. We have delivered innovative messaging products that address such issues. Going forward, core telecom services will require much more consumer savvy product development. We believe that our focus on consumer savvy product development will result in service offerings that maximize consumers' mobile handset experiences.

Focus on offering enterprise services to enterprises in particular industries

We intend to focus on providing enterprise services to enterprises in particular industries, including banking, financial services and insurance, consumer services, fast moving consumer goods and consumer electronics. We intend to develop sector specific solutions for our existing and future enterprise customers. We believe that our ability to leverage our network services experience so as to be able to offer enterprise customers telco grade services will appeal to the enterprises that we target. We also believe that the fact that we offer most enterprise services in a manner that would not require them to undertake significant capital expenditure to commence using our enterprise services and the fact that many of our enterprise services are offered on a per transaction basis will be appealing to them.

Continue to move towards business models that provide more certainty of profits

We believe that our business model whereby (i) we provide the hardware, software and rights that facilitate a telecom service provider's use our platform and (ii) the telecom service providers pay us on a per transaction basis or on the basis of revenue generated from such hardware, software and rights results in a unique advantage for us. We believe that we are a more attractive option as a provider of network services because this business model frees network service providers of the need to incur any capital expenditure in order for them to provide our services to their subscribers. We believe that a business model that makes us a more attractive provider of network services will contribute to growth in revenue from our network services business. As such, we intend to use this business model as the primary model for our relationships with network service providers in the future.

With respect to our consumer services business, we intend to focus on increasing subscription based services rather than focusing on offering services on a per-transaction basis. Subscription-based services provide us with more certainty of steady revenue compared with services provided on a per-transaction basis. Long-term we intend to move towards a revenue model that functions on a pay-per-session basis and a revenue model whereby advertisers underwrite the cost of offering services.

With respect to our enterprise services business, we intend to move from a revenue model based on pertransaction fees to a revenue model whereby revenue is generated from per-transaction fees and a service charge. We are also working towards creating a hosted-solutions services based business model whereby we offer enterprise services to enterprises through strategic alliances with network service provider customers, which would provide us access to a large number of our network service providers' existing customers. Further, a hosted-solutions based business model would entail the network service providers bundling our services with their own service offerings. The bundling of services would make it less likely that the network service providers would discontinue offering our services to enterprises that are receiving services through a hostedsolutions based business model.

Expand our international presence

We currently operate in India, Bangladesh, Afghanistan and Nigeria. We intend to expand our geographic presence by leveraging our expertise and track record in offering products that address the needs of international networks and their subscribers as well as enterprises outside India. We initially intend to look to expand in markets that we believe are similar to India such as South East Asia, Africa and a few pre-paid minutes dominated European markets. We also intend to leverage our relationships with Indian networks so as to sell our network services and consumer services to their associated networks outside India. We may also acquire companies to expand our presence internationally.

Pursue selective strategic acquisitions and investments

We continually seek new growth and acquisition opportunities in our existing line of business as well as related businesses to expand our geographic presence, service offerings, network relationships and technological expertise, including investment in or acquisition of minority or majority stakes in companies which support our business. By selecting the opportunities for growth and acquisition carefully and leveraging our transactional, project execution and operational skills, we expect to continue to expand our business. For example, in December 2009, we acquired a 21.28% ownership interest in TenCube Pte Ltd. ("TenCube"), which developed WaveSecure, the mobile phone security and data back-up application service that we sell. In February 2008, we acquired a 54.99% ownership interest in Oorja, our Subsidiary that provides mobile marketing services to telecom service providers.

Book Building Process

"Book building" refers to the process of collection of Bids from investors on the basis of the Red Herring Prospectus, the Bid cum Application Forms and the ASBA Forms. The Issue Price shall be determined by our Company in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers, after the Bid/Issue Closing Date. The principal parties involved in the Book Building Process are:

- (1) our Company;
- (2) the Book Running Lead Managers;
- (3) the Syndicate Members who are intermediaries registered with SEBI or registered as brokers with any of the Stock Exchanges and eligible to act as underwriters;
- (4) the Registrar to the Issue;

Pursuant to Rule 19(2)(b) of the SCRR read with Regulation 41(1) of the SEBI Regulations, this being an Issue for less than 25% of the post-Issue equity share capital, is being made through a 100% Book Building Process wherein at least 60% of the Issue shall be Allotted to QIBs. If at least 60% of the Issue cannot be Allotted to QIBs, then the entire application money will be refunded forthwith.

Our Company may, in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers, allocate up to 30% of the QIB Portion to Anchor Investors at the Anchor Investor Price in accordance with the SEBI Regulations. At least one-third of the Anchor Investor Portion shall be available for allocation to Mutual Funds only. Allocation to Anchor Investors shall be on a discretionary basis subject to minimum number of two Anchor Investors. An Anchor Investor shall make a minimum Bid of such number of Equity Shares that the Bid Amount is at least Rs. 100 million. Further, Anchor Investors shall pay the Bid Amount at the time of submission of the Bid cum Application Form to the Book Running Lead Managers.

In the event of under-subscription or non-Allotment in the Anchor Investor Portion, the balance Equity Shares shall be added to the Net QIB Portion. 5% of the Net QIB Portion shall be available for allocation on a proportionate basis to Mutual Funds only. The remainder of the Net QIB Portion shall be available for allocation on a proportionate basis to QIBs, subject to valid Bids being received from them at or above the Issue Price. However, if the aggregate demand from Mutual Funds is less than [•] Equity Shares, the balance Equity Shares available for allocation in the Mutual Fund Portion will be added to the Net QIB Portion and allocated proportionately to the QIBs in proportion to their Bids.

Further, not less than 10% of the Issue shall be available for allocation on a proportionate basis to Non-Institutional Bidders and not less than 30% of the Issue shall be available for allocation on a proportionate basis to Retail Individual Bidders, subject to valid Bids being received from them at or above the Issue Price.

Any Bidder may participate in this Issue through the ASBA process by providing the details of their respective bank accounts in which the corresponding Bid Amounts will be blocked by SCSBs. For details in this regard, specific attention is invited to "Issue Procedure" on page 273.

In accordance with the SEBI Regulations, QIBs bidding in the Net QIB Portion are not allowed to withdraw their Bids after the Bid/Issue Closing Date. In addition, QIBs (including the Anchor Investors) bidding in the Net QIB Portion are required to pay the Bid Amount upon submission of their Bid and allocation to QIBs will be on a proportionate basis. For further details, see the sections titled "Terms of the Issue" and "Issue Procedure" on pages 266 and 273, respectively.

Illustration of Book Building Process and the Price Discovery Process

(Investors should note that the following is solely for the purpose of illustration and is not specific to this Issue)

Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assuming a price band of Rs. 20 to Rs. 24 per share, an issue size of 3,000 equity shares and receipt of five bids from bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. A graphical representation of the consolidated demand and price would be made available at the Bidding Centres during the bidding period. The illustrative book as shown below indicates the demand for the shares of the issuer company at various prices and is collated from bids from various investors.

| Bid Quantity | Bid Price (Rs.) | Cumulative Quantity | Subscription |
|--------------|-----------------|---------------------|--------------|
| 500 | 24 | 500 | 16.67% |
| 1,000 | 23 | 1,500 | 50.00% |
| 1,500 | 22 | 3,000 | 100.00% |
| 2,000 | 21 | 5,000 | 166.67% |
| 2,500 | 20 | 7,500 | 250.00% |

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the issuer is able to issue the desired number of shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., Rs. 22 in the above example. The issuer, in consultation with Book Running Lead Managers, will finalise the issue price at or below such cut-off, i.e., at or below Rs. 22. All bids at or above this issue price and cut-off bids are valid bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

Indian Telecommunications Market

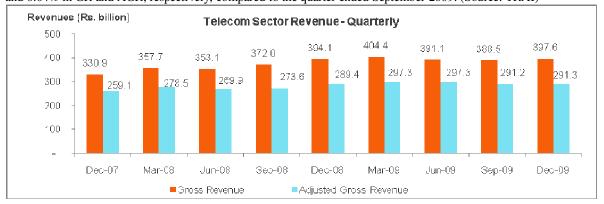

The Indian telecommunications industry is one of the fastest growing in the world and India is projected to become the second largest telecom market globally by 2010. (Source: India Brand Equity Foundation at www.ibef.org accessed on March 12, 2010; and Confederation of Indian Industry at www.cii.in accessed on May 14, 2010) According to the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India ("TRAI"), the number of telecom subscribers (wireless and wireline) in India increased to 621.28 million in March 2010 from 600.98 million in February 2010, thereby registering a growth rate of 3.38% during March 2010. With this increase the overall tele-density (telephones per 100 people) reached 52.74. India is currently adding eight to ten million mobile subscribers every month. (Source: India Brand Equity Foundation ("IBEF") at www.ibef.org accessed on March 12, 2010)

Despite growth in the number of subscribers, the Average Revenue Per User ("ARPU") and Minutes of Usage ("MOU") per month have declined for both GSM and CDMA operators since the last quarter of 2007 or first quarter of 2008, as the case may be. ARPU for GSM service declined from Rs. 164 in the quarter ended September 2009 to Rs. 144 in the quarter ended December 2009, a decrease of 12.20%. ARPU for CDMA service declined by 7.87% from Rs. 89 in the quarter ended September 2009 to Rs. 82 in the quarter ended December 2009.(Source: TRAI)

As of March 31, 2010, the top seven telecom service providers in India (Bharti, Reliance, Vodafone, BSNL, Tata, Idea and Aircel) held 97.04% share of the market.

It is expected that once the 3G spectrum becomes available in India, about 275 million Indian subscribers will use 3G-based services, and the number of 3G-enabled handsets will reach close to 395 million by the end of 2013. The target for the 11th Plan period (2007-12) is for there to be 600 million wireless subscribers in India by the end of the plan period with USD 73 billion invested in wireless services. Apart from basic wireless service, there is an enormous potential for various value-added services. (Source: India Brand Equity Foundation at www.ibef.org accessed on March 12, 2010)

Mobile Value Added Services ("VAS") - An Overview

Telecom networks enable two or more people to connect with one another in order to communicate verbally. Any additional service like SMS, mobile internet, music, mobile commerce or enterprise applications offered on telecom networks are value added services offered by value added service providers ("VAS Providers"). Telecom service providers (i.e. telecom providers) look to such value added services to enhance their revenues and differentiate their services in the market place.

Some popular types of value added services include SMS applications such as voting on favorite TV programmes (tele-voting), downloading ring tones or playing music when someone calls on a user's handset (i.e., caller ring back tones).

Consumers are increasingly using mobile phones for a variety of services beyond traditional communication (i.e., phone calls). Today consumers expect their mobile phones to deliver entertainment, information and access to their personal and/or enterprise data. Companies offering these services to consumers (either directly and/or in partnership with telecom service providers) are VAS Providers.

Value added services that can be delivered to a handset use most of the features available on a telecom network. Such features include the following:

- 6. A voice call (i.e., voice VAS);
- 7. An SMS that is received or sent, (i.e., SMS services);
- 8. Internet available on handsets through Wireless Application Protocol ("WAP"), namely WAP Services;
- Messages sent or received with multimedia content on a handset through Multimedia Messaging Service ("MMS"); and
- 10. Video call (only possible on 3G Network) to access stored or live video content.

In order to offer content services to the subscribers, a VAS Provider develops required technology, sources content (if required) and sets up a platform with a telecom service provider. The service provider creates a number (a short code like 53030) to which the subscribers either make calls or send SMSs to access services. For WAP services, subscribers access a mobile web site using a web address that is similar in manner to a desktop browser.

Telecom service providers charge the subscribers, who use value added services on pay per download, pay per call or on a monthly subscription basis, among others. VAS Providers receive a share of this revenue from the telecom service provider. The content providers get their revenue in the form of content fees or royalty either from the VAS providers or directly from the telecom service providers.

The VAS market has brought newer offerings like mobile based commerce services (e.g., bill payment, mobile shopping and mobile ticketing), social networking services like Facebook, Twitter on mobile and accessing/sharing video from mobile phones. VAS Providers also offer brand management and marketing campaigns to enterprises, which often includes mobile advertisements and tele-voting contests, among others.

Some additional value added services include managed services where a VAS Provider manages on behalf of telecom service providers systems delivering other value added services like SMS sending servers and Mobile Internet Gateways and self care platforms where consumers check their prepaid balance or find out about new recharge offers and services.

Some of the services that a network service provider uses for improving business efficiency, churn management, customer communication and customer lifecycle management are called network value added services.

VAS Market Segments

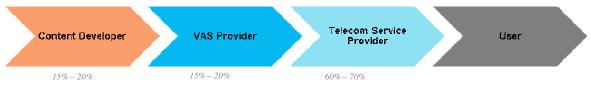

The VAS market can be segregated into two segments: Consumer VAS and Enterprise VAS. A thin line separates these segments due to the overlapping of products and services offered in each segment. Consumer VAS usually encompasses consumer-centric applications and services spanning entertainment and information applications like music, screen savers, games and news, among others. Various fee payment models have been developed for charging consumers for VAS. Moreover, revenues are shared by the various players across the value chain.

In respect of enterprise VAS, the focus is on providing enterprise-centric VAS and charging the enterprises for such services. These services span a number of areas such as marketing (e.g., mobile campaigns and mobile advertisements), mobile office applications, core business applications and unified communications. The objective is to use mobile channel effectively to enhance brand building activities and/or improve efficiencies of operations and communications for an enterprise.

Within enterprise VAS, VAS providers can provide specialized applications or services to telecom service providers, often with the purpose of enhancing the consumer (i.e., subscriber) experience on the network and/or improving the efficiency and profitability of the telecom service provider. This niche segment is called "Network VAS" and can be considered a special type of Enterprise VAS provided to telecom service providers.

The content provided by VAS providers is generated by them in-house, by individual end-user consumers and by content providers from whom VAS providers purchase distribution rights. The VAS provider acts as a facilitator for the provision of value added services by providing a technology platform, solutions and network components like Short Messaging Service Component ("SMSC"), WAP and Unstructured Supplementary Service Data ("USSD"), among others, and may act as a content aggregator.

The VAS providers generate revenues from various sources in return for the services provided by them. For consumer VAS, the consumers pay based on the content used. This revenue is often collected by the telecom service providers, which distribute a portion of the revenue collected to VAS providers under revenue sharing arrangements. VAS providers in turn share revenue with the content providers/aggregators. In certain cases, the content can be sold directly to consumers independently from the telecom service provider. For example, short code services exist where the consumer can download content and get charged by the VAS provider or content provider. The telecom service provider will levy basic access and service charges (i.e., standard call or SMS charges). A typical revenue sharing model for consumer VAS segment is depicted below:

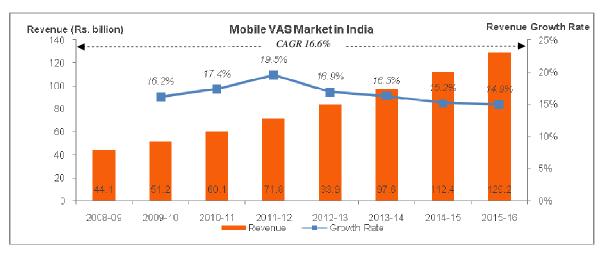

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Indian Mobile Value Added Services (VAS) Market, February 2010

The VAS market is highly fragmented with a large number of players that provide a variety of products and services from pure content/content-aggregation to technology platforms and solutions, managed services and network components. Declining voice tariffs are contributing to lower ARPU rates. As a result, telecom service providers in India are actively looking for growth in the non-voice, value-added services (VAS) market to offset declining voice tariffs. The VAS market participants that have been growing more prominent in the VAS market landscape are the ones that are introducing exciting applications and innovative offerings.

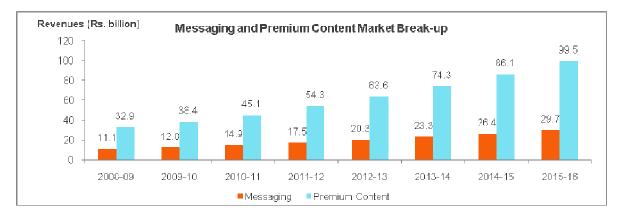

Mobile VAS Market

Mobile VAS market revenues in India constituted 5.4% of the total mobile services market revenues in fiscal 2009. It is expected to grow from Rs. 44.1 billion in fiscal 2009 to Rs. 129.2 billion in fiscal 2016 at a CAGR of 16.6%. With telecom service providers increasingly looking to grow mobile VAS offerings, it is anticipated that this market will experience strong growth, especially after the proliferation of 3G networks.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Indian Mobile Value Added Services (VAS) Market, February 2010

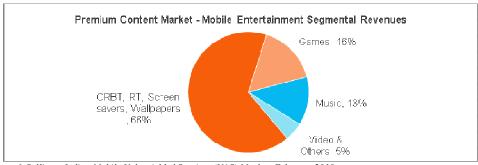

The mobile VAS market can be further divided into mobile messaging and premium content segments. The messaging market represented 25.3% of the overall VAS market in India in fiscal 2009. Due to the fact that most content-based services rely on SMS, the messaging market is expected to grow steadily in the future. Revenues generated from messaging services are very low, contributing only 1.4% of the overall mobile services market revenue in fiscal 2009. Application-to-Peer ("A2P") type SMS is typically used by enterprises wishing to send information to their clients. Reasons for using A2P range from information retrieval, alerts and reminders to marketing and sales-related activities.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Indian Mobile Value Added Services (VAS) Market, February 2010

The premium content market comprises of mobile infotainment and other premium content like mobile commerce, mobile banking and mobile enterprise applications. The mobile entertainment segment includes the chargeable entertainment-related mobile premium content such as ringtones, screensavers, wallpapers, icons, music and video. This market has been thus far limited because of stakeholders' narrow focus on the youth segment to generate revenues. Ringtones are the most popular content type followed by icons, music, video and games. Music downloads and Java based games have been increasing in popularity. The majority of the mobile consumers still prefer low-end handsets, which do not support data-intensive traffic such as music, video and multi-player games. This is one of the main reasons for the comparatively limited revenues resulting from the entertainment segment. However, segments such as music and video are expected to grow at a faster pace with the onset of high-speed data networks such as 3G and the availability of moderately priced handsets with advanced capabilities. Full track music downloads are anticipated to be key growth drivers in the mobile music segment. The mobile games market is also expected to grow at a steady pace due to the presence of a huge replacement market in India and increasing penetration of GPRS-enabled handsets.

Growth Drivers:

- 7. India is one of the fastest growing telecom markets globally;
- 8. VAS potential as an ARPU enabler;
- 9. Increased availability of affordable multifunction handsets with enhanced capabilities;
- 10. A need for telecom service providers to differentiate themselves based on key VAS offerings;
- 11. High speed networks like 3G and WIMAX likely to drive adoption of VAS; and
- 12. The telecom market still has significant potential for growth, especially among rural population.

Market Restraints:

- 5. Lack of advanced infrastructure such as high-speed networks to facilitate VAS offering to consumers;
- 6. Availability of alternate channels to procure content such as internet;
- 7. Security-related issues; and
- 8. Restricted use of enterprise VAS in the enterprise.

Network VAS Market

A network VAS provider works with telecom service providers and delivers enhancements necessary for selling value added services, offering customer communication, self care and managing the VAS technology platforms. The scope of work for network VAS include (but is not limited to) enabling easy access to information (details about the value added service, usage charges and various features available for that service) and providing a method for starting and stopping the service.

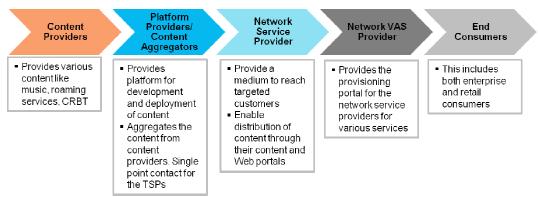

A network VAS provider offers customer communication through outbound dialing (a machine generated call using Interactive Voice Response System) or outbound SMS and uses subscribers' network usage data to deliver the best offer to each consumer. The system is also used by telecom service providers to offer similar information and special deals for their prepaid or post paid plans to consumers. The network VAS provider also offers self care, mostly through inbound dialing, which is a toll free information helpline with details of services available on the network.

Telecom service providers offer subscribers the opportunity to customize and personalize calls made on the network, which forms part of call management services. For example, when a subscriber makes a phone call and before the second party's phone starts ringing, the network can play some information, content or alert with relevant information (based on the calling subscriber's preferences). This is a pre-call announcement service. In case a subscriber misses a call while he or she is out of network or switched off, an SMS is sent as a missed call alert providing information about the caller and call attempt time. A pre call USSD message can be sent to the subscriber to alert him about a pre-paid service and likewise a post call USSD message can be sent to display the remaining pre-paid balance or the call charges. USSD strings (which are short phone numbers such as *123#) can be sent by a subscriber to inquire about various details regarding his account (e.g., charges, pre paid balance and bill amount, among others).

These services can be revenue generating (e.g., CRBT and missed call alert) or purely cost-based (pre and post call USSD message).

The Network VAS value chain is depicted below:

The Network VAS market is expected to grow from Rs. 1,345 million in fiscal 2010 to Rs. 2,236 million in fiscal 2012 at a CAGR of 29.0%.

Customer communications comprises of outbound and inbound communication. In outbound communication, outbound dialing ("OBD") refers to calls or SMSs ("Outbound SMS") generated on the telecom service provider's end. Bulk SMS, promotional calls/messages and grace calling are a part of this segment. Inbound communication refers to inbound dialing ("IBD"), which includes the customer care or toll free self care number services available to customers. Inbound SMS is not included under this category.

65-75% of OBD traffic is for VAS based services, of which CRBT forms a major portion. The telecom service providers typically pay the VAS providers on a per call/SMS or per port basis (i.e., based on the capacity of VAS provider deployed servers to handle concurrent calls). About 10-15% of this revenue flows to the content developer depending on the content.

65-70% of IBD traffic is for customer care and self service and 20-25% of traffic is for toll free numbers available for responding to promotional messages. The telecom service providers pay VAS providers predominantly on per pulse (minute) basis. The content/application is purchased from a developer typically with a one-time payment. Annual maintenance may be payable to the developer for future periods.

OBD generates more revenue than IBD due to high traffic volume and higher revenue per call. Traffic volume for IBD is much lower than OBD traffic and contributes only 23.3% of overall network VAS market revenue.

The traffic forecast for outbound calling and inbound calling are as shown in the graph below:

Market Drivers:

- Innovative content driving the growth of VAS and in turn the need for promotional services;
- Telecom service provider's need to improve customer services in order to increase user retention;
- Telecom service provider's focus on increasing consumers' awareness of mobile VAS; and
- Robust growth in mobile subscriber base.

Market Restraints

- Subscriber growth is mostly expected from rural regions, some of which lack English knowledge and familiarity with SMS. Lack of local language IVR and content make it difficult to target this segment effectively;
- Stricter regulation expected with respect to spam and unwanted calling. More users opting for Do Not Disturb ("DND") services; and
- Increasing adoption of multiple subscriber identification modules (i.e., sim cards) by the subscribers, which reduces the percentage of successful calling and conversion.

Market Trends:

• Discovery of content (e.g., selection of songs for CRBT), rather than usage of content itself, was traditionally a major source of revenue. However, the trend has changed towards making content discovery free while promoting increased usage of content. This shift has helped to increase traffic of various network VAS (calls to toll free numbers, outbound calls and SMS for CRBT services, among others);

- In the current competitive environment, management and retention of subscribers has gained importance. Customer care and self care services have experienced increased focus from telecom service providers;
- CRBT traffic contributes the largest portion of network VAS traffic. The trend is expected to continue due to the popularity of this service across all categories of subscribers;
- USSD alerts (post and pre call alerts) have potential to be commercialized as a marketing tool. These alerts are currently used for internal product promotion; and
- Constant technological innovation and assured quality are expected to result in an exponential growth rate for the VAS market. This would in turn translate into high growth of network VAS market.

Mobile Advertising Market in India

Indian mobile advertising market is in the early stages of development and has very high growth potential. Market participants have realized the benefits and potential of this medium, and they have taken measures to increase the awareness of these benefits and potential. Mobile advertising is likely to experience exponential growth in India driven by an awareness of the benefits and potential of this medium, evolving technology, new business models and collaborative push by all market participants. According to Frost & Sullivan's estimates, the mobile advertising market in India is expected to grow from Rs. 0.5 billion in fiscal 2009 to Rs. 12.7 billion in fiscal 2016 at a CAGR of 58.1%.

SMS-based mobile advertising

SMS-based mobile advertising dominates the mobile advertising market with a share of over 80%. Participants are experimenting with different business models and delivery systems to realize the full potential of this medium. The personalization allowed by SMS based advertising, which results in a more efficient advertising campaign, is a reason for the high return on investment achieved through SMS-based advertising. SMS based advertising can be categorized as follows:

Bulk SMS/SMS Blast:

- This is the oldest form of mobile advertising. Typically, a content aggregator buys a bulk deal from a network service provider and adds its own margins, which are usually 10-12%. The margins have decreased considerably with the maturity of this form of advertising; and
- In some arrangements, an advertising agency directly approaches telecom service providers. In such cases, revenue is distributed 15% to the advertising agency, 12-15% to the content aggregator and the remainder to the telecom service provider.

Targeted SMS:

- Participants create their own databases through a mix of various media;
- Revenue sharing varies from campaign to campaign;
- Subscriber spending through mobile phone that can be tracked by the telecom service provider is 2-3% of the subscriber's total spending. As subscriber spending through the mobile phone is very low, it is difficult to accurately profile a subscriber's preferences and target the appropriate advertisement to him/her; and
- Location-based advertising using Bluetooth and Wi-Fi also falls into this category.

Short Code:

- The entertainment industry, especially television shows, has generated huge profits through this medium;
- Out of the cost of Rs. 3 per short-code message, network service provider retains 85-90%. However, if an SMS costs Rs. 10, a telecom service provider is likely to retain 40-50%. Thus, the sharing model depends on the cost of message and volume of messages generated.

Internet-based mobile advertising

Internet-based mobile advertising is expected to gain prominence with the roll out of 3G in India. This will also help in increasing the share of rich content-based advertisement, which is considered more effective. Internet based advertisement happens mostly through two routes:

- 1. On-deck advertising: This is controlled by the telecom service provider; and
- 2. Off-deck advertising: Telecom service providers have no control. Yahoo, MSN and Google are penetrating aggressively into this area. The competition is high and prices have declined by 70-80% in 2009.

Targeted advertising

Targeted advertising is advertising that targets individuals based on user gender, age, location or other characteristics. There is high potential for the growth of this medium. On-deck advertisement is most effective for such targeted campaign. The simpler design of wireless application protocol ("WAP") sites, when compared to internet sites, makes it more effective for users to notice and respond to advertisements. However, compatibility with mobile handsets and slow download capability has to be addressed to fully realize the potential of this medium. Only 3% of internet traffic constitutes direct mobile advertising. This clearly shows that a large portion of internet-based advertising takes place through other media such as e-mail and social networking sites.

Voice-based advertising

Voice-based advertising is expected to experience the highest growth of any segment of the mobile advertising market in India due to its ability to effectively reach all segments of society. The preference for low-end handsets in India, high download time due to network congestion (which restrains WAP-based advertising) and low awareness/literacy rate (which restrains SMS-based advertising) are likely to make voice-based advertising very attractive in the near future. Language barriers and lack of local language content in other media are also expected to help the growth of voice-based advertising. Voice-based advertising is compatible on all handsets and has low download time.

Telecom service providers are working hard to promote on-deck advertising. However, they find it increasingly difficult to do so, as this requires a paradigm shift in their business model. Reliable customer data, to which a psychographic profile should be matched for advertisement targeting, is hard to collect in the pre-paid-dominated, high-churn rate market such as India. Competitive advantage will be gained in building accurate customer profiles and building a large customer base. Due to diverse mobile handset operating systems and device characteristics, rendering of the advertisement to ensure a common look or branding experience is challenging.

Growth Drivers:

- 1. Need for personalization of advertisement;
- 2. Certainty to reach user unlike other forms of advertising;
- Advertiser's need to find the effective delivery channel and differentiate the manner in which message is delivered;
- 4. A larger targetable audience than is available through other media;
- 5. Better resource utilization in comparison to TV or radio;
- 6. Faster delivery of message;
- 7. Need of telecom service providers to maximize investment by changing the business model from mere network provider to controller of advertising media;
- 8. Planned roll out of 3G in India enabling content-rich advertising, which is more effective in capturing end consumers' imagination; and

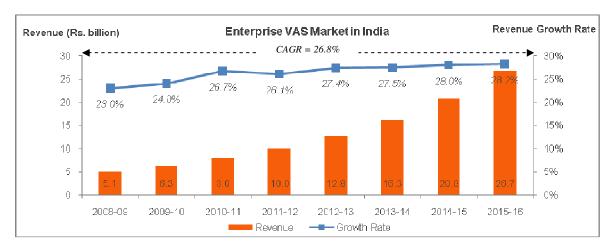

9. Better profiling of customers.

Market Restraints:

- 1. Lack of good business models;
- 2. Intrusion into consumer's privacy;
- 3. Revenue-sharing issues among various participants in the value chain;
- 4. Advertiser skepticism about a market still maturing;
- 5. Advertisers'/brand owners' lack of familiarity with voice based advertising media; and
- 6. Slow transition from "SMS blast" to "targeted advertisement".

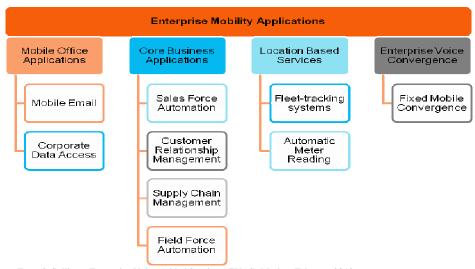

Enterprise VAS Market

Enterprise Value Added Services ("EVAS") market is currently at a very early stage of development. Frost & Sullivan estimates that EVAS currently contributes 7.5% of total enterprise mobile revenue. The size of the EVAS market in India is estimated at Rs. 5.1 billion. It is expected to growth at CAGR of 26.8% to reach Rs. 26.7 billion by fiscal 2016.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Enterprise Value Added Services (EVAS) Market, February 2010

EVAS can be segmented into enterprise mobility and other enterprise value added services such as call center solution and SMS based solution other than bulk SMS. The enterprise mobility market is broadly divided into mobile office applications and core business applications, such as supply chain management, location-based services and enterprise voice convergence.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Enterprise Value Added Services (EVAS) Market, February 2010

Mobile Office Applications

Mobile office applications enable access to office-related data through smart phones. Mobile e-mail includes GPRS-based push e-mail services. It also provides the ability to access and manage e-mail from enterprise e-mail servers with either a pull or push option. Corporate data access solutions, another type of mobile office application, enable designated people to access the appropriate corporate information in a secure manner.

The majority of enterprise mobility revenue is generated from mobile office applications, such as push e-mail services, a market dominated by Research In Motion Limited's ("RIM") Blackberry.

Core Business Applications

Core business applications enable execution of business processes through mobile handsets in order to increase efficiency and improve speed of information flow. Using Sales Force Automation ("SFA"), enterprises can empower their field associates and ensure a flow of information in real-time over their networks to connected mobile devices. Customer Relationship Management ("CRM") includes applications that enable viewing and updating critical customer, sales and service information in real time, directly from a smart phone to the corporate CRM system. CRM also makes possible on-the-go management of customers, leads, sales opportunities, service cases and document repositories. Supply Chain Management applications include mobile dispatch, mobile order tracking package tracking, instant messaging, on-the-spot mobile printers, exception alerts, virtual real-time vehicle tracking and integration to various data collection devices (e.g., barcode, radiofrequency identification and electronic signatures). Field Force Automation ("FFA") enables timely communication and coordination, both inbound and outbound, to the field that are critical. It enables workflow processes, service scheduling, status reporting and remote data entry.

Core business applications such as SFA and CRM are largely application service provider-driven markets where the telecom service provider's revenues are restricted to data revenues from downloads and uploads.

Location Based Services

Location based services like tracking systems offer enterprises the ability to identify and track locations, goods and services in the form of directions or maps and GPS coordination. It also provides them with location-based time cards, which give the duration of stay of an employee at a particular location. These services are used in fleet management and vehicle location services as well as in environments that have mobile equipment. Automatic meter reading solutions enable remote entities such as meter devices to be tracked or monitored without needing human supervision. It therefore facilitates further study and analysis of captured data.

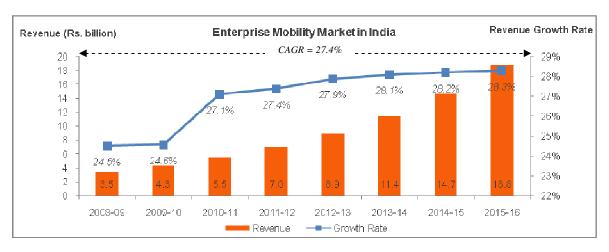

However, this segment is yet to take off due to poor provision of content and the low quality of maps, which do not have a complete coverage of roads. Higher growth is expected once content development improves.

Enterprise Voice Convergence

Enterprise voice convergence is the concept of a single device that combines the functionality of a traditional landline (wireline) phone with a cell phone (i.e., fixed mobile convergence ("FMC")). FMC helps employees to be connected to an enterprise within and beyond the workplace.

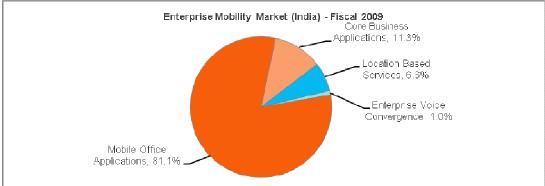

Enterprise voice convergence is a sector where much growth is not expected in India. This technology is usually required when high wireless spectrum costs make fixed lines a lot less expensive. The availability of wireless spectrum at very low rates nearly eliminates the need for this technology.

The enterprise mobility market in India is expected to grow from Rs. 3.5 billion in fiscal 2009 to Rs. 18.8 billion in fiscal 2016 at a CAGR of 27.4%.

Source: Frost & Sullivan, Enterprise Value Added Services (EVAS) Market, February 2010

Mobile office applications make up the majority of the enterprise mobility market, constituting 81.1% of such market, due in large part to the popularity of RIM Blackberry's e-mail platform. Core business applications, such as SFA and CRM, are the second biggest generator of revenue within the enterprise mobility market. The key mobile SFA applications in demand include lead management, account management, contact management, customer records, customer purchase history and planning applications. Enterprises in India are yet to adopt enterprise voice convergence applications, such as FMC, in a significant manner. Regulatory issues surrounding the use of the applications further dampen interest in these applications.

Third Generation (3G) Services

The Government of India is expected to complete the 3G spectrum auction in 2010. 3G-based services include wireless telephone access in large areas, video calls and wireless data, all in a mobile environment. 3G allows simultaneous use of speech and data services and higher data rates than 2G and 2.5G services.

Mobile video is expected to grow in popularity with proliferation of 3G-based high-speed networks. 3G-based VAS is expected to contribute significantly to the VAS revenues with more content being created by the VAS content generators/aggregators to take advantage of the benefits of the 3G spectrum. It is expected that once the 3G spectrum becomes available in India, about 275 million Indian subscribers will use 3G-based services, and the number of 3G-enabled handsets will reach close to 395 million by the end of 2013. OUR BUSINESS

Overview

We are a leading provider of telecommunications value added services to telecom service providers, consumers and enterprises in India. We offer products and services to meet the needs of (1) telecom service providers, (2) consumers (i.e., mobile phone users) and (3) enterprises. We develop and purchase content and applications, provide the relevant platform for delivery of our products and services and integrate these products and services with the core network elements of telecom service providers.

Our applications can be deployed on any telecom network and accessed from most mobile handsets. We utilise interactive voice response ("IVR") system or voice, Short Message Services ("SMS"), Unstructured Supplementary Services Data ("USSD") and Wireless Application Protocol ("WAP") technology to deliver our products and services.

Network Services

The focus of our network services is to assist telecom service providers in enhancing network efficiency and improving their revenues and profitability by delivering innovative solutions that enhance their subscribers' experiences. Our network services include providing network components such as Short Message Service Centres ("SMSC"), which facilitate the accurate delivery of SMS messages to their intended destinations, USSD gateways, which enable a subscriber to obtain information (e.g., sports results, stock quotes and the amount of unused prepaid balance on a SIM card) and call management systems such as pre-call announcements, call forwarding and call block services.

We also provide customer lifecycle management services that are aimed at increasing average revenue per user ("ARPU"), including self-care portals, service provisioning portals, loyalty programs and customer churn management services. Our services such as toll-free infolines, customer communication tools through outbound diallers, tagged-SMS, missed-call back services and USSD inserts further enable our telecom service provider customers to enhance their subscribers' experiences while using their respective networks.

Our Subsidiary Oorja Mobile Services Private Limited ("Oorja") provides focused marketing solutions to telecom service providers. It has developed an analytics driven comprehensive customer communications platform. These solutions enable telecom service providers to target customers with particular services, products and promotions based on profiling of customers using network footprints and voluntary customer profiles. This platform enables telecom service providers to offer targeted mobile advertising services to enterprises wishing to place advertisements through their respective networks.

We provide network services to eight telecom service providers in India one telecom service provider in Afghanistan, one in Nigeria and one in Bangladesh. We earn revenue from providing these services to networks on a per transaction basis, on a periodic, per port fee basis or revenue share basis. For further details on these services, see "- Our Principal Products and Services – Network Services" on page 96.

Consumer Services (Services for mobile phone users)

We offer a broad range of mobile content, applications and commerce services to consumers (i.e., mobile phone users), for which we earn revenue either directly from consumers or through revenue sharing arrangements with telecom service providers. Our content and applications include music browsing, ring-tone downloads, caller ring-back tone downloads, content alerts, contests and chat and messaging applications that are delivered to consumers via voice, SMS and WAP. The content offered by us is generated in-house or by content providers from whom we have purchased distribution rights for particular content.

One of our consumer applications is a mobile phone security and data backup service called WaveSecure, which enables mobile phone subscribers to protect their handsets and personal data against misuse in the event that their handsets are lost or stolen. A second consumer application of ours is a social networking site for mobile phones called Oc2ps, which enables subscribers to post photos, videos and updates onto the site as well as to other social networking websites at the same time and get updates from contacts on our site and other social networks, all with one mobile interface and one sign in.

Our content and applications are deliverable to the subscribers of 11 telecom service providers in India. As on February 28, 2010, we had approximately 9.87 million subscribers for our consumer services. Depending on the content or application, we sell our consumer services on a subscription basis and/or per transaction basis. Consumers who use our services are charged by their network providers who then pay us an agreed percentage under a revenue sharing arrangement. We are in the process of rolling out a website and an Interactive Voice Response ("IVR") mechanism that will enable consumers to also pay us directly for our consumer services.

We provide commerce services through PayTM, or "Pay Through Mobile", our mobile commerce platform for consumers and enterprises. PayTM enables mobile phone users to make payments through their mobile phones in a secure and easy manner over voice, SMS, WAP, websites and on-device applications using credit cards, debit cards, pre-paid cash cards, net banking and third party payment gateway providers such as PayPal. PayTM allows consumers to undertake a variety of transactions, including mobile prepaid recharges, direct-to-home television ("DTH") recharges, mobile ticketing, bill payments and mobile shopping. We generate revenue from providing PayTM services on a per transaction basis.

In most instances our consumer services provide a source of additional revenue to telecom service providers without any additional capital expenditure on their part.

Enterprise Services

We use telecom networks as media to assist enterprises with customer communication, self-care solutions and brand services. Our SMS outbound campaign service and very interactive out diallers ("VIO") allow for outbound communication with customers, enterprise messaging, brand communication and advertising. Our voice portals and SMS pull services on 53030 SMS short code enable enterprises to make self care services available to customers. We also develop WAP sites for enterprises and offer them mobile payment gateways (i.e., PayTM). For further details on these services, see "- Our Principal Products and Services – Enterprise Services" on page 100.

Our Company was founded in 2000 by Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, the Company's Managing Director and Promoter. The Company was awarded The Emerging Company of the Year at Voice & Data's Telecom Awards 2009. Further, in 2009 Deloitte, as part of its Deloitte Technology Fast 50 India program, recognized our Company as the 10th fastest growing technology company in India based on our percentage revenue growth.

Our consolidated total income was Rs. 407.71 million for the year ended March 31 2008, Rs. 813.97 million for the year ended March 31, 2009 and Rs. 867.45 million for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009. Our consolidated net profit as per our Restated Consolidated Summary Statements was Rs. 44.58 million for the year ended March 31, 2008, Rs. 21.37 million for the year ended March 31, 2009 and Rs. 124.18 million for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009.

Our Competitive Strengths

We believe that our key competitive strengths include the following:

Access to a significant number of mobile phone users in India

We provide services to 11 telecom service providers in India. Our arrangements with these telecom service providers gives us access to a significant number of mobile phone users in India.

Long-standing relationships with telecom service providers, which create technological and time-to-market barriers to entry for new entrants

We have long-standing relationships with many of our network customers through which we provide our consumer services. Our customer contracts for consumer services generally take the form of master contracts that allow us to add new products and services rapidly with essentially the same terms and conditions as the master contract. Since our inception in December 2000, we have not lost any major customers. We have been able to hold onto our customers because of our development of innovative revenue generating products and joint product planning and service deployments with our customers, thereby making us integral to our customers' growth plans.

Furthermore, service deployments with our major network customers involve complex hardware systems and software applications deeply embedded within the network's infrastructure and integrated into the network's billing, provisioning, service management, customer care and other core systems. In order to manage, maintain and operate the software applications provided to our customers and integrate them into our joint product planning and new service deployment processes, we maintain a high level of interaction and close working relationships with each of our telecom service provider customers. This minimizes the complexities involved in deploying and marketing new services, which gives us an advantage over our competitors in the development, testing and commercialisation of innovative new mobile solutions and products by reducing the time-to-market for new product introductions as the new products, content and updates can be easily launched through our existing infrastructure. As such, technological and time-to-market barriers to entry for new entrants exist.

Strong culture of innovation with a deep understanding of consumers preferences and a proven track record of bringing innovative solutions to market

We believe that we were the first company in India in the telecommunications value added services industry to introduce the revenue share model whereby we receive a fixed percentage of the net revenue generated by our consumer services. We also believe that we were the first company in India to introduce a business model whereby (i) we provide the hardware, software and rights that facilitate a telecom service provider's use our platform and (ii) the telecom service providers pay us on a per transaction basis or on the basis of revenue generated from such hardware, software and rights. This business model relieves our telecom service provider customers of the need to incur any capital expenditure in order for them to provide our services to their subscribers. Freed of this burden, our telecom service provider customers have more flexibility in planning their capital expenditure and are able to focus on marketing to gain new subscribers. We believe that these business models make us an attractive service provider to network service provides.

Moreover, we have a proven track record of creating, developing and successfully launching innovative product applications such as Ringtone ka Maharaja (a unique portal for downloading music ringtones) and pre-call insert service through which a voice message is played before a call is connected. This pre-call service led to Oorja being one of a small group of finalists for a NASSCOM Innovation Award in 2009. We believe that with our track record, accumulated market experience, technical capabilities and operational expertise, we are well positioned to serve as an integrated solutions provider for our customers who want to rapidly and cost-effectively provide a broad range of telecommunications value added services to their subscribers.

As our product portfolio and end user base expands, we benefit from increased market understanding, which enables us to analyse purchasing and usage behaviour, develop products which match consumer preferences and cross-sell services to the consumers we reach. In addition, we have invested and will continue to invest resources in research and development in order to keep creating new applications and solutions and to upgrade or improve our existing ones. We believe that the research and development experience and knowledge base that we have developed over the years will enable us to continue delivering innovative services in the area of new and enabling technologies and keep us at the forefront of developments in our industry. The technical expertise of our research and development team allows us to offer and customize tailored products and services to our customers in very short timeframes with advanced software features.

We draw significant benefits from our scale of operations and breadth of products

Our business exhibits significant economies of scale in the areas of software development manpower costs, hardware and software purchasing, centralised operations support staff, content purchasing and infrastructure purchasing and deployment. We use the same platform for our network services and consumer services, which enables us to extract value from cross-selling services, data mining, cost sharing, re-use of software code, sharing of system resources and databases and other similar synergies. It allows our customers to offer a wide range of similar user interface services to their subscribers, resulting in ease of market adoption, faster revenue results, and higher consumer satisfaction. We continuously work on feature enhancements and inter-linkages between our products to generate new products in a cost efficient manner. We believe that such synergies are not available to many of our single-product competitors.

Diversified income base, which reduces our reliance on any one market, telecom service provider, product or service

Our revenue from network services, consumer services and enterprise services comprised 53.52%, 35.65% and 10.82%, respectively, of our operating income for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009. We offer several product lines to each of the network services, consumer services and enterprise services markets. Moreover, during the nine month period ended December 31, 2009, no single telecom service provider accounted for more than 27% of our total income on a consolidated basis.

Our Strategy

Our goal is to be the preferred provider of telecommunications value added products, services and solutions to telecom service providers, consumers and enterprises. We intend to achieve this goal through the following strategies:

Build on our network services experience and capabilities to continue to offer innovative services and products

Our network services business account for the largest portion of our operating income, comprising 53.52% of our operating income on a consolidated basis for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009, and we believe that in terms of revenue we are one of the largest companies offering network services to telecom service providers in India. Network services has become an integral part of our business and as such we hope to continue to grow this business. Our aim in offering network services is to enable network service providers in India to enhance consumers' network experiences and to enable them to manage and monitor subscribers' needs using lifecycle management services. We have sought to develop innovative products and services that enable network service providers to enhance usage of their core offerings (i.e., voice minutes, subscriber trunk dialling, international subscriber dialling minutes and SMSs). Going forward, we intend to build on the experience and capabilities that we developed in respect of network services to develop new products and services on an ongoing basis that appeal to consumers and further enhance their network experience while minimizing the cost of offering such products and services for our telecom service provider customers.

Develop our relationships with our telecom service provider customers in a way that will lead to collaborative efforts to develop ideas for new products and services

We have developed relationships with 11 telecom service providers in India. In order to manage, maintain and operate the software applications provided to our customers and integrate them into our joint product planning and new service deployment processes, we maintain a high level of interaction and close working relationships with each of our telecom service provider customers. Going forward, we intend to develop our relationships with our telecom service provider customers in a way that will lead to collaborative efforts to develop ideas for new products and services. Moreover, we will seek to parlay our relationship with telecom service providers into relationships with their corporate clients with the aim of offering our enterprise services to such corporate clients. Our plan is to enter into strategic alliances with telecom service providers to provide enterprise services to their corporate clients.

Continue to develop innovative consumer products and services that facilitate the use of mobile handsets for media consumption, commerce and messaging

We strive to develop innovative consumer services and products that address the possibilities that have arisen given the emergence of the mobile handset as a tool for media consumption (e.g., the mobile phone having become a means for listening to music, watching television and reading the news), commerce and messaging. We have delivered products and services that facilitate the use of mobile handsets in these manners and will continue to explore opportunities to develop products and services that allow the use of mobile handsets in these ways. Currently we use SMS, mobile internet and USSD interaction to offer consumers services on their handsets. We plan to expand the channels we use to offer consumer services to include video services and other services that are more compatible with 3G networks.

In addition, various core network components like SMS messaging are out of step with evolving consumer requirements. We have delivered innovative messaging products that address such issues. Going forward, core telecom services will require much more consumer savvy product development. We believe that our focus on consumer savvy product development will result in service offerings that maximize consumers' mobile handset experiences.

Focus on offering enterprise services to enterprises in particular industries

We intend to focus on providing enterprise services to enterprises in particular industries, including banking, financial services and insurance, consumer services, fast moving consumer goods and consumer electronics. We intend to develop sector specific solutions for our existing and future enterprise customers. We believe that our ability to leverage our network services experience so as to be able to offer enterprise customers telco grade services will appeal to the enterprises that we target. We also believe that the fact that we offer most enterprise services in a manner that would not require them to undertake significant capital expenditure to commence using our enterprise services and the fact that many of our enterprise services are offered on a per transaction basis will be appealing to them.

Continue to move towards business models that provide more certainty of profits

We believe that our business model whereby (i) we provide the hardware, software and rights that facilitate a telecom service provider's use our platform and (ii) the telecom service providers pay us on a per transaction basis or on the basis of revenue generated from such hardware, software and rights results in a unique advantage for us. We believe that we are a more attractive option as a provider of network services because this business model frees network service providers of the need to incur any capital expenditure in order for them to provide our services to their subscribers. We believe that a business model that makes us a more attractive provider of network services will contribute to growth in revenue from our network services business. As such, we intend to use this business model as the primary model for our relationships with network service providers in the future.

With respect to our consumer services business, we intend to focus on increasing subscription based services rather than focusing on offering services on a per-transaction basis. Subscription-based services provide us with more certainty of steady revenue compared with services provided on a per-transaction basis. Long-term we intend to move towards a revenue model that functions on a pay-per-session basis and a revenue model whereby advertisers underwrite the cost of offering services.

With respect to our enterprise services business, we intend to move from a revenue model based on pertransaction fees to a revenue model whereby revenue is generated from per-transaction fees and a service charge. We are also working towards creating a hosted-solutions services based business model whereby we offer enterprise services to enterprises through strategic alliances with network service provider customers, which would provide us access to a large number of our network service providers' existing customers. Further, a hosted-solutions based business model would entail the network service providers bundling our services with their own service offerings. The bundling of services would make it less likely that the network service providers would discontinue offering our services to enterprises that are receiving services through a hostedsolutions based business model.

Expand our international presence

We currently operate in India, Bangladesh, Afghanistan and Nigeria. We intend to expand our geographic presence by leveraging our expertise and track record in offering products that address the needs of international networks and their subscribers as well as enterprises outside India. We initially intend to look to expand in markets that we believe are similar to India such as South East Asia, Africa and a few pre-paid minutes dominated European markets. We also intend to leverage our relationships with Indian networks so as to sell our network services and consumer services to their associated networks outside India. We may also acquire companies to expand our presence internationally.

Pursue selective strategic acquisitions and investments

We continually seek new growth and acquisition opportunities in our existing line of business as well as related businesses to expand our geographic presence, service offerings, network relationships and technological expertise, including investment in or acquisition of minority or majority stakes in companies which support our business. By selecting the opportunities for growth and acquisition carefully and leveraging our transactional, project execution and operational skills, we expect to continue to expand our business. For example, in December 2009, we acquired a 21.28% ownership interest in TenCube Pte Ltd. ("TenCube"), which developed WaveSecure, the mobile phone security and data back-up application service that we sell. In February 2008, we acquired a 54.99% ownership interest in Oorja, our Subsidiary that provides mobile marketing services to telecom service providers.

Our Principal Products and Services

Network Services

In light of the intense competition among Indian telecom service providers to retain customers, we provide a number of products and services to telecom service providers to assist them in delivering innovative solutions that enhance their subscribers' experiences while using their respective networks. We collaborate closely with a number of telecom service providers to improve their revenues, efficiencies and profitability. Our network services include: (1) providing network components such as SMSCs and USSD Gateways; (2) customer lifecycle management services that are aimed at increasing ARPU; and (3) marketing services.

Network Components

- SMSCs. An SMSC provides a software interface that enables the sending and receiving of SMSs to and from any subscriber in a network or across networks. Applications are also provided to facilitate instant messaging, messaging firewalls, Twitter feeds, location service, bulk push on SMS interface and premium SMS services.
- USSD Gateways: A USSD gateway provides an interface to establish a USSD session with a subscriber.
 Applications are also provided to facilitate instant messaging, balance enquiries, self-care portals, Twitter feeds and location service on a USSD interface.
- Call Management Services. Call management services consist of providing network service providers with the capability to offer subscribers customized call features such as call diversion (i.e., the ability to divert an incoming call to another number), special ringtones for particular callers, call hold and call waiting (i.e., the ability to receive or make another call while already on a call without disconnecting the first call), caller ID and music on hold and in-queue music (i.e., music played while a caller is on hold or waiting for his or her call to be answered), among others. The flexibility offered by our call management services help telecom service providers control their subscribers' experience and communications efficiently and effectively and allow them to offer more relevant communication options. Our call management system also offers advanced reporting capabilities to analyze and derive usage trends.

We provide network component services to four telecom service providers in India. We offer such services on a one-time basis, per transaction basis, period fee basis, per subscriber management basis or combination of those bases.

Customer Lifecycle Management Services

We offer customer lifecycle management services to telecom service providers that are aimed at increasing ARPU, including:

- best offer and product communication portals with segmented offerings, product information and subscription options;
- toll free value added services infolines with information on content and applications along with online charging and provisioning;
- missed call back services for marketing campaigns;
- instant alerts that enable out diallers to send promotional messages to handsets as soon as a customer switches on his handset;
- special tariff voucher up-sell services;
- loyalty programs; and
- churn management services, including identification of customers who are more likely to churn.

We provide customer lifecycle management services to eight telecom service providers in India and a telecom service provider in Bangladesh. We earn revenue from providing customer lifecycle management services on a per transaction basis or on monthly fee per port basis.

Marketing Services

We provide marketing services to telecom service providers through our Subsidiary Oorja. Oorja has developed an intelligent customer interaction engine that analyses data from customers of a network so as to enable a network to market to its customers via handsets based on intelligent profiling rather than on a push basis. We have provided this service to one telecom service provider in India. We earn revenue from marketing services on a per transaction basis.

Contracts for Network Services

Most of our contracts for network services are typically master contracts that allow our new products and services to be quickly deployed under the contracts' existing terms and conditions by using an addendum or an amendment, without the need to enter into and negotiate a new contract.

Under most of our contracts for network services, we have, among other things, agreed to indemnify our telecom service provider customers against loss or damage arising from our breach of contract, actions brought against the network by a third party for infringement of intellectual property rights and any matter relating to services performed under the network services contract or performance by us of obligations under such contract. However, under some of those contracts, the indemnification obligation extends to all remote and consequential losses and damages, whether foreseeable or not. Further, our liabilities for such losses are unlimited under the terms of the relevant contracts. For further details, see "Risk Factors – Under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers, our indemnification obligations extend to all remote and consequential losses and damages" on page 9.

Our contracts for network services are typically on a non-exclusive basis. While some of our contracts have terms varying between one to three years, others are typically valid until termination. Our network contracts also allow either party to terminate the contract for specific reasons, including for a breach of a material term or condition that is not rectified within a specified cure period. Either party is also allowed to terminate the contract without cause by giving written notice. For further details, see "Risk Factors – Most of telecom service provider contracts for consumer services are non-exclusive, which could result in circumstances that could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition." and "Risk Factors – Many of our contracts are fixed term contracts of short duration and are not subject to automatic renewal. If we are unable to renew or extend our contacts with our existing telecom service provider customers on terms acceptable to us or at all, our future financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected." on pages 4 and 7, respectively.

Consumer Services

We have a broad range of content, applications and commerce services that are delivered by our telecom service provider customers to consumers via SMS, voice and WAP.

Content

Our content includes the following:

- Music-Based Content. Our music-based content includes caller ring back tones and ring tones. We have a caller ring back tones platform where subscribers can choose ring back tones of their choice and select it to be played for various callers. Our caller ring back tones platform provides other special features like time based caller songs and group caller songs. We source and aggregate ring tone content from major music label companies and unbranded content from local musicians. Our ring tone repository is updated regularly to provide subscribers with the latest content. Our ring tone application provides subscribers the option to download ring tones over voice, SMS and WAP.
- Picture-Based Content. Our picture-based content includes animation, screensavers, themes, WAP greetings, name cards and wallpapers. For instance, our wallpaper application allows subscribers to download coloured wallpaper from a wide range of categories, such as celebrities, animals, humour, romance, devotional and nature.
- Text-Based Content. Our text-based content includes jokes, gossip, tips, cricket scores, and news, among others. We provide news content on a real-time basis in multiple languages accessible by categories such as politics, business or international news.
- Contests, Quizzes and Puzzles. Our contest application enables networks and enterprises to set up contests for mobile phone and wireline subscribers. As part of our services, we provide the technology as well as the content for this application. Our contest application enables us, for example, to create a question bank, set up different quiz formats, conduct a post-contest analysis of the scores and manage the distribution of prizes to winners of the contests. Winning subscribers are rewarded with prizes. Sponsors and advertisers can use the opportunity to make subscribers aware of their brands and products.

Segmented Content on Voice and Text. Our segmented content includes educational, astrology, devotional and rural applications. Our educational applications allow subscribers to learn basic skills such as English language skills. Our educational applications also include alerts regarding exam results and job alerts. Our astrology applications allow subscribers to download personalized horoscopes on their mobile phones based on astrology or numerology, tips on feng shui and personality analysis. Our devotional application gives subscribers access to a repository of devotional songs in multiple languages and multiple religions. Our rural applications allow subscribers to receive information on agricultural matters, fisheries and other infotainment content relevant for subscribers located in rural areas.

Rights to Content

We generate some of the content in-house, such as music content, text-based content (e.g., jokes and tips). Some of the content is user generated, such as information in our rural applications for a leading telecom provider, and some of the content we have purchased the rights to on a royalty basis, such as film music and branded news feeds.

We have three in-house studios where all voice content is developed after it has been scripted by the editorial team. We have content editors for text-based content who develop content in multiple languages. Our in-house content development team had 36 full time employees as at December 31, 2009.

When we purchase the rights to content, the agreement typically provides that we pay a royalty as a percentage of the revenues that we earn from the service which is using the content.

Applications

- Mobile Phone Security and Data Backup. WaveSecure service enables mobile phone subscribers to protect their handsets and personal data against misuse in the event that their handsets are lost or stolen. It enables subscribers to remotely lock down their phones, activate a warning message on the screen of their handsets and sound an alarm. WaveSecure further enables a subscriber to track the lost or stolen phone and send SMS and email alerts to contacts regarding the loss or theft of the phone. In addition, WaveSecure provides subscribers with the ability to backup personal data, either through an auto back-up mechanism or through a remote trigger mechanism. Moreover, WaveSecure gives subscribers the option to remotely wipe all data and information from a lost or stolen handset. WaveSecure was developed by TenCube, in which we have a 21.28% ownership interest. We have the exclusive right to represent and re-sell WaveSecure in certain Asian countries and Africa pursuant to an agreement with TenCube. We also have a right of first refusal to resell WaveSecure in all other countries provided that we can demonstrate a reasonable advantage in our business over the proposed reseller for the relevant jurisdiction.
- Social Networking Site for Mobile Phones. Oc2ps is our proprietary social networking system for telecom service providers and users of their services. Oc2ps enables subscribers to post photos and videos and the location where such videos photos or videos were taken on both Oc2ps and other social networks such as Facebook and Twitter, among others, all with one mobile interface and one sign in. Users also receive access to their friends on multiple social networks and can connect with them via Oc2ps. This service provides subscribers with an option to create a backup of the content on their handsets, such as phone book contacts, multimedia content and text messages, to a central server. Privacy for the uploaded content is maintained by allowing access of the uploaded content only through a user name and password. Subscribers can also share content with contacts in their social address book. Further, Oc2ps has an application store that offers applications that can be used on a wide spectrum of devices. Subscribers can also access content and applications available on a telecom service provider's deck and/or application store. Oc2ps is currently live on a limited basis. We are in discussions with several telecom service providers in India regarding a larger-scale launch of this service.

Delivery of Content and Applications

Depending on the content or application, we sell our consumer services on a subscription basis and/or a per transaction basis. As at February 28, 2010, we had approximately 9.87 million subscribers for our content and applications.

• SMS. Consumers can subscribe for certain content such as jokes, film gossip, news, lifestyle tips and cricket scores to be sent via SMS to their handsets. As at February 28, 2010, we had approximately 8.01 million subscribers for our SMS content.

- Voice Portal. We have a voice portal service offering a suite of applications, including music browsing, ring-tone downloads, caller ring-back tone downloads, chat and messaging applications; dedicated devotional applications, educational applications and applications for rural users. As at February 28, 2010, we had approximately 1.87 million subscribers for our voice portal. Additionally, consumers may pay to download or listen to content on a per minute or per call premium rate instead of paying a subscription fee for voice portal.
- WAP Portal. Juiceup is our proprietary WAP portal where subscribers can access music, movies, information, entertainment, video games and utilities based products and services. Juiceup is equipped with user profile management capabilities, which allows for the delivery of content options based on customer behaviour patterns.

Our content and applications are capable of being delivered to the subscribers of all our network service provider customers as well as to subscribers of BSNL in India and Globacom in Nigeria.

Consumers who use our services are charged by their network service providers who then pay us an agreed percentage. In most instances, our value added services for consumers provide a source of additional revenue to our network service provider customers without capital expenditure on their behalf. We are in the process of rolling out a website and an IVR mechanism which will enable consumers to also pay us directly for our consumer services.

Commerce Services

PayTM, or "Pay Through Mobile", is our mobile commerce platform for consumers and enterprises. PayTM enables mobile phone users to make payments through their mobile phones in a secure and easy manner over voice, SMS, WAP, websites and on-device applications using credit cards, debit cards, pre-paid cash cards, net banking and third party payment gateway providers such as PayPal. Using PayTM allows consumers to undertake a variety of transactions, including mobile prepaid recharges, DTH recharges, mobile ticketing, bill payments and mobile shopping. We generate revenue from providing PayTM services on a per transaction basis.

Contracts with Telecom Service Providers for Consumer Services

Most of our contracts with telecom service providers for consumer services are on a revenue sharing basis pursuant to which we receive a fixed percentage of the net revenue generated by our consumer services. A few of these contracts, especially those related to pull SMS based services, provide for us to deliver a minimum amount of traffic for various geographic areas on a monthly basis. If the minimum amount of traffic is not met for any area in any given month, the telecom service provider is not obligated to pay us our portion of the revenue generated for such area for such month.

Further, most of our contracts with telecom service providers for consumer services are typically master contracts that allow our new products and services to be quickly deployed under the contracts' existing terms and conditions by using an addendum or an amendment, without the need to enter into and negotiate a new contract.

Under contracts with telecom service providers for consumer services, we have, among other things, agreed to indemnify the telecom service providers against loss or damage arising from our breach of contract, actions brought against the network by a third party for infringement of intellectual property rights and any matter relating to services performed under the contract or performance by us of obligations under such contract. However, under some of those contracts the indemnification obligation extends to all remote and consequential losses and damages, whether foreseeable or not. Further, our liability under for such losses are unlimited under the terms of the relevant contracts. For further details, see "Risk Factors – Under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers, our indemnification obligations extend to all remote and consequential losses and damages" on page 9.

Our contracts with our telecom service providers customers are typically on a non-exclusive basis. While some of our contracts have terms varying between one to three years, others are typically valid until termination. Our contracts also allow either party to terminate the contract for specific reasons, including for a breach of a material term or condition that is not rectified within a specified cure period. Either party is also allowed to terminate the contract without cause by giving written notice. For further details, see "Risk Factors – Most of Carrier Contracts for consumer services are non-exclusive, which could result in circumstances that could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition." and "Risk Factors – Many of our contracts are fixed term contracts of short duration and are not subject to automatic renewal. If we are unable to renew or extend our contacts with our existing customers on terms acceptable to us or at all, our future financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected." on pages 4 and 7, respectively.

Enterprise Services

We use telecom networks as media to assist enterprises with customer communication, self-care solutions and brand services.

Our enterprise services include:

- SMS Pull Service. This service enables in-bound communication and two-way interactive message transfer enabling an enterprise to receive customer requests and feedback through SMS. It also provides an enterprise with an automated method to disseminate information to the customer. Some of the SMS pull applications are information services, including customer requests, processing customer inquiries, recording customer feedback, opinion polls, surveys, mobile ticketing and human resource services (attendance/leave notification given via SMS).
- Voice Portals. We set-up voice portals for enterprises. These voice portals are interactive, easy to use, low maintenance, available 24 hours per day, secure and more cost effective than call centres. Some of the services that can be delivered via a voice portal include customer care request facilities, mobile commerce and information about companies and products, among other things. We have set-up voice portals for many companies including Adlabs and Bookmyshow.
- VIO Auto Dialler. Our VIO auto dialler service automatically dials telephone numbers faster than manual dialling. The VIO auto-dialler generates an auto call and provides pre-recorded information once the subscriber picks up the call. The subscriber is then given an option to perform certain activities (e.g., expressing interest in a particular service) through dual-tone multi-frequency input. Our VIO auto dialler supports special features such as a "Do Not Disturb" filter and the ability to analyze customer behaviour patterns, thereby tracking the effectiveness of out dial services for future reference. This service is ideal for up selling and communicating important events to an enterprise's customers.
- SMS Outbound Campaign. This service enables an enterprise to disseminate an SMS to a large number of people at one time. Typical uses for this service include disseminating company news, promotions, group messages, reminders, alerts and announcements about new products, specials and bargains.
- Mobile Payment Services. Our PayTM platform enables enterprises to sell products and services and accept secure payments from their customers via mobile phones or through the internet. PayTM has been awarded a PCI DSS security certificate for its adherence to stringent information and network security standards.
- Developing WAP Sites. We develop WAP sites for enterprises that enable consumers to have an internet like experience on a mobile phone.

We also combine different services into one product to satisfy the particular demands of an enterprise. We typically charge for enterprise services on a per transaction fee basis (some time with a minimum monthly commitment), project fee basis, rental basis, maintenance fee basis or a combination of these bases.

Contracts with Enterprise Customers

Under most of our contracts with enterprise customers, we have, among other things, agreed to indemnify our customers against loss or damage arising from our breach of contract and any matter relating to services performed under the enterprise services contract or performance by us of obligations under such contract. However, under some of those contracts the indemnification obligation extends to all remote and consequential losses and damages likely to be suffered by the enterprise customer as a result of our representations, warranties or undertakings being false, untrue, misleading or incorrect. Further, our liability under for such losses are unlimited under the terms of the relevant contracts. For further details, see "Risk Factors – Under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers, our indemnification obligations extend to all remote and consequential losses and damages" on page 9.

Operations Support

Each of our telecom service provider customers has been assigned an operations support team headed by an operations manager. The operations support team consists of the following sub-teams:

Business and Product Operations. This team conceptualizes product campaigns and undertakes the creation and delivery of products and services. The business and product operations team also compiles reports with a focus on maximizing conversions by consumers to our products. This team also profiles customers to identify the right target, right message and right product for customers. The business and product operations team uses SMS, USSD, Voice and WAP delivery channels for communications with customers.

Service Delivery. This team carries out the testing and operation of interfaces (SMS, IVR, USSD and WAP) and ensures adherence to customer requirements. The service team runs outbound dialers and consumer analytics to improve the efficiency of product campaigns. It also undertakes filtering for the NDNC registry as well as for maintaining databases of consumers meeting various criteria. The service delivery team interfacing with the content and infrastructure teams to ensure seamless operations of customer systems and works with support teams to ensure L1 and L2 level support for application issues, content quality assurance and testing, revenue assurance and reconciliations.

Service Monitoring. This team works to ensure adherence with Service Level Agreement (SLA) requirements for service and application uptime. The servicing monitoring team provides twenty-four hour support seven days a week for customers. This team uses various in-house and third party tools to ensure a proactive approach to service delivery. The service monitoring team is experienced in system monitoring and management, system health checks, the utilization of memory, RAM and central processing units, deployment of applications and infrastructure at our sites and customer sites, and management information systems and reporting.

Sales and Marketing

Our sales and marketing team is responsible for catering to the needs of our existing telecom service provider customers and enterprise customers. It also identifies new customers to approach about our applications and services. As at December 31, 2009, we had 163 fulltime employees working in our sales and marketing team. We also sell our enterprise services through resellers, who purchase our products and resell them to small enterprises. We also team up with network equipment providers to bid for managed services assignments to help them service their customers better. For example, we teamed up with a leading network equipment vendor to manage the operations of their service delivery platform in connection with services being provided to a leading telecom service provider.

Technology and Product Development

We create applications, services and platforms that are required to be telecom grade with availability and uptime 24 hours a day throughout the year. In order to facilitate the use of various products and services used by our telecom service provider customers, our systems and applications have to be integrated with the telecom service providers' core network elements, which carry out call switching and mobility management functions for mobile phones on the network, and their billing and provisioning systems. In order to facilitate such integration, we need to have a thorough understanding of mobile platforms and technologies including voice, video and data delivery. We have a dedicated pool of engineers with detailed knowledge of GSM and CDMA networks and indepth understanding of voice, data and video technologies. Our system deployments are widely dispersed and have to be actively monitored to ensure telecom grade availability and uptime. We use industry standard SNMP based systems, which have been built in-house to monitor our delivery infrastructure, that are deployed through multiple operators in India as well as overseas.

Competition

The telecommunication value added services industry is fragmented, in the early stages of development, highly competitive and is characterized by frequent introductions of new solutions and products, evolving wireless platforms and new and improved technologies.

Competition is expected to intensify in the telecommunications value added services industry in India and there may also be increasing competition from global players. We expect competition to intensify further as new entrants emerge in the industry due to available growth opportunities, as companies in other industries try to expand into the telecommunications value added services industry and as existing competitors seek to expand their services. Further, consolidation among our competitors may also leave us at a competitive disadvantage. We also face competition from large device makers that offer applications for handsets through their respective proprietary application stores, direct-to-consumer businesses and existing service integrators and system integrators. In addition, we may face additional competition in respect of our enterprise business from resellers of bulk push SMS (i.e., a service enabling an enterprise to send an SMS to a large number of handsets) and short code service (i.e., a service that provides a special, short telephone number that can be used to send SMSs and MMSs from mobile phones and fixed phones). Some of our competitors may also be able to quickly replicate our services and products. Such replicated services and products would compete with our services and products. Moreover, our competitors may be able to adapt their applications for deployment on a 3G spectrum on a more rapid basis than us. Any such competition may impact our results of operations and financial condition.

Our major competitors in India in the network services segment are Ericsson, NSN, Comviva and Ascescion. Our major competitors in the consumer services segment are Buongiorno, Spice Mobile VAS, OnMobile, Indiatimes and Cellebrum. Our major competitors in the enterprise services segment are ACL Wireless and Air2Web.

For further details on our competition, see "Risk Factors – The markets in which we operate are highly competitive and some of our competitors have greater resources than we do." and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Factors That May Affect Results of Operations – Competition" on pages 5 and 219, respectively.

Intellectual Property

Our success depends to a large extent on our proprietary technology and know-how. We rely primarily on a combination of trade secrets and copyright laws and restrictions on access to protect our trade secrets and proprietary rights. We provide services under agreements that grant customers a right to use our services and that contain terms and conditions prohibiting its unauthorized use or transfer. In addition, we enter into confidentiality agreements with our telecom service provider customers when we disclose proprietary information to them. We also enter into confidentiality agreements with our employees and consultants.

We have applied to register the following trademarks in classes 38 and 42 with the Trademarks Registry in India:

- 1. one97;
- 2. one97 Let's get talking; and
- 3. one97 Let's get talking (with logo);
- 4. 197; and
- 5. Let's get talking!

Employees

As at December 31, 2009, we had a total of 738 permanent employees. The Company ensures that its employees are up-to-date with current trends in our industry and accomplishes this by providing professional training to employees at all levels. Moreover, we have an employee stock option plan in place, which we use to incentivize our employees. For further details on our employee stock option plan, see the section entitled "Capital Structure – Employee Stock Option Plan" in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Our employees are not unionized and we have never experienced any work stoppages. We believe that our employee relations are good.

REGULATIONS AND POLICIES

The following description is a summary of the relevant regulations and policies as prescribed by the Government of India, certain international treaties and conventions to which India is a signatory and the respective by elaws framed by the local bodies incorporated under the laws of India. The information detailed in this chapter has been obtained from the various legislations, international treaties and conventions, and the by elaws of the respective local authorities that are available in the public domain.

Intellectual Property

The nature of our business involves the generation and use of intellectual property for the protection of which we rely on the legal regime governing the acquisition and protection of intellectual property in India. Such laws are briefly summarised below:

Patents

Patent is a statutory right for the intellectual property relating to an invention, for a limited period granted by the Government to the patentee in exchange of full disclosure of his invention.

The grant of a product patent in India confer upon the patentee the exclusive right to prevent third parties from the act of making, using, offering for sale, selling or importing for those purposes the patented product in India; and in case of a process patent it confers upon the patentee the exclusive right to prevent third parties from using that process, and from the act of using, offering for sale, selling or importing for those purposes the product obtained directly by that process in India.

The patent right is territorial in nature and a patent obtained in one country is not enforceable in other country. At present, no world patents or international patents exist. In general, an application for a patent must be filed, and a patent shall be granted and enforced, in each country in which the applicant seeks patent protection for his invention, in accordance with the law of that country. In some regions, a regional patent office, for example, the European Patent Office (EPO) and the African Regional Intellectual Property Organization (ARIPO), accepts regional patent applications, or grants patents, which have the same effect as applications filed, or patents granted, in the member States of that region.

Indian patent system:

Patent registration and protection in India is governed by the Patents Act, 1970 as amended, and the Patents (Amendment) Rules, 2006 ('Patent Rules'). The invention to be patentable should satisfy the criterion of novelty, inventive step and industrial application. As per Section 2 (ja) of the Patents Act, 1970 "inventive step" means a feature of an invention that involves technical advance as compared to existing knowledge or having economic significance or both and that makes the invention not obvious to person skilled in the art. The Patents Act, 1970 excludes certain inventions from the purview of patentability. Such inventions inter alia include:

- (a) Frivolous or contrary to well-established natural laws;
- (b) Contrary to public order or morality or which causes serious prejudice to human, plant or animal life, health or environment;
- (c) Scientific principle, abstract theory or discovery of any living thing or non-living substance occurring in nature;
- (d) A method of agriculture or horticulture;
- (e) A mere scheme, rule or method of performing mental act or playing games;
- (f) A presentation of information; and
- (g) Topography of integrated circuits etc.

The grant of a patent involves various stages which are:

- (a) Making an application;
- (b) Publication and examination of the patent application
- (c) Term of the patent granted under the Patents Act, 1970 is 20 years from the date of filing of application for the patent, subject to payment of renewal fee.
- (d) Opposition

(e) A resident in India cannot make or cause to be made any application for grant of a patent for an invention outside India without a written license/ permission from the Controller in the prescribed manner unless - (a) an application for a patent for the same invention has been made in India, not less than six weeks before the application outside India; and (b) either no direction has been given under sub-section (1) of section 35 (relating to inventions relating for defence purposes) in relation to the application in India, or all such directions have been revoked.

The Patents Act, 1970 deems that computer programmes per se are not 'inventions' and are therefore not entitled to patent protection. This position was diluted by the Patents Amendment Ordinance, 2004 which included as patentable subject matter:

- (a) Technical applications of computer programs to industry; and
- (b) Combinations of computer programs with the hardware.

However, the Patents Amendment Act, 2005 does not include this specific amendment and consequently, the Patents Act, 1970 as it currently stands, disentitles computer programs per se from patent protection.

International Patent Protection Mechanism

The extent of patent protection granted by any national patent law is limited to the jurisdiction of the country of registration of the said patent. Therefore, the protection of patents on an international scale ordinarily requires that patent applications be filed and granted in multiple jurisdictions. In order to avoid multiplicity of applications, mechanisms under various international treaties have evolved providing for the effective filing of simultaneous patent applications in multiple jurisdictions by filing of a single international application. The Patent Co-operation Treaty, 1970, ("PCT") creates one such mechanism whereby filing an application under the treaty results in the effective filing of a separate application in each of several designated countries under the PCT.

PCT is an agreement for international cooperation in the field of patents. It is the most significant advancement in international cooperation in this field since the adoption of the Paris Convention itself. It is, however, largely a treaty for rationalization and cooperation with regard to the filing, searching and examination of patent applications and the dissemination of the technical information contained therein. The PCT does not provide for the grant of "international patents". The task and responsibility for granting patents remains exclusively in the hands of the Patent Offices of, or acting for, the countries where protection is sought (the "regional Offices"). PCT is a special agreement under the Paris Convention open only to states, which are members of the Paris convention and is administered by International Bureau (IB) under World Intellectual Property Organization ("WIPO"), Geneva. PCT makes it possible to seek patent protection for an invention simultaneously in each of a large number of countries by filing a single patent application ("International Application") instead of filing several separate national or regional patent applications. The international application under the PCT mechanism is divided in to two phases: (a) International phase, and (b) national phase.

(a) International Phase: The international application may be filed by anyone who is a national or resident of a contracting state. It may generally be filed with the national patent office of the contracting state of which the applicant is a national or resident or, at the applicant's option, with the International Bureau of WIPO in Geneva. If the applicant is a national or resident of a contracting state which is party to the European Patent Convention, the Harare Protocol on Patents and Industrial Designs (Harare Protocol), the revised Bangui Agreement Relating to the Creation of an African Intellectual Property Organization or the Eurasian Patent Convention, the international application may also be filed with the European Patent Office (EPO), the African Regional Industrial Property Organization (ARIPO), the African Intellectual Property Organization (OAPI) or the Eurasian Patent Office (EAPO), respectively.

The international application is then subjected to an "international search." International search is carried out by one of the major patent offices appointed by the PCT assembly as an International Searching Authority (ISA). The said search results in an "international search report," that is, a listing of the citations of such published documents that might affect the patentability of the invention claimed in the international application. At the same time, the ISA prepares a written opinion on patentability.

The international search report and the written opinion are communicated by the ISA to the applicant who may decide to withdraw his application, in particular where the said report or opinion makes the granting of patents unlikely. If the international application is not withdrawn, it is, together with the international search report, published by the International Bureau.

(b) National Phase: The granting of patents corresponding to International applications remains under the control of the national or regional patent offices through the "national phase" patent application. After the end of the International Phase, the applicant can start to pursue the grant of patents directly before the national (or regional) patent Offices of the countries of interest separately. Procedural and substantive requirements for the grant of patents as well as the amount of fees required are different from one country/region to the other. It is therefore advisable to consult a practicing lawyer who is specialized in patents in those countries in which the applicant is interested to get protection.

Convention Application:

As per the Patents Act, 1970 where the applicant has made an application for a patent in respect of an invention in a convention country ("basic application"), the applicant can file applications under the Patents Act, 1970 within 12 months from the date of the basic application for the same invention. One of such international convention is the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property, 1883 (the "Paris Convention"). The Paris Convention applies to industrial property in the widest sense, including patents, trade marks, industrial designs, geographical indications, etc. The Paris Convention requires its member countries to guarantee to the citizens of the other countries the same rights in patent and trademark matters that it gives to its own citizens. In case of patent filings in multiple jurisdictions, Paris Convention, grants a right of priority to the applicant which means that the applicant who has filed an application in any contracting states, may apply for the patent protection in any other contracting states within 12 months and claim priority over other applications relating to the same inventions, which have been filed by other applicants during the said 12 month period.

Copyright Protection

The Copyright Act, 1957 ("Copyright Act") governs copyright protection and certain rights akin to copyright in India. Under the Copyright Act, copyright may subsist in original literary, dramatic, musical or artistic works, cinematograph films, and sound recordings. Software, both in source and object code, constitutes a literary work under Indian law and is afforded copyright protection. The Copyright Act also provides for special right to Broadcasting Organisations and Performers. Following the issuance of the International Copyright Order, 1999, subject to certain exceptions, the provisions of the Copyright Act apply to nationals of all member states of the World Trade Organisation.

While copyright registration is not a prerequisite for acquiring or enforcing a copyright in an otherwise copyrightable work, registration constitutes prima facie evidence of the particulars entered therein and creates a rebuttable presumption favoring the ownership of the copyright by the registered owner. Copyright registration may expedite infringement proceedings and reduce delay caused due to evidentiary considerations. Once registered, copyright protection of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work lasts for a 60-year period following the death of the author. However, in anonymous and pseudonymous work, in photographs, cinematograph films, works in which the government, public undertakings or international organisations are the first owner, the term of the copyright shall subsist until sixty years from the beginning of the calendar year in which the work is published.

Reproduction of a copyrighted work for sale or hire, issuing of copies to the public not being copies already in circulation, performance or exhibition in public, making a translation of the work, making an adaptation of the work or making a cinematograph film or sound recording of the work without consent of the owner of copyright are all acts which expressly amount to an infringement of copyright. With respect to computer software, in addition to the applicable provisions stated above, any unauthorised sale or commercial rental of software also amount to infringement of copyright. The Copyright Act also prescribes certain fair use exceptions which permit certain acts which are otherwise considered copyright infringement. In respect of computer software, these fair use exceptions would include:

- (a) the making of copies or adaptations of a computer program by the lawful possessor of a copy of such computer program in order that it may be utilised for the purposes for which it was supplied;
- (b) the right of the lawful possessor to obtain any other essential information for interoperability of an independently created computer program, if that information is not otherwise readily available;

- (c) the observation, study, or test of functioning of the computer program in order to determine the ideas and principle which underline any elements of the program while performing such acts necessary for the functions for which the computer program is supplied; and
- (d) the making of copies or adapting the computer program from a personal legally obtained copy for any non-commercial personal use.

The remedies available in the event of infringement of copyright under the Copyright Act include civil proceedings for damages, account of profits, injunction and the delivery of the infringing copies to the copyright owner.

The Copyright Act also provides for criminal remedies including imprisonment of the accused and the imposition of fines and seizures of infringing copies. A third set of remedies are administrative or quasi judicial remedies which are prosecuted before the Registrar of Copyright to ban the import of infringing copies into India.

International Treaties for Copyright Protection

India is a signatory to the Convention of International Union for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works (the "Berne Convention"), the Universal Copyright Convention, 1952, (the "UCC") the Rome Convention for the Protection of Performers, Producers of Phonograms and Broadcasting Organisations, 1961 and as a member of the World Trade Organisation is a signatory to the Agreement on Trade Related aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (the "TRIPS Agreement"). The TRIPS Agreement embodies a set of minimum standards that all signatories have to adhere to in respect of all forms of intellectual property protection, including copyright.

The Berne Convention requires that the signatory countries provide the same rights to foreigners from other member countries as to their own nationals and mandates automatic protection not subject to procedural formalities. It also provides for minimum substantive standards of protection, dealing with the duration of copyright and the exclusive rights which the author shall hold. While the Berne Convention does not prescribe what works are required to be protected under it, computer software has been brought under its purview by means of Article 10 of the TRIPS Agreement.

The UCC provides for similar protection, including national treatment and minimum substantive rights to be granted to copyright holders. The substantive provisions include the right of foreign national of a signatory country whose work was first published outside a signatory state to claim copyright protection in that signatory state under the UCC upon the printing of a copyright symbol and certain other information.

Trademarks

The Trade Marks Act, 1999 (the "Trademark Act") governs the statutory protection of trademarks in India. In India, trademarks enjoy protection under both statutory and common law.

Indian trademarks law permits the registration of trademarks for goods and services. Certification trademarks and collective marks are also registrable under the Trademark Act.

An application for trademark registration may be made by any person claiming to be the proprietor of a trademark and can be made on the basis of either current use or intention to use a trademark in the future. The registration of certain types of trade marks such as marks which contain or comprise of any matter likely to hurt the religious susceptibilities of any class or section of people or which consists exclusively of the shape of goods which result from the nature of the goods themselves are absolutely prohibited. However, marks which are not distinctive or which indicate the kind or quality of the goods may be allowed to proceed to registration if the proprietor is able to show that owing to the mark's extensive and prolonged use, it has acquired distinctiveness or has attained a secondary meaning.

Applications for a trademark registration may be made for in one or more international classes. India recognises the NICE classification uptill Class 42 which is also as a residual class encompassing all the services beyond Class 42 uptill Class 45 as covered in other jurisdictions. The Trademark Act also provides for filing of applications claiming priority from convention countries Once granted, trademark registration is valid for ten years unless cancelled. If not renewed after ten years, the mark lapses and the registration for such mark has to be obtained afresh.

While both registered and unregistered trademarks are protected under Indian law, the registration of trademarks offers significant advantages to the registered owner, particularly with respect to proving infringement. Registered trademarks are protected by means of an action for infringement, whereas unregistered trademarks may only be protected by means of the common law remedy of passing off. In case of the latter, the plaintiff must, prior to proving passing off, first prove that he is the owner of the trademark concerned and there is a misrepresentation on the part of the Opposite party. In contrast, the owner of a registered trademark is prima facie regarded as the owner of the mark by virtue of the registration obtained.

Trade Secrets and Confidential Information

In India, trade secrets and confidential information enjoy no special statutory protection and are protected under Common Law.

Labour laws

There are various legislations in India which have defined 'employee' and 'workman' based on factors which inter alia include nature of work and remuneration. People who come under the definition of workman or employee are entitled to various statutory benefits including gratuity, bonus, retirement benefits and insurance protection.

Termination of the employment of a non-workman is governed by the terms of the relevant employment contract.

As regards a 'workman', the IDA sets out certain requirements in relation to the termination of services. These include a detailed procedure prescribed for resolution of disputes with labour, removal and certain financial obligations upon retrenchment. The applicability of such laws depends on the number of workers employed and their monthly remuneration.

Employees State Insurance Act, 1948

The Employees State Insurance Act, 1948 (the "ESI Act") provides for certain benefits to employees in case of sickness, maternity and employment injury. All employees in establishments covered by the ESI Act are required to be insured, with an obligation imposed on the employer to make certain contributions in relation thereto. In addition, the employer is also required to register itself under the ESI Act and maintain prescribed records and registers.

Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972

The Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 provides for payment of gratuity to employees employed in factories, shops and other establishments who have put in a continuous service of 5 years, in the event of their superannuation, retirement, resignation, death or disablement due to accidents or diseases. The rule of '5 year continuous service' is however relaxed in case of death or disablement of an employee. Gratuity is calculated at the rate of 15 days wages for every completed year of service with the employer. Presently, an employer is obliged for a maximum gratuity payout of Rs. 1 million for an employee.

Employees Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952.

The Employees Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 (the "EPF Act") provides for the institution of compulsory provident fund, pension fund and deposit linked insurance funds for the benefit of employees in factories and other establishments. A liability is placed both on the employer and the employee to make certain contributions to the funds mentioned above.

The Maternity Benefit Act, 1961

The purpose of the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961 is to regulate the employment of pregnant women and to ensure that they get paid leave for a specified period during and after their pregnancy. It provides, inter alia, for payment of maternity benefits, medical bonus and enacts prohibitions on dismissal, reduction of wages paid to pregnant women, etc.

The Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970

The purpose of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 is to regulate the employment and protect the interests of labourers who are hired on the basis of individual contracts. In the event that any aspect of the activity is outsourced and is carried out by labourers hired on a contractual basis, then compliance with the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 will also be necessary.

The Telecom Unsolicited Commercial Communications Regulations, 2007

TRAI has introduced the Telecom Unsolicited Commercial Communications Regulations, 2007 ("Regulations") to curb unsolicited telemarketing communications, thereby reducing the nuisance and inconvenience to subscribers. TRAI has set up the NDNC registry, which is operational since October, 2007 for this purpose.

The Regulations aim at balancing the right to privacy of the subscriber and the rights to freedom of speech and profession of the telemarketing industry. TRAI has therefore set out an 'opt-out approach' where a subscriber has an option of opting out of receiving the UCC. All service providers have to maintain a "Private Do Not Call List" of the subscribers who request non-reception of the UCC. This list is then subsequently uploaded on to a NDNC registry. The telemarketers undertake to not make UCC to any subscriber registered on the NDNC registry, failing which disconnection of connection may be a possibility. Further, UCC made to other subscribers, who have not requested non-reception of the UCC, has to be prefixed with a message informing the subscriber of the UCC and to approach the service provider if it is unwanted. All these services, above mentioned, are provided free of charge to the subscribers under the Regulations. The service provider has an obligation to incorporate the registration of a subscriber into the NDNC registry within 30 days of such a request. If the subscriber after 45 days from the day of his request still receives the UCC, he can file a complaint with his service provider. The complaint is then forwarded to the originating service provider who shall charge the tariff from the telemarketer, which is Rs. 500 for each UCC and Rs. 1,000 for every subsequent UCC. The connection of the telemarketer shall also be disconnected if he has made an UCC even after one UCC has been charged as above.

The 2008 amendment to the Regulations provides for a detailed procedure for conducting an inquiry by a committee consisting of three officers, not below the rank of 'Advisor' in the TRAI, for violation of certain provisions of the Regulations. Chapter IVA specifically laid down the payment that was needed to be made by service providers violating the Regulations by way of financial disincentive not exceeding Rs. 5,000 for the first non-compliance and Rs, 20,000 for subsequent non-compliance(s). Any decision made by the TRAI in this respect may be appealed to the Telecom Disputes Settlement and Appellate Tribunal.

Guidelines for Telemarketers

The Guidelines for Telemarketers, released by the DoT, Ministry of Communications and Information Technology requires that an entity engaged in soliciting or promoting any commercial transaction in relation to goods, investment or services to apply for registration to DoT or any other agency authorized by DoT. The registration granted under these guidelines is valid for a period of 10 years. Further, the telemarketer shall not, without the prior written consent of DoT, either directly or indirectly, assign or transfer the registration in any manner whatsoever to a third party or enter into any agreement for sub-leasing and/or partnership relating to any subject matter of the registration to any third party either in whole or in part i.e. no sub-leasing/partnership/third party interest shall be created. Further, the DoT reserves the right to suspend the registration at any time, if in its opinion it is necessary to do in public interest or in the interest of the security of the State or the proper conduct of telegraph. Moreover, the registration can be terminated for a failure to comply with the guidelines.

- 5. In accordance with the requirements of Paragraph B(1) of Part II of schedule II of the Act, 'the Regulations' and terms of our engagement agreed with you, we report that:
 - a) The Consolidated Restated Summary Statements of the Group as at and for the year ended March 31, 2008 are based on the Audited Consolidated Financial Statements of the Group which were audited by previous auditor M/s D.G and Co and whose Auditors' report has been relied upon by us for the purpose of our examination report for the said years, and based on Audited Consolidated Financial Statements for the year ended March 31, 2009 and nine months period ended December 31, 2009 as audited by us. The Consolidated Restated Summary Statements are after making such adjustments and regroupings as in our opinion were appropriate and more fully described in Significant Accounting Policies and Notes to the Consolidated Restated Summary Statement as set out in Annexure IV to the report.

Based on the above and also as per the reliance place by us on the Audited Consolidated Financial Statements of the Company which were audited by previous auditor M/s D.G and Co and the Auditors reports for the year ended March 31, 2008, we confirm that:

- the Consolidated Restated Summary Statements have been made after incorporating the impact arising on account of changes in accounting policies from those adopted by the Company for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009, which have been adjusted with retrospective effect in the attached Consolidated Restated Summary Statements;
- the Consolidated Restated Summary Statements have been made after incorporating the impact of adjustments for material amounts relating to previous years, which have been adjusted in the Consolidated Restated Summary Statements in the years to which they relate.
- there are no extraordinary items, which need to be disclosed separately in the Consolidated Restated Summary Statements.
- there are no qualifications in auditor's report requiring adjustments other than the matter reported below, the effect of which on adjustments and the disclosures on the Consolidated Restated Summary Statements is not determinable.

December 31, 2009

The auditors of Tencube Pte Limited have included the following qualification in the audit report for the year ended December 31, 2009:

'We refer to the qualification raised by the predecessor auditor for the financial year ended 31 December 2008, since the inherent error in 2008 entered into the determination of the results of operations for the period 2009, we are unable to determine whether any adjustment, if any, is necessary for the financial period ended 31 December 2009 and its corresponding disclosures.

Some of the payments vouchers with the supporting documents for the year were misplaced. As such we are unable to conduct our audit verification for this period fully to satisfy ourselves of the existence and completeness of the transactions during this period'.

Accordingly, for the purposes of the consolidated financial statement of the Group as at and for the year ended December 31, 2009, we are unable to determine the corresponding impact of the above qualifications in the consolidated financial statement with respect to accounting for the share of loss in Tencube for the period ended December 31, 2009 as well as the carrying value of investments in associate and value of underlying goodwill as at that date.

Further our report on the Consolidated Financial Statements as at December 31, 2009 and March 31, 2009 and for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009 and year ended March 31, 2009 had Matter of Emphasis as discussed in paragraph 5c below, for which there is no corrective adjustment required to be made in the financial information.

b) The Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statements of the Company as at and for the years ended March 31, 2008, 2007, 2006 and 2005 are based on the Audited Financial Statements of the Company which were audited by previous auditor M/s D.G and Co and whose Auditors' report has been relied upon by us for the purpose of our examination report for the said years, and based on Audited Financial Statements for the year ended March 31, 2009 and nine months period ended December 31, 2009 as audited by us. The Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statements are after making such adjustments and regroupings as in our opinion were appropriate and more fully described in Significant Accounting Policies and Notes to the Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statement as set out in Annexure XVIII to the report.

Based on the above and also as per the reliance place by us on the Audited Financial Statements of the Company which were audited by previous auditor M/s D.G and Co and the Auditors reports for the years ended March 31, 2008, 2007, 2006 and 2005, we confirm that:

- the Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statements have been made after incorporating the impact arising on account of changes in accounting policies from those adopted by the Company for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009, which have been adjusted with retrospective effect in the attached Restated Summary Statements;
- the Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statements have been made after incorporating the impact of adjustments for material amounts relating to previous years, which have been adjusted in the Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statements in the years to which they relate.
- there are no extraordinary items, which need to be disclosed separately in the Unconsolidated Restated Summary Statements.
- there are no qualifications in auditor's report requiring adjustments.

However our report on the Unconsolidated Financial Statements as at December 31, 2009 and March 31, 2009 and for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009 and year ended March 31, 2009 had Matter of Emphasis as discussed in paragraph 5c below, for which there is no corrective adjustment required to be made in the financial information.

c) The Matter of Emphasis in the Audit Reports on consolidated and unconsolidated financial statements of the Group/Company for the period ended December 31, 2009 and year ended March 31, 2009 are as follows:

December 31, 2009 Consolidated and Unconsolidated

We reported that revenues have been recognised for certain invoices, the contracts for which with the respective customers are in the process of being executed.

March 31, 2009 Unconsolidated

We noted that the Company availed certain services of purchase of services from a Private Limited Company in which one of the Directors was interested and also remuneration was paid to relatives of one of the Directors who were in employment with the Companies. Section 297 and 314 of the Companies Act requires such transactions to be pre approved from the Central Government. As at March 31, 2009, the Company was in the process of obtaining the said approvals and thus we reported that the ultimate outcome of the matter cannot be determined.

Further, our reports on the audited unconsolidated financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2009 included, as an annexure, a statement on certain matters specified in the Companies (Auditors Report) Order, 2003, and our reports on the said annexure to the unconsolidated financial statements were qualified as follows. These qualifications do not require any corrective adjustments in the financial statements:

 Undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, income-tax, sales-tax, wealth-tax, custom duty, service tax and cess have not been regularly deposited with the appropriate authorities and there have been serious delays in large number of cases.

- The Company does not have an internal audit system. However, subsequent to the year end, the Company has appointed an external firm as internal auditors.
- The internal control system for sale of services needs to be further strengthened to be commensurate with the size of the Company and the nature of its business. Further the Company does not have a formal agreement for an arrangement with one of its customers. In our opinion, this is a continuing failure to correct major weakness in the internal control system.
- 6. We have not audited any financial statements of the Company as of any date or for any period subsequent to December 31, 2009. Accordingly, we express no opinion on the financial position, results of operations or cash flows of the Company as of any date or for any period subsequent to December 31, 2009.

Deferred income taxes reflects the impact of current year timing differences between taxable income and accounting income and reversal of timing differences of earlier years.

Deferred tax is measured based on the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to the taxes on income levied by same governing taxation laws. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised. In situations where any of the Group's entity has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, all deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realised against future taxable profits.

At each balance sheet date the respective group entities re-assesses unrecognised deferred tax assets. It recognises unrecognised deferred tax assets to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date. The respective group entities writes-down the carrying amount of a deferred tax asset to the extent that it is no longer reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which deferred tax asset can be realised. Any such write-down is reversed to the extent that it becomes reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available.

Minimum Alternative tax ('MAT') credit is recognised as an asset only when and to the extent there is convincing evidence that the respective group entities will pay normal income tax during the specified period. In the year in which the MAT credit becomes eligible to be recognized as an asset in accordance with the recommendations contained in Guidance Note issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, the said asset is created by way of a credit to the profit and loss account and shown as MAT Credit Entitlement. The respective group entities review the same at each balance sheet date and writes down the carrying amount of MAT Credit Entitlement to the extent there is no longer convincing evidence to the effect that respective group entity will pay normal Income Tax during the specified period.

n) Employee Stock Compensation Cost

Measurement and disclosure of the employee share-based payment plans is done in accordance with the Guidance Note on Accounting for Employee Share-based Payments, issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. o) Earnings/(loss) Per Share

Basic earnings/(loss) are calculated by dividing the net profit/(loss) for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings/(loss) per share, the net profit/(loss) for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

3. About the Group

i) The Parent Company on February 15, 2008 invested Rs. 9,849,710 for obtaining 54.99% stake in Oorja. The net assets of Oorja as at the date of acquisition amounted to Rs 9,145,434 resulting in Goodwill of Rs 4,819,762 on consolidation

| Particulars Particulars | | Amount (in Rs) |
|-----------------------------------------------|-----------|----------------|
| Purchase consideration | | 9,849,710 |
| Net assets taken over | | |
| Share Capital | 222,220 | |
| Security Premium | 9,727,490 | |
| Accumulated losses | (804,276) | |
| | 9,145,434 | |
| Parent Company's share in Net assets @ 54.99% | | 5,029,948 |
| Goodwill | | 4,819,762 |

Management attributes goodwill to the future economic benefits and accordingly does not consider there to be any impairment.

ii) During the nine months period ended December 31, 2009, the Parent Company incorporated PayTM Mobile Solutions Private Limited for mobile payment gateway business, hence there is no goodwill arising on consolidation of PayTM. iii) During the nine months period ended December 31, 2009, the Parent Company has invested Rs 33,700,000 in Tencube Pte Limited ('Tencube'), a Singapore based company. The investment is towards 1,000,000 Redeemable Convertible Preference Shares of SGD 1 each. These shares are redeemable at any time of occurrence of event of default defined as insolvency or any material breach of conditions, at sum equivalent to the issue price together with a compounded annual return of 8% and all accrued dividends till that date. Also, these preference shares are convertible into equity shares, at any point of time by virtue of 51% of such Preference shareholders giving a notice of conversion to the Tencube, which would entitle the Company a right of 21.28% of the issued and paid up share capital of the Tencube at that date. The Company also have a voting right at the general meetings of the Tencube to the extent of above 21.28% on a fully dilutive basis. The Preference shares carry a right of fixed and non-cumulative dividend rate of 5% per annum more than the highest dividend declared over the ordinary shares, and such dividends to be paid in preference to any dividend declared on ordinary shareholders. Further in case of liquidation, the holder of such preference shares will have a liquidation preference over the other shareholders of the Tencube for the original issue price and 8% per annum return together with all declared and unpaid dividends.

Given the terms of Preference shares as above, the investment has been considered as investment in an Associate and accounted for in accordance with the requirement of Accounting Standard (AS) 23, Accounting for Investments in Associates in Consolidated Financial Statements. The details of the investment in associate made by the Parent Company are as follows.

| Name of Associate | Country of Incorporation | Principal Activities | Ownership Interest and voting power | Original cost of investments | Amount of Goodwill included in original cost | Share in accumulated Loss at the year end | Carrying amount of Investments at the year end |
| Tencube Pte.Ltd. | Singapore | Mobile Security application | 21.28% | 33,700,000 | 26,000,115 | (30,495) | 33,669,505 |

The accounting policies followed by Tencube are similar to the Parent Company other than for depreciation. Tencube provides depreciation on its assets using straight line method over the useful life of the assets whereas the Parent Company provides depreciation on Written down value method. No adjustment to the carrying amount of investment has been made in this regard as the management does not consider determining the impact to be practical and material. Further, considering the future economic benefits attributed to the investment, the management does not consider need for impairment of goodwill.

Accounting for stock options

Guidance note on "Accounting for Employees Share Based Payments" issued by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India establishes financial accounting and reporting principles for employees share based payments plans.

The Parent Company has elected to apply intrinsic-value based method for accounting for stock options plan and accordingly the difference between the fair value of the underlying shares and the exercise price is expensed to the Profit & Loss Account over the period of the vesting.

Had the stock options plan been determined applying the fair value approach described in the guidance note, the Parent Company's net income and basic earnings per share would have reduced to the proforma amounts as indicated:

| | December 31, 2009 | March 31, 2009 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------|
| Profit/(loss) (restated) available to equity shareholders (refer Annexure | 110,722,279 | 18,922,993 |
| XXVII) | | |
| Add: Stock based employee compensation expense (intrinsic value | 26,489,710 | 9,157,527 |
| method) | | |
| Less: Stock based employee compensation expense (fair value method) | (40,155,413) | (10,345,365) |
| Proforma net profit/(loss) | 97,056,576 | 17,735,155 |
| Basic earnings/loss per share | | |
| - As reported | 4.85 | 0.89 |
| - Pro forma | 4.25 | 0.83 |

The weighted average fair value of options granted under the One97 Employee Stock Option Plan -1 during the year ended March 31, 2009 (computed using Black-Scholes model) was Rs. 100. The estimation of fair value on date of grant was made using the Black-Scholes model with the following assumptions:

| Weighted average share price | Rs. 126.35 | |
|---------------------------------|------------|--|
| Weighted average exercise price | Rs. 37.54 | |
| Dividend yield % | 0% | |
| Expected life (years) | 5 | |
| Risk free interest rate | 7.5% | |
| Volatility | 0% | |

Audit qualifications in the audit report of the Parent Company which do not require any corrective adjustment in the financial information are as follows:

1. Qualification in the audit report the period ended December 31, 2009

The auditors of Tencube Pte Limited (Tencube) have included the following qualification in the audit report for the year ended December 31, 2009:

"We refer to the qualification raised by the predecessor auditor for the financial year ended 31 December 2008, since the inherent error in 2008 entered into the determination of the results of operations for the period 2009, we are unable to determine whether any adjustment, if any, is necessary for the financial period ended 31 December 2009 and its corresponding disclosures.

Some of the payments vouchers with the supporting documents for the year were misplaced. As such we are unable to conduct our audit verification for this period fully to satisfy ourselves of the existence and completeness of the transactions during this period."

Accordingly, for the purposes of the consolidated financial statement of the Company as at and for the year ended December 31, 2009, we are unable to determine the corresponding impact of the above qualifications in the consolidated financial statement with respect to accounting for the share of loss in Tencube for the period ended December 31, 2009 as well as the carrying value of investments in associate and value of underlying goodwill as at that date.

2. Matter of emphasis in the audit report for the period ended December 31, 2009

Revenues have been recognised for certain invoices, the contracts for which, with the respective customers, are in the process of being executed, and the commercial terms for such contracts are already agreed.

2. Statement of Significant Accounting Policies adopted by the Company in the preparation of financial statements as at and for the nine-months period ended December 31, 2009

a) Basis of preparation

The Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements have been prepared by applying the necessary adjustments to the financial statements of One97 Communications Limited. The financial statements are prepared under historical cost convention, on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the Companies Act, 1956 and the Accounting Principles generally accepted in India ('Indian GAAP') and comply in all material respects with the accounting standards notified by Companies Accounting Standards (Rules), 2006 (as amended), to the extent applicable. The accounting policies have been consistently applied by the Company and are consistent with those used in previous year.

b) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the results of operations during the reporting period. Although these estimates are based upon management's best knowledge of current events and actions, actual results could differ from these estimates. Any revision to accounting estimates is recognized prospectively in current and future periods.

c) Fixed Assets

Tangible assets

Fixed assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Cost comprises the purchase price and any attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for its intended use.

Intangible assets

(i) Internally generated software

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development expenditure incurred on an individual project is capitalized when its future recoverability can reasonably be regarded as assured.

(ii) Software

Software and licenses acquired are recorded at consideration paid for acquisition.

The carrying value of development costs and software is reviewed for impairment at each balance sheet date when the asset is not in use, and otherwise when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable.

d) Depreciation

Depreciation is provided using the Written Down Value ('WDV') method as per the useful lives of the assets estimated by the management, or at the rates prescribed under schedule XIV of the Companies Act, 1956 whichever is higher. The rates of depreciation used by the Company are:

| Asset class | Rate of depreciation |
|----------------------|----------------------|
| Computers | 40% |
| Furniture & fixtures | 18.10% |
| Office Equipments | 13.91% |
| Vehicles | 25.89% |

Fixed Assets costing up to Rs. 5,000 are being fully depreciated in the year of acquisition.

Leasehold Improvements are depreciated over lower of the period of the lease and useful life.

e) Amortization

Internally generated software is amortised over the estimated useful life of 74 months on a Straight Line Basis.

Other Software and licenses acquired are amortised over the estimated useful life at the rate of 40% on written down value method.

f) Impairment

The carrying amount of assets is reviewed at each balance sheet date if there is any indication of impairment based on internal/external factors. An impairment loss is recognized wherever the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the asset's net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value at the weighted average cost of capital.

g) Leases

Where the Company is the lessee

Leases where the lessor effectively retains substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of asset over the leased term, are classified as operating leases. Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense in the Profit and Loss Account on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

h) Investments

Investments that are readily realizable and intended to be held for not more than a year are classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as long term investments. Current investments are carried at lower of cost and fair value determined on an individual investment basis. Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognise a decline other than temporary in the value of the long term investments.

i) Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured.

- (i) Revenue from service transactions is recognised as and when services are rendered as per the terms of the agreement with customers. Revenues are disclosed net of the service tax charged on such services. Revenue accrued per the terms of the contract with customers but not billed is carried in the financial statements as unbilled revenue.
- (ii) Revenue from sale of goods is recognised when the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have passed to the buyer. Revenues are disclosed net of the VAT charged on such sale of goods.
- (iii) Interest Income is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the rate applicable.
- (iv) Dividend income is recognised when the shareholders' right to receive payment is established by the balance sheet date.

j) Foreign currency transactions

(i) Initial Recognition

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in the reporting currency, by applying to the foreign currency amount the exchange rate between the reporting currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

(ii) Conversion

Foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate. Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are recorded in the reporting currency at exchange rate prevailing at the date of transaction.

(iii) Exchange Differences

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on reporting monetary items of Company at rates different from those at which they were initially recorded during the year, or reported in previous financial statements, are recognised as income or as expenses in the year in which they arise.

k) Retirement and other employee benefits

- (i) Retirement benefit in the form of Provident Fund is defined contribution scheme and the contribution is charged to the Profit and Loss Account of the year when the contribution to the fund is due. There are no other obligations of the Company other than the contribution to the fund.

- (iv) Actuarial gains/losses are immediately taken to profit and loss account and are not deferred.

1) Income Taxes

Tax expense comprises current, deferred and fringe benefit tax. Current income tax and fringe benefit tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the Incometax Act, 1961 enacted in India. Deferred income taxes reflects the impact of current year timing differences between taxable income and accounting income and reversal of timing differences of earlier years.

Deferred tax is measured based on the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to the taxes on income levied by same governing taxation laws. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised. In situations where the Company has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realised against future taxable profits.

At each balance sheet date the Company re-assesses unrecognised deferred tax assets. It recognises unrecognised deferred tax assets to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date. The Company writes-down the carrying amount of a deferred tax asset to the extent that it is no longer reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which deferred tax asset can be realised. Any such write-down is reversed to the extent that it becomes reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available.

Minimum Alternative tax ('MAT') credit is recognised as an asset only when and to the extent there is convincing evidence that the Company will pay normal income tax during the specified period. In the year in which the MAT credit becomes eligible to be recognized as an asset in accordance with the recommendations contained in Guidance Note issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, the said asset is created by way of a credit to the profit and loss account and shown as MAT Credit Entitlement. The Company reviews the same at each balance sheet date and writes down the carrying amount of MAT Credit Entitlement to the extent there is no longer convincing evidence to the effect that Company will pay normal Income Tax during the specified period.

m) Employee Stock Compensation Cost

Measurement and disclosure of the employee share-based payment plans is done in accordance with the Guidance Note on Accounting for Employee Share-based Payments, issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. The Company measures compensation cost relating to employee stock options using the intrinsic value method. Compensation expense is amortized over the vesting period of the option on a graded vesting method.

n) Earnings/(loss) Per Share

Basic earnings/(loss) are calculated by dividing the net profit/(loss) for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings/(loss) per share, the net profit/(loss) for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

o) Provision

A provision is recognized when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions are not discounted to its present value and are determined based on management estimate required to settle the obligation at the Balance Sheet date. These are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current management estimates.

Since the depreciation charge for that year and remaining years was incorrectly accounted for, the same has been adjusted accordingly in the restated financial statements by reversing the depreciation written back during the year ended March 31, 2006 and providing for depreciation based on the remaining estimated useful life of the assets in the years March 31, 2007, March 31, 2008 and March 31, 2009. These intangibles were impaired as at March 31, 2009, consequently there is no impact of the changes as above for the nine months period ended December 31, 2009.

For the purposes of these Restated Summary Statements, the following adjustments have been made to the tangible assets and the corresponding depreciation.

- i) During the year ended March 31, 2009, tangible fixed assets individually costing less than Rs 5,000 have been depreciated in the year of purchase as per the Company policy, including the net book value of such assets as at April 1, 2008 purchased in earlier years. However, due to practical difficulties in retrospective application of the same due to non availability of leave records, it has not been possible for the management to determine the impact on the profits for the year ended March 31st 2007, March 31st 2006 and March 31st 2005. Therefore the revised accounting standard has not been adopted by the Company for each of above said financial years. Accounting for stock options

Guidance note on "Accounting for Employees Share Based Payments" issued by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India establishes financial accounting and reporting principles for employees share based payments plans.

The Company has elected to apply intrinsic-value based method for accounting for stock options plan and accordingly the difference between the fair value of the underlying shares and the exercise price is expensed to the Profit & Loss Account over the period of the vesting.

Had the stock options plan been determined applying the fair value approach described in the guidance note, the Company's net income and basic earnings per share would have reduced to the performa amounts as indicated:

| | December 31, 2009 | March 31, 2009 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------|
| Profit/(loss) (restated) available to equity shareholders | 111,382,758 | 20,258,108 |
| Add: Stock based employee compensation expense (intrinsic value method) | 26,489,710 | 9,157,527 |
| Less: Stock based employee compensation expense (fair value method) | (40,155,413) | (10,345,365) |
| Proforma net profit/(loss) | 97,717,055 | 19,070,270 |
| Basic earnings/loss per share | | |
| - As reported | 4.88 | 0.95 |
| - Pro forma | 4.28 | 0.89 |

The weighted average fair value of options granted under the One 97 Employee Stock Option Plan -1 during the year ended March 31, 2009 (computed using Black-Scholes model) was Rs. 100. The estimation of fair value on date of grant was made using the Black-Scholes model with the following assumptions:

| Weighted average share price | Rs. 126.35 |
|---------------------------------|------------|
| Weighted average exercise price | Rs. 37.54 |
| Dividend yield % | 0% |
| Expected life (years) | 5 |
| Risk free interest rate | 7.5% |
| Volatility | 0% |

OVERVIEW

We are a leading provider of telecommunications value added services to telecom service providers, consumers and enterprises in India. We offer products and services to meet the needs of (1) telecom service providers, (2) consumers (i.e., mobile phone users) and (3) enterprises. We develop and purchase content and applications, provide the relevant platform for delivery of our products and services and integrate these products and services with the core network elements of telecom service providers.

Our applications can be deployed on any telecom network and accessed from most mobile handsets. We utilise interactive voice response ("IVR") system or voice, Short Message Services ("SMS"), Unstructured Supplementary Services Data ("USSD") and Wireless Application Protocol ("WAP") technology to deliver our products and services.

Network Services

The focus of our network services is to assist telecom service providers in enhancing network efficiency and improving their revenues and profitability by delivering innovative solutions that enhance their subscribers' experiences. Our network services include providing network components such as Short Message Service Centres ("SMSC"), which facilitate the accurate delivery of SMS messages to their intended destinations, USSD gateways, which enable a subscriber to obtain information (e.g., sports results, stock quotes and the amount of unused prepaid balance on a SIM card) and call management systems such as pre-call announcements, call forwarding and call block services.

We also provide customer lifecycle management services that are aimed at increasing average revenue per user ("ARPU"), including self-care portals, service provisioning portals, loyalty programs and customer churn management services. Our services such as toll-free infolines, customer communication tools through outbound diallers, tagged-SMS, missed-call back services and USSD inserts further enable our telecom service provider customers to enhance their subscribers' experiences while using their respective networks.

Our Subsidiary Oorja Mobile Services Private Limited ("Oorja") provides focused marketing solutions to telecom service providers. It has developed an analytics driven comprehensive customer communications platform. These solutions enable telecom service providers to target customers with particular services, products and promotions based on profiling of customers using network footprints and voluntary customer profiles. This platform enables telecom service providers to offer targeted mobile advertising services to enterprises wishing to place advertisements through their respective networks.

We provide network services to eight telecom service providers in India, and one telecom service provider in Afghanistan, one in Nigeria and one in Bangladesh. We earn revenue from providing these services to networks on a per transaction basis, on a periodic, per port fee basis or revenue share basis. For further details on these services, see "- Our Principal Products and Services – Network Services" on page 96.

Consumer Services (Services for mobile phone users)

We offer a broad range of mobile content, applications and commerce services to consumers (i.e., mobile phone users), for which we earn revenue either directly from consumers or through revenue sharing arrangements with telecom service providers. Our content and applications include music browsing, ring-tone downloads, caller ring-back tone downloads, content alerts, contests and chat and messaging applications that are delivered to consumers via voice, SMS and WAP. The content offered by us is generated in-house or by content providers from whom we have purchased distribution rights for particular content.

One of our consumer applications is a mobile phone security and data backup service called WaveSecure, which enables mobile phone subscribers to protect their handsets and personal data against misuse in the event that their handsets are lost or stolen. A second consumer application of ours is a social networking site for mobile phones called Oc2ps, which enables subscribers to post photos, videos and updates onto the site as well as to other social networking websites at the same time and get updates from contacts on our site and other social networks, all with one mobile interface and one sign in.

Our content and applications are deliverable to the subscribers of 11 telecom service providers in India. As on February 28, 2010, we had approximately 9.87 million subscribers for our consumer services. Depending on the content or application, we sell our consumer services on a subscription basis and/or per transaction basis. Consumers who use our services are charged by their network providers who then pay us an agreed percentage under a revenue sharing arrangement. We are in the process of rolling out a website and an Interactive Voice Response ("IVR") mechanism that will enable consumers to also pay us directly for our consumer services.

We provide commerce services through PayTM, or "Pay Through Mobile", our mobile commerce platform for consumers and enterprises. PayTM enables mobile phone users to make payments through their mobile phones in a secure and easy manner over voice, SMS, WAP, websites and on-device applications using credit cards, debit cards, pre-paid cash cards, net banking and third party payment gateway providers such as PayPal. PayTM allows consumers to undertake a variety of transactions, including mobile prepaid recharges, direct-to-home television ("DTH") recharges, mobile ticketing, bill payments and mobile shopping. We generate revenue from providing PayTM services on a per transaction basis.

In most instances our consumer services provide a source of additional revenue to telecom service providers without any additional capital expenditure on their part.

Enterprise Services

We use telecom networks as media to assist enterprises with customer communication, self-care solutions and brand services. Our SMS outbound campaign service and very interactive out diallers ("VIO") allow for outbound communication with customers, enterprise messaging, brand communication and advertising. Our voice portals and SMS pull services on 53030 SMS short code enable enterprises to make self care services available to customers. We also develop WAP sites for enterprises and offer them mobile payment platform (i.e., PayTM). For further details on these services, see "- Our Principal Products and Services – Enterprise Services" on page 100.

Our Company was founded in 2000 by Mr. Vijay Shekhar Sharma, the Company's Managing Director and Promoter. The Company was awarded The Emerging Company of the Year at Voice & Data's Telecom Awards 2009. Further, in 2009 Deloitte, as part of its Deloitte Technology Fast 50 India program, recognized our Company as the 10th fastest growing technology company in India based on our percentage revenue growth.

Our consolidated total income was Rs. 407.71 million for the year ended March 31 2008, Rs. 813.97 million for the year ended March 31, 2009 and Rs. 867.45 million for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009. Our consolidated net profit as per Restated Consolidated Summary Statements was Rs. 44.58 million for the year ended March 31, 2008, Rs. 21.37 million for the year ended March 31, 2009 and Rs. 124.18 million for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009.

FACTORS THAT MAY AFFECT RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Our financial condition and results of operations are affected by numerous factors, including the following:

- Change in technology and our ability to innovate and develop new products and services. Our business depends on developing and providing innovative products and solutions for our telecom service provider customers, consumers and enterprise customers. Development of new products and solutions is subject to unpredictable and volatile factors beyond our control, including customer preferences and competing products and solutions. Moreover, customer preferences are subject to rapid change, but we may not be able to adapt rapidly to changes in their preferences. In addition, due to the competitive nature of the markets in which we operate, we update various products on an ongoing basis and release new versions from time to time. We need to continuously invest in research and development to develop new and differentiated products and solutions for our customers. Our products and solutions could also be rapidly rendered obsolete by the introduction of newer technologies. Unexpected technical, operational, deployment, distribution or other problems could delay or prevent the timely introduction of new products and solutions, which could result in a loss of market opportunities. Further, with respect to our consumer services business, the Department of Telecom is expected to complete the auctioning of 3G spectrum slots by the middle of 2010. We have not yet begun developing or adapting our applications for deployment on the 3G spectrum. We may not be successful in developing or adapting our applications for the 3G spectrum on a rapid basis or at all. Our growth could also suffer if our products and solutions are not responsive to the needs of wireless telecom service providers, the technological advancements of mobile networks or the preferences of the subscribers. We could also be affected by the convergence of the telecom, data and media industries, which is largely driven by technological development related to IP-based communications. This change could impact our addressable market, competition and our objective setting and strategies, as well as the need to consider risks to achieve our set objectives. If we do not succeed in understanding the market development or acquiring the necessary competence or develop and market products and solutions that are competitive in this changing market, our business would be adversely affected. If any of these events were to occur, some or all of such products and solutions may not provide adequate returns commensurate with our capital investments and it could have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.
- Per-transaction pricing basis of network products and services. We sell some of our network products and services to our telecom service provider customers on a per-transaction basis rather than on a license fee basis. Selling network products and services on a per transaction basis does not provide a guaranteed amount of revenue in the same way that the selling of such products and services on a license fee basis does. If sales from our network products and services sold on a per-transaction basis are lower than required to recoup our capital expenditure and operating expenditure for such products, services and any equipment that we install at our telecom service provider customers' places of operations in connection with our provision of such products and services, our results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

- Consumer pricing decision of our telecom service provider customers. We earn a substantial portion of our income through revenue sharing agreements with our telecom service provider customers in respect of products and services offered to consumers. Under such revenue sharing agreements, we earn as income a percentage of the retail price that our telecom service provider customers charge to their subscribers for the use of our products, applications and services. However, we have no control over the pricing decisions of our telecom service provider customers and most of our contracts with our telecom service provider customers do not provide for guaranteed minimum payments. As a result, our income derived from such revenue sharing agreements may be substantially reduced depending on the pricing decisions of our telecom service provider customers, which may adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition.
- Revenue sharing terms in contracts with telecom service provider customers. Our contracts with telecom service provider customers contain revenue sharing terms with respect to consumer services and provide that we earn income only if our telecom service provider customers' subscribers use or subscribe to the consumer services offered by our telecom service provider customers. Less purchases of, or subscriptions for, our value added services will result in less revenue for us under the revenue sharing arrangements with our telecom service provider customers. Further, under a few of our telecom service provider customer contracts, we guarantee a minimum amount of transactions for specified geographic areas on a monthly basis. If the minimum amount of transactions is not met for any specified area in any given month, the telecom service provider customer is not obligated to pay us our portion of the revenue generated for such area for such month. Such terms may lead to significant fluctuations in our revenues from period to period. Moreover, decreases in revenue resulting from a lower number of transactions or failure to achieve the minimum number of transactions could adversely affect our return on invested capital, our results of operations and financial condition.
- Non-exclusive nature of contacts with telecom service provider customers. Most of our telecom service provider customer contracts are non-exclusive. As such our telecom service provider customers may purchase similar products and services from third parties and cease to offer our products and services to their subscribers in the future. Even if our telecom service provider customers retained our services, our telecom service provider customer contracts do not prevent them from significantly reducing the level of marketing or promotion of our products or from electing to market or promote similar products purchased from and provided by our competitors. If any of these were to occur, our business, results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.
- Ability to expand capacity and upgrade our systems to meet consumer demands. It is difficult to predict customer adoption of new mobile telecommunication applications and products, particularly in new markets. As a result, while we may launch a new product with a planned or expected capacity, such capacity may not be sufficient to meet demand if it exceeds our expectations. In such situations, we may not be able to expand and upgrade our systems and application platforms quickly enough, either regionally or on a national basis, to accommodate increased usage of our services. If we do not expand, upgrade and deploy our systems and application platforms appropriately or quickly enough, we may lose market opportunities in one or more areas of India or damage our reputation with our telecom service provider customers, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- Potential liability under agreements with content providers. From time to time, we enter into licensing agreements with content providers in order to offer content or other works as part of the services that we provide to consumers through our telecom service provider customers. We would be liable to our vendors, third party suppliers or content providers if we were to breach our agreements with them. Any failure on our part to comply with such obligations could cause us to be in breach of a license agreement and could result in a claim against us for substantial damages or even termination of the contract by the content provider. The successful assertion of any claim by a third party would have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.
- Ability to continue to source content. License agreements for content or other works are mostly for a term of one year. If we were unable for any reason to renew these agreements on terms favorable to us, or at all, upon their expiration, we might be prevented from providing content sourced from these content providers and would have to source alternative content, possibly on terms not favorable to us, which might result in loss of income or business opportunities or reduced margins that would harm our business, results of operations and financial condition. Such developments may also make it more difficult for us to offer content that addresses diverse regional, language and ethnic preferences.

- Fees under license agreements with content providers. We offer content licensed from content providers on a per-transaction basis and do not receive a minimum guaranteed amount from the telecom service provider customers through which we provide such content. There is a risk that our license fees under our license agreements with content providers could exceed the revenue that we generate from such content. If this were to occur, our results of operations and financial condition may be adversely affected.
- Intellectual property protection. Third parties may sue us for intellectual property infringement or initiate proceedings to invalidate our intellectual property rights, either of which, if successful, could disrupt the conduct of our business or require us to pay significant damage that we may not recover from our content providers. In addition, in the event of a successful claim against us, we may be subject to injunctions preventing us from using our intellectual property, which in turn could result in us incurring significant licensing fees and/or force us to develop alternative technologies. If we fail to develop non-infringing technology or applications or to license the infringed or similar intellectual property rights, technology or applications on a timely basis, it could force us to withdraw services from the market or prevent us from introducing new services. In addition, even if we are able to license the infringed or similar intellectual property rights, technology or applications, license fees could be substantial and the terms of such licenses could be unfavorable. Any of the foregoing may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- Piracy and open access. Even though piracy is illegal, it is a significant threat to the telecommunications value added services industry. The primary method of piracy affecting the telecommunications value added services industry is the illegal downloading of products and applications. Piracy enables the free use of products and applications, which compete with sales by our telecom service provider customers of our products. Technology advancements such as faster copying and downloading of products and applications has made it easier for people to access and use pirated content. Further, we cannot assure you that music content providers and others with rights in any of the products and applications that we offer through our telecom service provider customers will take steps to enforce their rights against piracy or that they will be successful in preventing the distribution of pirated content. Wide-scale pirating of our products and applications could adversely affect our results of operations. Moreover, some of our content providers with rights in the products and applications that we offer through our telecom service provider customers provide open access to such content on the internet. Such open access competes with sales by our telecom service provider customers of our products and applications, which could adversely affect our results of operations.
- Competition. Competition is expected to intensify in the telecommunications value added services industry in India and there may also be increasing competition from global players. We expect competition to intensify further as new entrants emerge in the industry due to available growth opportunities, as companies in other industries try to expand into the telecommunications value added services industry and as existing competitors seek to expand their services. The firmly established position of existing service integrators and system integrators in their respective sectors may be able to use their resources and capabilities to expand into sectors in which we compete. Further, consolidation among our competitors may also leave us at a competitive disadvantage. We also face competition from large device makers that offer applications for handsets through their respective proprietary application stores, direct-to-consumer businesses and existing service integrators and system integrators. In addition, we may face additional competition in respect of our enterprise business from resellers of bulk push SMS (i.e., a service enabling an enterprise to send an SMS to a large number of handsets) and short code service (i.e., a service that provides a special, short telephone number that can be used to send SMSs and MMSs from mobile phones and fixed phones). Some or all of our competitors may have advantages over us, which may include substantially greater financial resources. stronger brand recognition, the capacity to leverage their marketing expenditures across a broader portfolio of products and services and more extensive relationships with customers, content owners and broader geographic presence. We may also not be able to enter the market for new products because of the entrenched positions of competitors with respect to such products. Some of our competitors may also be able to quickly replicate our services and products. Such replicated services and products would compete with our services and products. Moreover, our competitors may be able to adapt their applications for deployment on a 3G spectrum on a more rapid basis than us. Any such competition may impact our results of operations and financial condition.

- Consolidation among telecom service providers. The market for telecom service providers is highly concentrated. Consolidation among telecom service providers would increase our reliance on key customers and, due to the increased size of these companies, may negatively impact our bargaining position and profit margins. Moreover, if the combined companies operate in the same geographic market, networks may be shared and less network services may be required.
- Potential liability arising from Do Not Call ("DNC") regulations. The Telecommunications Regulatory Authority of India ("TRAI") has issued the DNC regulation, which provides that if subscribers to telecom service providers' services do not wish to receive unsolicited commercial communication on their telephones, it will be the telecom service providers' responsibility to register its subscribers' numbers with the National Do Not Call ("NDNC") registry. Telemarketers can call only those numbers that do not appear on the NDNC registry. Since TRAI established stringent penalties (including fines of up to Rs. 1,000 per unsolicited commercial communication and disconnection of a telemarketer's telephone number or telecom resource for calling numbers on the DNC list and penalties of up to Rs. 20,000 for non-compliance with the Telecom Unsolicited Commercial Communications Regulations, 2007), a few of our telecom service provider customers have passed on the burden of registration with Department of Telecommunications and compliance to these guidelines on to us. As per a few of our recent agreements with telecom service provider customers, we have undertaken to comply with the DNC regulations and in case of violation, the relevant telecom service provider customer has the right to recover from us any penalties that may be imposed. In addition, while we only have this obligation under some of our agreements with telecom service provider customers, other telecom service providers may also ask for similar obligations in the future.
- Fluctuations of the Indian Rupee against foreign currencies. We have adopted the Indian Rupee as our reporting currency. We currently transact our business primarily in Indian Rupees and, to a lesser extent, in Bangladeshi Taka, Nigerian Naira and the Afghanistan Afghani. Further, we have network services operations in Bangladesh and Afghanistan and consumer services operations in Nigeria and Italy. CIF value of imports on account of fixed assets was Rs. 136.94 million and Rs. 191.94 million, which amounted to 58.48% and 59.57% of our total capital expenditure, for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and fiscal 2009, respectively, and the total expenditure in foreign currency, was Rs. 9.28 million and Rs. 0.23 million, which amounted to 1.40% and 0.03% of our total operating expenses, for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and fiscal 2009, respectively. Moreover, total earning in foreign currency, was Rs. 11.29 million and Rs. 2.55 million, which amounted to 1.34% and 0.32% of our total operating income, for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009 and the year ended March 31, 2009, respectively. To the extent these currencies appreciate against the Indian Rupee, it would increase our expenses reported in the Indian Rupee. Additionally, we intend to expand our business overseas, which will increase our exposure to the risk of currency fluctuations in foreign jurisdictions. In addition, conducting business in currencies other than the Indian Rupee subjects us to fluctuations in currency exchange rates that could have a negative effect on our reported operating results. Fluctuations in the value of the Indian Rupee relative to other currencies impact our income, cost of sales and services and operating margins and result in foreign currency translation gains and losses. While we have not engaged in exchange rate hedging activities in the past due to the size of our operations, we may implement hedging strategies to mitigate these risks in the future. However, these hedging strategies may not eliminate our exposure to foreign exchange rate fluctuations and involve costs and risks of their own, such as ongoing management time and expertise and external costs to implement the strategy.
- General economic and business conditions. Our results of operations may be materially affected by conditions in the global capital markets, the general economic conditions in India and elsewhere around the world and, in particular, by the factors affecting the telecommunications industry in general. As widely reported, financial markets in the United States, Europe and Asia, including India, have been experiencing extreme disruption in the last two and half years, including, among other things, extreme volatility in security prices, severely diminished liquidity and credit availability, rating downgrades of certain investments and declining valuations of others. These and other related events, such as the recent collapse of a number of financial institutions, have had and continue to have a significant adverse impact on the availability of credit and the confidence of the financial markets, globally as well as in India. The effects of a tight credit market on consumer and telecom service provider spending may have several adverse effects, including: (i) reduced demand for products and services, resulting in increased price competition or deferment of purchases and orders by consumers; (ii) negative impact on the financial condition, and in particular on the purchasing ability, of some of telecom service provider customers and may also result in requests for extended payment terms, credit losses, insolvencies, limited ability to respond to demand or diminished sales channels available to us; and (iii) increased difficulties to forecast sales and financial results as well as increased volatility in our reported results. Weak economic conditions in the markets, or a reduction in consumer spending even if economic conditions improve, could adversely impact our business and results of operations.

BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Restated Consolidated Summary Statements have been prepared by applying the necessary adjustments to the Consolidated Financial Statements of our Group. The consolidated financial statements are prepared under historical cost convention, on accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the Companies Act, 1956 and Indian GAAP and comply in all material respects with the accounting standards notified by Companies Accounting Standards (Rules), 2006, as amended (the "Companies Accounting Standards"), to the extent applicable. The consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with the principles and procedures for the preparation and presentation of consolidated financial statements as laid down under Accounting Standard ("AS") 21, "Consolidated Financial Statements", and AS 23, "Accounting for Investments in Associates in Consolidated Financial Statements", issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India as notified by the Companies Accounting Standards. The accounting policies have been consistently applied by our Company and our Subsidiaries and are consistent with those used in the previous year.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The critical accounting policies have been extracted from the significant accounting policies set forth in the audited consolidated financial statements as at and for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognised to the extent that it is probable that economic benefits will flow to us and the revenue can be reliably measured.

- (i) Revenue from a service transaction is recognised as and when services are rendered as per the terms of the relevant customer contract. Revenues are disclosed net of the service tax charged on such services. In respect of the agreement, excess of revenue over the billed amount at the period end is carried in the financial statements as unbilled revenue.
- (ii) Revenue from the sale of goods is recognised when the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have passed to the buyer. Revenues are disclosed net of the value added tax charged on such sale of goods.
- (iii) Interest income is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the rate applicable.
- (iv) Dividend income is recognised when the shareholders' right to receive payment is established by the balance sheet date.

Fixed Assets - Tangible Assets

Fixed assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. Cost comprises the purchase price and any cost attributable to bringing an asset into working condition for its intended use.

Fixed Assets - Intangible Assets

With respect to internally generated software, research costs are expensed as incurred. Development expenditure incurred on an individual project is capitalized when future recovery of such expenditure can reasonably be regarded as assured. Acquired software and licenses are stated at the consideration paid for such acquisitions. The carrying value of development costs and software are reviewed for impairment (i) at each balance sheet date when the asset is not in use and (ii) otherwise when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable.

Depreciation

Depreciation on our fixed assets is provided on the written down value method either as per the useful lives of the assets as estimated by the management or at the rates prescribed under Schedule XIV of the Companies Act, whichever is higher. The rates of depreciation used by us are as follows:

| Asset Class | Rate of Depreciation |
|------------------------|----------------------|
| Computers | 40% |
| Furniture and fixtures | 18.10% |
| Office equipment | 13.91% |
| Vehicles | 25.89% |

Fixed Assets costing Rs. 5,000 or less are depreciated in full in the year of their acquisition. A leasehold improvement is depreciated over the shorter of (i) the term of the relevant lease and (ii) the useful life of such leasehold improvement.

Amortisation

Internally generated software is amortised on a straight line basis over the estimated useful life of 74 months. Acquired software and licenses are amortised on the written method at 40% over the estimated useful life of such software and licenses.

Impairment

The carrying amount of assets is reviewed at each balance sheet date if there is any indication of impairment based on internal or external factors. An impairment loss is recognized wherever the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the asset's net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value at the weighted average cost of capital.

Investments

Investments that are readily realisable and intended to be held for not more than one year are classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as long-term investments. Current investments are carried at the lower of (i) cost and (ii) fair value determined on an individual investment basis. Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognise a decline in the value of a long-term investment that is other than temporary.

Foreign Currency Transactions

(i) Initial Recognition

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in the reporting currency by applying to the foreign currency amount the exchange rate between the reporting currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

(ii) Conversion

Foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate. Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are recorded in the reporting currency at the exchange rate prevailing at the date of transaction.

(iii) Exchange Differences

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or as a result of reporting monetary items at rates different from those at which they were initially recorded during the period or year, or reported in previous financial statements, are recognised as income or as expenses in the period or year in which they arise except for those arising from investments in non-integral operations.

Retirement and other employee benefits

- (i) Retirement benefits in the form of a provident fund constitute a defined contribution scheme and the contribution is charged to the profit and loss account of the period/year when the contribution to the fund is due. There are no other obligations of our Company other than the contribution to the provident fund. The provisions of the provident fund are not applicable to our Subsidiaries.
- (ii) Gratuity liability constitutes a defined benefit obligation and is provided on the basis of an actuarial valuation using the projected unit credit method.
- (iii) Short-term compensated absences are provided for on the basis of estimates. Long-term compensated absences are provided for based on actuarial valuation. The actuarial valuation is undertaken using a projected unit credit method.
- (iv) Actuarial gains and losses are immediately charged to the profit and loss account and are not deferred.

The Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 is not applicable to Oorja for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009 or to Pay TM Mobile for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009 and the nine month period ended December 31, 2009.

Employment Stock Compensation Cost

Measurement and disclosure of the employee share-based payment plans are done in accordance with the Guidance Note on Accounting for Employee Share-based Payments issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. The Company measures compensation cost relating to employee stock options using the intrinsic value method. Compensation expense is amortized over the vesting period of the option using a graded vesting method.

Income Taxes

Tax expense comprises current, deferred and fringe benefit tax. Current income tax and fringe benefit tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the IT Act. Deferred income tax reflects the impact of current year timing differences between taxable income and accounting income and reversal of timing differences of earlier years.

Deferred tax is measured based on the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and if the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to the taxes on income levied by same governing taxation laws. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised. In situations where any of our Company or our Subsidiaries has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, all deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realised against future taxable profits. At each balance sheet date the respective group entities re-assesses unrecognised deferred tax assets. It recognises unrecognised deferred tax assets to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date. Our Company and our Subsidiaries write down the carrying amount of deferred tax assets to the extent that they are no longer reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised. Any such write-down is reversed to the extent that it becomes reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available.

Minimum Alternative tax ("MAT") credit is recognised as an asset only when and to the extent there is convincing evidence that the respective group entities will pay normal income tax during the specified period. In the year in which the MAT credit becomes eligible to be recognized as an asset in accordance with the recommendations contained in the Guidance Note on Accounting for Credit Available in respect of Minimum Alternative Tax under Income Tax Act, 1961 issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, such asset is created by way of a credit to the profit and loss account and shown as "MAT credit entitlement". Our Company and our Subsidiaries review such assets at each balance sheet date and write down the carrying amount of the MAT credit entitlement to the extent there is no longer convincing evidence to the effect that normal income tax will be paid during the relevant period.

Earnings/(Loss) Per Share

Basic earnings/(loss) are calculated by dividing the net profit/(loss) for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings/(loss) per share, the net profit/(loss) for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

Provision

A provision is recognized when we have a present obligation as a result of a past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation for which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions are not discounted to their present value and are determined based on management estimates for the amounts required to settle the relevant obligations at the balance sheet date. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current management estimates.

Prior Period Items

In the financial statements for the years ended March 31, 2009, 2008 and 2007 certain items of income/expenses have been identified as prior period adjustments. Such prior period adjustments have been appropriately adjusted in the respective years. The details of such prior period adjustments are as under:

(Rs. in millions)

In the audited financial statements of our Company for the year ended March 31, 2006, the change in estimation of the useful life of certain capitalised software from 12 months to 74 months from the date they were ready for use was given effect on a retrospective basis instead of prospective basis as per the requirement of AS 26,

"Intangible Assets". Since the depreciation charge for that year and remaining years was incorrectly accounted for, the depreciation has been adjusted accordingly in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements and Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements by reversing the depreciation written back during the year ended March 31, 2006 and providing the depreciation charge based on the remaining estimated useful life of the assets in the years ended March 31, 2007, 2008 and 2009. These intangibles were impaired as at March 31, 2009. Consequently there is no impact of the changes on the nine month period ended December 31, 2009.

Employee Benefits - Gratuity

For the year ended March 31, 2009, our Company changed its accounting policy on provision for gratuity and accrued gratuity on the basis of an actuarial valuation made at the end of each financial year, which was earlier made on actual basis. For the purposes of the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements and Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements, the revised policy has been applied retrospectively. The Payment of Gratuity Act was not applicable to Oorja until April 1, 2009 and is not applicable to Pay TM Mobile.

Bad Debts Written Off

Bad debts written off pertaining to settlement with customers in respect of revenues recognised in earlier years have been adjusted in the respective years in which revenue was recognized.

Interest on Late Payment of Service Tax

During the nine month period ended December 31, 2009, our Company recognized service tax liability along with the interest on delayed payments relating to the importation of software for the period from May 16, 2008 to December 31, 2009. For the purpose of restatement, the interest liability has been adjusted in the respective years to which it pertains.

Depreciation Adjustments

For the purposes of Restated Consolidated Summary Statements and Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements, the following adjustments have been made to the tangible assets and the corresponding depreciation:

- During the year ended March 31, 2009, tangible fixed assets costing less than Rs. 5,000 individually were depreciated in the year of purchase as per our Company's policy, including the net book value of as at April 1, 2008 of such assets purchased in earlier years. For the purpose of restatement, the depreciation on the net book value of assets as at April 1, 2008 amounting to Rs. 1.07 million has been adjusted in the respective years.
- Our Company has historically classified the cost of improvements to the leasehold buildings under the block of "furniture and fixtures" and depreciating them accordingly at the rate applicable to furniture and fixtures. However, during the year ended March 31, 2009, cost of improvements were classified separately under the block of "leasehold improvements" and were depreciated over the lease term of the respective leases, with the cumulative depreciation effect amounting to Rs. 1.10 million during the year ended March 31, 2009. For the purpose of restatement, the adjustments to the depreciation charge and the consequent impact on loss on sale and write off of such improvements amounting to Rs. 0.04 million has been adjusted in the respective years.

Tax Impact of Adjustments

In the preparation of the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements and Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements, our Company and our Subsidiaries have determined the tax impact on all the adjustments considered.

Taxes for Earlier Years/Periods

Income taxes provided for in earlier years in respect of which subsequently either additional amounts have been paid to, or refunds have been received from, the authorities upon completion of assessments have been adjusted in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements or Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements, as the case may be, of such years when such amounts were originally provided for.

Deferred Tax Adjustments

A deferred tax asset or liability erroneously not recognized in the relevant year, but recognized subsequently has also been restated to the relevant year.

Applicability of Other Accounting Standards

The provisions relating to segment reporting, related party disclosure, earnings per share and cash flow statements as per AS 17, AS 18, AS 20 and AS 3, respectively, were applied by our Company for the first time on March 31, 2009. However, for the purpose of disclosure for earlier years in respect of segment reporting, related party disclosure, earnings per share and cash flow statements, AS 17, AS 18, AS 20 and AS 3 have been applied retrospectively.

NON-ADJUSTMENT ITEMS

Software Written Off

Our management undertakes an impairment assessment at every balance sheet date. The impairment assessment as of March 31, 2009 included a reassessment of the carrying values of the historical block of internally generated software having at that time net book value of Rs. 116.08 million by virtue of an impairment assessment undertaken in accordance with AS 28. Our management concluded that such internally generated software would result in an economic benefit of significantly less than the net book value of Rs. 116.08 million and accordingly the written down value of such block of assets was impaired as at March 31, 2009. The impairment loss recognised as a result of the reassessment was Rs. 111.16 million. As we are of the opinion that this impairment affected our results of operations for the year ended March 31, 2009 only, no adjustments have been made in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements or Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements. Such an impairment of the carrying value of software is unlikely in the future as the software that we now maintain is licensed from third parties.

Income Tax Credit Under Section 115JB of the IT Act

Our Company has paid income tax under Section 115JB of the IT Act for the years ended March 31, 2006, 2007 and 2008. For the year ended March 31, 2009, since our Company's tax liability as per the normal income tax provision was higher than the tax liability payable under Section 115JB, the Company utilised an MAT credit available to it, but not recognised in earlier years due to uncertainty of taxable profits, during the year ended March 31, 2009. As a result, an MAT credit amounting to Rs. 14.14 million has been recognised for a claim against tax liability during the year ended March 31, 2009. An adjustment has not been made in the Restated Consolidated Summary Statements or Restated Unconsolidated Summary Statements.

Penalties

During the year ended March 31, 2009, our Company entered into a settlement agreement with one of our customers to amicably settle a claim of Rs. 17.50 million for default in service obligations and the overriding of contractual obligations. As the periods of default were June and July 2008, we are of the opinion that the penalties pertain to the year ended March 31, 2009.

The decrease in interest expenses was primarily due to a decrease in interest paid on term loans resulting from our Company having repaid in full the term loan that it received from ICICI Bank Limited for procurement of computer servers and related accessories. The decrease in interest expenses is also attributable to a decrease in interest paid on vehicle loans received from ICICI Bank Limited and HDFC Bank Limited used to fund the purchase of vehicles by our Company. Net Profit After Tax as Restated

As a result of the foregoing, and primarily due to an increase in total operating expenditure, net profit as per Restated Consolidated Summary Statements decreased 52.06% to Rs. 21.37 million in the year ended March 31, 2009 from Rs. 44.58 million in the year ended March 31, 2008.

Other income increased 499.81% to Rs. 7.01 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 1.17 million in the year ended March 31, 2007. Cost of goods sold increased in the year ended March 31, 2008 as compared to the year ended March 31, 2007 even though income from sale of products decreased slightly in the year ended March 31, 2008 as compared to the year ended March 31, 2007 because the products sold in the year ended March 31, 2008 required a greater outlay of capital on goods purchased and less expenditure attributable to personnel expense while the products sold in the year ended March 31, 2007 required a smaller outlay of capital on goods purchased and more expenditure attributable to personnel expense.

Personnel expenses increased by 185.79% to Rs. 73.58 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 25.75 million in the year ended March 31, 2007, primarily due to an increase in salaries, bonus and incentives paid to employees to Rs. 66.67 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 23.31 million in the year ended March 31, 2007 resulting from an increase in the number of our employees as we expanded our operations in India and an increase in average salary levels. Personnel expenses also increased as a result of increases in contribution to provident and other funds, gratuity expenses and staff welfare expenses. As of March 31, 2008, we had approximately 380 permanent employees compared to 167 as of March 31, 2007. Our administration and other expenses increased by 173.70% to Rs. 93.28 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 34.08 million in the year ended March 31, 2007. The increase in operating cost and other expenses was primarily due to increased expenditure on rent, electricity, insurance, repair and maintenance, business promotions, brokerage expenses, travelling and conveyance, telephone and internet expenses, printing and stationary, legal and professional charges and discounts and rebates offered to network service providers in order to foster our relationships with them. The increase in rent, electricity and repair and maintenance relates to our Company having moved into a larger office during the year ended March 31, 2008. We did not write off or impair any intangible assets during the years ended March 31, 2008 or 2007.

Bank Charges

Our bank charges decreased 42.29% to Rs. 0.50 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 0.86 million in the year ended March 31, 2007. The decrease in bank charges was primarily due to the fact that we paid a one-time processing charge of Rs. 0.77 million in the year ended March 31, 2007 in respect of term loans from ICICI Bank to finance the purchase of equipment and did not have such a processing charge in the year ended March 31, 2007. Bank charges as a percentage of total income decreased to 0.12% in the year ended March 31, 2008 from 0.58% in the year ended March 31, 2007.

Interest Expenses

Interest expenses decreased 50.45% to Rs. 4.34 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 8.75 million in the year ended March 31, 2007. The decrease in interest expenses was primarily due to the fact that in the year ended March 31, 2007, our Company paid interest in the amount of Rs. 5.93 million on a cash credit facility that was paid off in April 2007, as a result of which our Company did not pay corresponding interest in the year ended March 31, 2008. The provision for tax increased 314.79% to Rs. 46.03 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 11.09 million in the year ended Mach 31, 2007. The primary reasons for this increase were an increase in the provision for minimum alternative tax to Rs. 10.83 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 2.50 million in the year ended March 31, 2007, an increase in fringe benefit tax to Rs. 2.00 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 0.61 million in the year ended March 31, 2007 and an increase in deferred tax charge (which reflects the impact of current year timing differences between taxable income and accounting income for the relevant period and reversal of timing differences of earlier years) to Rs. 33.20 million in the year ended March 31, 2008 from Rs. 7.98 million in the year ended March 31, 2007.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Historically, our principal sources of cash have been cash provided by our operations, term loans, credit facilities and financing through the issuance of share capital. We expect these sources, together with additional short-term borrowings, to be sufficient to meet our working capital requirements and currently anticipated capital expenditures over the near term. As part of our growth strategy, we continue to review opportunities to make strategic acquisitions or alliances. If our future acquisitions or alliances involve significant cash payments, rather than the issuance of shares, we may need to further borrow from banks or raise additional funds.

Our principal financing requirements include:

- · capital expenditures towards expansion of our existing businesses; and
- acquisitions of complementary businesses that we determine to be attractive opportunities.

As of December 31, 2009, we have capital expenditure commitments of Rs. 12.05 million.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

Currency Risk

We have adopted the Indian Rupee as our reporting currency. We currently transact our business primarily in Indian Rupees and, to a lesser extent, in Bangladeshi Taka, Nigerian Naira and the Afghanistan Afghani. Further, we have network services operations in Bangladesh and Afghanistan and consumer services operations in Nigeria and Italy. The total CIF Value of imports on account of fixed assets in foreign currency, was Rs. 136.94 million and Rs. 191.94 million, which amounted to 58.48% and 59.57% of our total capital expenditure, for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009 and year ended 2009, respectively, and the total expenditure in foreign currency, was Rs. 9.28 million and Rs. 0.23 million, which amounted to 1.40% and 0.03% of our total operating expenses, for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and fiscal 2009, respectively. Moreover, the total earnings in foreign currency, when converted into Rupees, was Rs. 11.29 million and Rs. 2.55 million, which amounted to 1.34% and 0.32% of our total operating income, for the nine month period ended December 31, 2009 and the year ended March 31, 2009, respectively. To the extent these currencies appreciate against the Indian Rupee, it would increase our expenses reported in the Indian Rupee.

We intend to expand our business overseas, which will increase our exposure to the risk of currency fluctuations in foreign jurisdictions. In addition, conducting business in currencies other than the Indian Rupee subjects us to fluctuations in currency exchange rates that could have a negative effect on our reported operating results. Fluctuations in the value of the Indian Rupee relative to other currencies impact our income, cost of sales and services and operating margins and result in foreign currency translation gains and losses. While we have not engaged in exchange rate hedging activities in the past due to the size of our operations, we may implement hedging strategies to mitigate these risks in the future. However, these hedging strategies may not eliminate our exposure to foreign exchange rate fluctuations and involve costs and risks of their own, such as ongoing management time and expertise and external costs to implement the strategy.

Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject us to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash equivalents, accounts receivable from related parties, accounts receivables from others and bank deposits. By their nature, all such financial instruments involve risk including the credit risk of non-performance by counterparties. Our cash equivalents, bank deposits and restricted cash are invested with banks with high investment grade credit ratings. Accounts receivable are typically unsecured and are derived from revenue earned from our customers in the telecommunications industry based primarily in India.

We believe there is no significant risk of loss in the event of non-performance of the counter parties to these consolidated financial instruments, other than the amounts already provided for in our financial statements.

Interest Rate Risk

We do not have, and do not currently intend to take, any loans subject to floating interest rates. Nevertheless, we may take loans in the future that are subject to floating interest rates, which would expose us to market risk as a result of changes in interest rates. Upward fluctuations in interest rates would increase the cost of new debt and interest cost of outstanding variable rate borrowings. In addition, any increase in interest rates could adversely affect our ability to service long-term debt, which would in turn adversely affect our results of operations.

A) Pending Litigation against the Company

1. Tax Proceedings

- (a) The Additional Commissioner, Service Tax Commissionerate, New Delhi ("Additional Commissioner") issued a show cause notice (C. No. DL-1/ST/R-VII/SCN/ONE/903/2007/5695) dated April 9, 2008 to the Company raising a demand of Service Tax amounting to Rs.2.12 million (including education cess and secondary and higher education cess) along with interest and penalty. The demand has been raised on account of failure on the part of the Company to deposit full Service Tax on the value of taxable services realized during the period commencing from October 2006 to March 2007. In addition to penalty for short payment of Service Tax, a penalty has also been imposed on the Company, for shifting its business premises without any intimation to the Service Tax Department and not surrendering its Service Tax registration certificate. The Company submitted its reply to the show cause notice by its letter dated April 11, 2008 followed by additional submissions by letters dated July 24, 2008 and November 24, 2008. The Company has submitted that it made certain clerical errors while filing its Service Tax returns due to which the value of taxable services realized was shown more than the actual amount realized as the same included certain exempt and non-taxable services (those provided to customers located in Jammu and Kashmir and those provided prior to introduction of the relevant taxable category) and also included royalty received in relation to sale of copyright which is exempt from Service Tax. As regards surrendering of Service Tax registration certificate, the Company has submitted that it is in the process of doing the same. The proceedings are currently pending before the Additional Commissioner and the next date of hearing is yet to be intimated.
- (b) The Company has been issued a letter (No C.No.DL-1/ST/ONE 97/R VII/752/20007/ 2705) from the Superintendent (Range-VII), Service Tax Division I, New Delhi ("Superintendent (Range-VII)") demanding payment of Service Tax amounting to Rs. 0.26 million on commission received by the Company from HFCL Infotel Limited during the financial period 2003-04 to 2005-06 (until September 2005). Further, the Company has also been asked to surrender its Service Tax registration certificate due to change in the its registered premises and submit certain additional documents such as balance sheets and Service Tax returns. The Company in its reply dated April 4, 2008 submitted that the amounts received by it could not be classified as commission since the Company does not satisfy the requirement of a 'commission agent' as defined under the Finance Act, 1994. The Company submitted that that its services were classified under the taxable category of 'business support services' from May 1, 2006 and under 'development and supply of content services' from June 1, 2007 onwards and accordingly the Company has been regularly paying Service Tax from May 1, 2006. As regards surrendering its Service Tax registration certificate the Company submitted that it has already initiated the process. The number of Equity Shares Allotted to Anchor Investors and the Anchor Investor Issue Price, shall be made available in the public domain by the Book Running Lead Managers before the Bid Opening Date

The Book Running Lead Managers, the Registrar to the Issue and the Designated Stock Exchange shall ensure that the basis of Allotment is finalised in a fair and proper manner in accordance with the SEBI Regulations. Procedure and Schedule for Allotment and demat Credit of Equity Shares

The Issue will be conducted through a "100% Book Building Process" pursuant to which the members of the Syndicate will accept Bids for the Equity Shares during the Bid/Issue period. The Bid/Issue period will commence on [●], 2010 and expire on [●], 2010. Following the expiration of the Bid/Issue period, our Company in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers, will determine the Issue Price. Our Company in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers will determine the basis of allocation and entitlement to Allotment based on the Bids received and subject to confirmation by the Designated Stock Exchange. Successful bidders will be provided with a CAN(subject to a revised CAN) and will be required to pay any unpaid amount for the Equity Shares within a prescribed time. The SEBI Regulations require our Company to complete the Allotment to successful bidders within 12 Working Days of the expiration of the Bid/Issue period. The Equity Shares will then be credited and Allotted to the investors' demat accounts maintained with the relevant Depository Participant. Upon approval by the Stock Exchanges, the Equity Shares will be listed and trading will commence.

Method of proportionate Basis of Allotment

Except in relation to Anchor Investors, in the event the Issue is oversubscribed, the Allotment shall be as per the basis of Allotment approved by the Designated Stock Exchange. The executive director or managing director of the Designated Stock Exchange along with the Book Running Lead Managers and the Registrar to the Issue shall be responsible for ensuring that the basis of Allotment is finalised in a fair and proper manner. Except in relation to Anchor Investors, Allotment to Bidders shall be made in marketable lots on a proportionate basis as explained below:

- (a) Bidders will be categorised according to the number of Equity Shares applied for by them.
- (b) The total number of Equity Shares to be Allotted to each category as a whole shall be arrived at on a proportionate basis, which is the total number of Equity Shares applied for in that category (number of Bidders in the category multiplied by the number of Equity Shares applied for) multiplied by the inverse of the oversubscription ratio.
- (c) The number of Equity Shares to be allotted to the successful Bidders will be arrived at on a proportionate basis, which is the total number of Equity Shares applied for by each Bidder in that category multiplied by the inverse of the oversubscription ratio.
- (d) If the proportionate Allotment to a Bidder is a number that is more than [●] but is not a multiple of one (which is the market lot), the decimal will be rounded off to the higher whole number if that decimal is 0.5 or higher. If that number is lower than 0.5, it will be rounded off to the lower whole number. Allotment to all Bidders in such categories shall be arrived at after such rounding off.
- (e) In all Bids where the proportionate Allotment is less than [●] Equity Shares per Bidder, the Allotment shall be made as follows:
 - Each successful Bidder shall be Allotted a minimum of [●] Equity Shares; and
 - The successful Bidders out of the total Bidders for a portion shall be determined by the drawing of lots in a manner such that the total number of Equity Shares Allotted in that category is equal to the number of Equity Shares calculated in accordance with (c) above; and
- (f) If the Equity Shares allocated on a proportionate basis to any category are more than the Equity Shares Allotted to the Bidders in that portion, the remaining Equity Shares available for Allotment shall be first adjusted against any other category, where the Equity Shares are not sufficient for proportionate Allotment to the successful Bidders in that category. The balance of Equity Shares, if any, remaining after such adjustment will be added to the category comprising Bidders applying for the minimum number of Equity Shares.
- (g) Subject to valid Bids being received, Allotment of Equity Shares to Anchor Investors will be at the discretion of our Company, in consultation with the Book Running Lead Managers.

For Mutual Funds (MF1 to MF5) = (No. of shares bid for (i.e., in column II of the table above) less equity shares Allotted (i.e., column III of the table above) $\times 114/494$

The numerator and denominator for arriving at the allocation of 114 million equity shares to the 10 QIBs are reduced by 6 million shares, which have already been Allotted to Mutual Funds in the manner specified in column III of the table above.

Mode of payment through ASBA became effective on September 1, 2008. Since this is a new mode of payment, set forth below is the procedure for bidding under the ASBA procedure, for the benefit of the Bidders.

This section is only to facilitate better understanding of aspects of the procedure for bidding which is specific to ASBA Bidders. ASBA Bidders should nonetheless read this document in entirety

Our Company, its Directors and officers, affiliates, associates and their respective directors and officers and the Book Running Lead Managers are not liable for any amendments, modifications, or changes in applicable laws or regulations, which may occur after the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. ASBA Bidders are advised to make their independent investigations and to ensure that the ASBA Form is correctly filled up, as described in this section.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF INDIAN SECURITIES

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the Industrial Policy, 1991 of the Government of India and FEMA. While the Industrial Policy, 1991 prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, 1991, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of the Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. Under the current foreign investment policy applicable to us foreign equity participation up to 100% is permissible under the automatic route.

Under the automatic route, no prior approval of the GoI is required for the issue of securities by Indian companies/acquisition of securities of Indian companies, subject to the sectoral caps and other prescribed conditions. Investors are required to file the required documentation with the RBI within 30 days of such issue/acquisition of securities. If the foreign investor has any previous joint venture/tie-up or a technology transfer/trademark agreement in the "same field" in India as on January 12, 2005, prior approval from the FIPB is required even if that activity falls under the automatic route, except as otherwise provided.

Under the approval route, prior approval from the FIPB/RBI is required. FDI for the items or activities that cannot be brought in under the automatic route may be brought in through the approval route. Approvals are accorded on the recommendation of the FIPB, which is chaired by the Secretary, DIPP, with the Union Finance Secretary, Commerce Secretary and other key Secretaries of the GoI as its members.

Subscription by foreign investors - Investment by FIIs

By way of Circular No. 53 dated December 17, 2003, the RBI has permitted FIIs to subscribe to shares of an Indian company in a public offer without the prior approval of the RBI, so long as the price of the equity shares to be issued is not less than the price at which the equity shares are issued to residents.

Transfers of equity shares previously required the prior approval of the FIPB. However, by a RBI circular dated October 4, 2004 issued by the RBI, the transfer of shares between an Indian resident and a non-resident does not require the prior approval of the FIPB or the RBI, provided that (i) the activities of the investee company are under the automatic route under the FDI Policy and transfer does not attract the provisions of the SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 1997, as amended, (ii) the non-resident shareholding is within the sectoral limits under the FDI policy, and (iii) the pricing is in accordance with the guidelines prescribed by the SEBI/RBI.

FIIs including institutions such as pension funds, mutual funds, investment trusts, insurance and reinsurance companies, international or multilateral organizations or their agencies, foreign governmental agencies, foreign central banks, asset management companies, investment managers or advisors, nominee companies, power of attorney holders, banks, trustees, endowment funds, university funds, foundation or charitable trusts or societies and institutional portfolio managers can invest in all the securities traded on the primary and secondary markets in India. FIIs are required to obtain an initial registration from the SEBI and a general permission from the RBI to engage in transactions regulated under the FEMA. FIIs must also comply with the provisions of the FII Regulations. The initial registration and the RBI's general permission together enable the registered FII to buy (subject to the ownership restrictions discussed below) and sell freely, securities issued by Indian companies, to realize capital gains or investments made through the initial amount invested in India, to subscribe or renounce rights issues for shares, to appoint a domestic custodian for custody of investments held and to repatriate the capital, capital gains, dividends, income received by way of interest and any compensation received towards sale or renunciation of rights issues of shares.

FIIs are permitted to purchase shares of an Indian company through public/private placement under:

- i. Regulation 5 (1) of the FEMA Regulations, subject to terms and conditions specified under Schedule 1 of the FEMA Regulations ("FDI Route").
- ii. Regulation 5 (2) of the FEMA Regulations subject to terms and conditions specified under Schedule 2 of the FEMA Regulations ("PIS Route").

In case of investments under FDI Route, investments are made either directly to the company account, or through a foreign currency denominated account maintained by the FII with an authorised dealer, wherein Form FC-GPR is required to be filed by the company. Form FC-GPR is a filing requirement essentially for investments made by non-residents under the 'automatic route' or 'government approval route' falling under Schedule 1 of the FEMA Regulations.

In case of investments under the PIS Route, investments are made through special non-resident rupee account, wherein Form LEC (FII) is required to be filed by the designated bank of the FII concerned. Form LEC (FII) is essentially a filing requirement for FII investment (both in the primary as well as the secondary market) made through the PIS Route.

Foreign investment under the FDI Route is restricted/ prohibited in sectors provided in part A and part B of Annexure A to Schedule 1 of the FEMA Regulations.

Ownership Restrictions of FIIs

The issue of securities to a single FII under the PIS Route should not exceed 10% of the issued and paid-up capital of the company. In respect of an FII investing in securities on behalf of its sub-accounts, the investment on behalf of each sub-account shall not exceed 10% of the total issued and paid-up capital. The aggregate FII holding in a company cannot exceed 24% of its total paid-up capital. The said 24% limit can be increased up to 100% by passing a resolution by the board of directors followed by passing a special resolution to that effect by the shareholders of the company. Accordingly our Company has increased the said limit to 49% pursuant to a Board resolution and shareholders resolution, both dated May 11, 2010.

By way of Circular No. 53 dated December 17, 2003, the RBI has permitted FIIs to subscribe to shares of an Indian company in a public offer without the prior approval of the RBI, so long as the price of the equity shares to be issued is not less than the price at which the equity shares are issued to residents.

Subject to compliance with all applicable Indian laws, rules, regulations guidelines and approvals in terms of regulation 15A(1) of the FII Regulations, an FII may issue, deal or hold, offshore derivative instruments such as "Participatory Notes", equity-linked notes or any other similar instruments against underlying securities listed or proposed to be listed on any stock exchange in India only in favour of those entities which are regulated by any relevant regulatory authorities in the countries of their incorporation or establishment subject to compliance of "know your client" requirements. An FII or their Sub-Account shall also ensure that no further downstream issue or transfer of any instrument referred to hereinabove is made to any person other than a regulated entity. FIIs and their Sub-Accounts are not allowed to issue offshore derivative instruments with underlying as derivatives.

Calculation of total foreign investment in Indian companies

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated by the industrial policy of the Government consolidated under circular (D/o IPP F. No. 5(14)/2009-FC) dated March 31, 2010 ("Consolidated FDI Policy") released by the Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion, Ministry of Commerce and Industry and notifications issued by RBI from time to time. Under the Industrial Policy of the Government, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures and reporting requirements for making such investment.

The chapter 4 of the Consolidated FDI Policy provides the method of calculating foreign investment in an Indian company.

Foreign investment is defined broadly and includes investment by FIIs and NRIs, and foreign investment in the form of American depositary receipts, global depositary receipts, foreign currency convertible bonds, convertible preference shares and convertible currency debentures.

The Consolidated FDI Policy specifies that all investments made directly by a non-resident entity in an Indian company would be considered as foreign investment. Further, in relation to an investment by an Indian company in another Indian company, if (i) the investing Indian company is owned and controlled by resident Indian citizens, and (ii) foreign entities do not own or control the investing Indian company, then the foreign investment in the investing Indian company will not be considered for calculation of the foreign investment in the second Indian company. However, if the requirements under (i) and (ii) above are not satisfied, then the entire investment of the investing Indian company in the second Indian company being invested in will be considered foreign investment.

Pursuant to the Consolidated FDI Policy, an investing company shall be considered (i) "owned" by resident Indian citizens or foreign entities if more than 50% of its equity interest is beneficially owned by resident Indian citizens or foreign entities, as the case may be, and (ii) "controlled" by resident Indian citizens or foreign entities if the resident Indian citizens or foreign entities, as the case may be, have the power to appoint a majority of its directors.

The Consolidated FDI Policy provides guidelines relating to downstream investments by Indian companies that have foreign investment. These guidelines are based on the principle that downstream investments by Indian companies owned or controlled by foreign entities should follow the same rules as those applicable to direct foreign investment. In respect of downstream investments by Indian companies that are not owned or controlled by foreign entities, there would not be any restrictions.

For the purpose of downstream investments, the Consolidated FDI Policy classifies Indian companies into one of three groups: (i) operating companies, (ii) operating-and-investing companies and (iii) investing companies. In connection with foreign investment in these categories of Indian companies, the Consolidated FDI Policy provides that:

- (a) foreign investment in an operating company will need to comply with the terms and conditions for foreign investment in the relevant sector(s) in which such company operates;
- (b) foreign investment in an operating-and-investing company will need to comply with the terms and conditions for foreign investment in the relevant sector(s) in which such company operates. Further, the Indian company into which downstream investments are made will need to comply with the terms and conditions for foreign investment in the relevant sectors in which such Indian company operates; and
- (c) foreign investment in investing company (i.e. an Indian company holding only direct or indirect investments in other Indian companies other than for trading of such holdings) will require the prior approval of the FIPB.

The Consolidated FDI Policy further provides that foreign investment in an Indian company that does not have (i) any operations, and (ii) any downstream investments, will require the prior approval of the FIPB.
